U.S. Declaration of Independence, Have You Read it Lately?

By: TFPF Staff Writer

If you're like most Americans, you might believe the Declaration of Independence (July 4, 1776) and the resulting War for Independence was about taxation on tea, and/or "taxation without representation." Surprisingly, neither the word "tea," nor the phrase "taxation without representation," is ever mentioned in the document.

Indeed taxes are mentioned, but they are listed in the Declaration's "facts submitted to a candid world" as the 17th of 27 named "abuses and usurpations" which were long endured and repeatedly addressed by the original 13 British American colonies. What are the other 26 reasons, "abuses and usurpations," that were declared as justification and motivation for our independence from Great Britain? How many of the 27 can you name?

We are at a crossroads. With our ever growing and ever controlling governments today, it appears that the familiar quote, "those who forget history are condemned to repeat it," will either haunt us, or remind us. Knowing our history is key.

Knowing and understanding the ideas and principles for our nation's existence while actively recognizing tyranny, abuses, usurpations, despotism, et al, is the key to protecting our unalienable rights, property rights, freedom, liberty, justice, and our way of life...

This Independence Day, a good place to start is with reading the U.S. Declaration of Independence... Have you read it lately?

The Declaration of Independence:

In Congress, July 4, 1776

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen United States of America, When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.--Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

Letter from the Editor

By: Leesa Bolden, LAc
TPFP Editor in Chief

June was, shall we say, HOT but not as hot as it often is in Quartzsite, Arizona. I have been enjoying more time off so I have been attending various meetings. The council meetings have been awesome! Forget the TV soap operas, just go to town meetings.

First, if you have been in Quartzsite for a couple seasons, if I say camel, who is the first person you think of? Yep, there was the Larry Lord Saga. For the past couple years, he brought the camels here for short rides around a small arena for some arbitrary fee. He hosted festivals with live music and camel rides. It was good for the town. He sits on the Planning and Zoning board. They had passed a town code onto the Town Council to vote on. Larry chose not to recuse himself (advised by council that he did not have to) from the discussion and vote to allow Camels to be kept for some arbitrary length of time, strictly on any private commercial land, at no cost to the town. I am not a fan of fees so, ok.

Some background.
Recently, Councilwoman Lynda

Goldberg did NOT recuse herself on a discussion nor vote on an appointment of her husband, Mark Goldberg as the President of Quartzsite Municipal Property Corporation Board of Directors. Meanwhile, Councilman Sam Saxton was advised to recuse himself from sitting on the council while having a discussion and vote about a crosswalk in front of his family's Christian School. You could make money from that Sam! I am sure it has nothing to do with keeping kids SAFE! Are you freaking kidding me? Rules for thee but not for me! Isn't that what we learned during Covid?

Back to the Larry Lord Saga. The council is presented with the documents and Sam has already been asked about the lack of consistency by several members of the community. He begins a series of questions about why Larry did not recuse himself from the discussion. Sammy, we have already learned this one too... No Questions! Rules for thee, not for me! Councilmember Bearcat asked some good questions as did Monica Tiimberlake, you really should have a listen to the recording. Look for the link on our website, TFPnews.com.

Then we had a wonderful discussion about a Peace Pole. It's just a Peace Pole, isn't it Lynda? As fate would have it, the Peace Pole initiative led to a great lesson in The United Nations and their plan of Agenda 2030. Learn more about why to Get US Out of the UN on page 7.

What we did have that was great was the Independence Day celebration. Jewel did a great job as did the fireworks crew! Congrats! To learn more about our celebration read the story Independence Day in Quartzsite, a Teenager's Perspective page 14.

There are so many rocks to uncover in this county. Check out our article The Bouse Real Estate Mystery on Page 6 to get an understanding of what we are looking into out there. Then we head to Parker to look at the Librarian situation and we will have a thorough update next month of that drama. A birdie told me that the new 'interim' librarian thinks we are all just not progressive. She is correct if she is referring to living in a world dominated by Satan, yeah NO!!! "Just because you can do it, doesn't make it a good idea." ~ Chris Rock

There is some incredibly horrific and wonderful news as of today. Check out the short clips on Banned.video and TheHighWire.com. You could binge on truths for weeks. China controls the world's processing and refining of rare earth metals. These metals have become essential for producing electric vehicles, wind turbines, solar panels, and high-tech defense weapons. They have stopped shipping these rare metals. The Supreme Court has been rocking out the constitutional law. Be sure to check out the website for additional information about what is happening in the world.

Have a wonderful Independence month.

Stop Extreme Gun Control Bills in Congress

JBS.org/alert

Members of Congress are seeking to pass an extreme and unconstitutional gun control legislation that would effectively nullify the Second Amendment.

The tragic shooting at Covenant School in Nashville, Tennessee, on March 27 has given leftists another excuse to push their predetermined goal of civilian disarmament. Notably, they are conveniently ignoring the cause of the shooting — a radical, gender-confused individual who allegedly had a hatred for Christians — along with broader radicalization among “LGBT” individuals.

Unfortunately, many Republican politicians are caving to leftist pressure and joining the effort to incrementally make it impossible for civilians to defend themselves. In Tennessee, for example, Governor Bill Lee signed an executive order strengthening draconian background checks while calling on the state General Assembly to enact a “red flag” law. We must ensure that Congress doesn’t cave or restrict our God-given freedoms!

Several unconstitutional gun-control bills have been introduced in Congress. These include:

H.R. 698, the “Assault Weapons Ban of 2023”: This bill would ban the possession, sale, manufacture, and transfer of firearms erroneously classified as “assault weapons.”

H.R. 768, the “Extreme Risk Protection Order Expansion Act of 2023”: This bill would implement a national “red flag” law. “Red flag” laws are particularly dangerous as they allow the government to confiscate law-abiding Americans’ firearms — without due process or even an accusation of a crime — merely because they are labeled as “dangerous.” This violates both the 2nd and 4th Amendments. Furthermore, “red flag” laws wouldn’t even have prevented the Nashville shooting.

H.R. 715, the “Bipartisan Background Checks Act of 2023”: This bill would enact draconian federal background checks for firearm transfers between ordinary American citizens. Expanded background checks will result in citizens needing the government’s permission to own or purchase a firearm — violating the Second Amendment — and it also would inevitably result in a national gun registry. Such a registry would enable the government to easily confiscate people’s weapons at a future date, similar to what actually happened in other countries like Australia.

H.R. 625, the “Keep Americans Safe Act”: This bill would limit magazines to 15 rounds of ammunition or less — this bill would not “keep Americans safe.”

H.R. 660, “Ethan’s Law”: This bill would require Americans to store their firearms in a certain way inside their own homes — a major violation of privacy — if a minor is present. Violating the law would lead to criminal penalties, including the seizure and forfeiture of the firearm.

H.R. 2392, the “Pause for Gun Safety Act”: This bill would mandate a national, seven-day waiting period for firearm transfers, another unconstitutional intrusion upon the right of self-defense.

H.R. 2403, the “Enhanced Background Checks Act of 2023”: This bill would require a nationwide background check period of at least 10 days for firearm purchases.

Regardless of the specific proposals being pushed in Congress, they are unconstitutional and only amount to advancing the Left’s civilian-disarmament schemes. For an illustration of its ultimate goal, one only needs to look at Canada, which is in the process of totally outlawing firearms.

The ability of a person to defend him- or herself is a fundamental God-given right. Stripping individuals of this right would make them utterly dependent upon the government for their very lives and allow it to strip them of other rights without fear of reprisal. It is imperative that we protect and defend the Second Amendment. Urge your U.S. representative and senators to oppose these bills and any other legislation that infringes upon the God-given right to self-defense.

Reports of Stolen Pets on the Rise

By: TPF Staff Writer

In recent months, some social media sites are reporting an uptick in animal thefts.

Efforts to verify just how many animals have been taken have not been as productive as initially hoped, but there have been specific incidents reported by owners involving pets stolen from their own yards when, even briefly placed outside.

If you have experienced such an event or know of any in your area we would appreciate hearing from you. If these are more than 'isolated instances' it would be very helpful for the public at large to be aware of the dangers so they can take steps to protect their animals before it happens to them.

New technologies offer a wide array of anti-theft tools that can easily be utilized to protect family pets, including collar-friendly tracking devices and door cameras that can alert owners to the presence of strangers in the vicinity of family pets, and video options that can provide clues to the identity of those involved in theft.

Strategic placement of cameras and even careful consideration when putting a tracking device in the collars of pets — could help in avoiding detection of the tracker until the pet's rightful owner can determine their whereabouts.

Securing the areas pets utilize by eliminating 'blind spots' on the property and securing gates from the inside can help to protect them from theft, and pet doors can provide them a means of escape if a perpetrator should enter the yard.

Remember: Microchips cannot assist you in the actual tracking of your missing pet. They can enhance the likelihood of recovery when they are scanned at a shelter or veterinarian's office but they will not afford you the luxury of discovering their whereabouts if they're lost or stolen.

Still, microchips are useful, particularly when pets are at a greater risk of becoming lost or stolen. Wanderers then, like Huskies and German Shepherds, can easily benefit from being microchipped.

Valuable thoroughbred dogs can easily be worth thousands and they too, are at higher risk for being lost or stolen simply because of their inherent value to thieves.

Pet owners should maintain a higher level of vigilance at this point in time until the actual threat to household pets can be properly assessed. The words 'Better safe than sorry,' have never been more appropriate.

AZ Governor Signs Probate Reform Laws Inspired by Disney Family Court Battles

In a Year of Vetoes – Arizona Legislature and Governor Agree on Need for Sweeping Court Reforms with Unanimous Votes in Both Chambers

www.businesswire.com 06/20/23

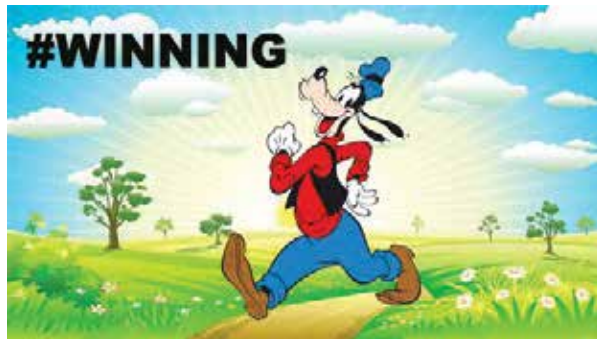

Arizona Governor Katie Hobbs signed into law SB1291, drastically elevating the rights of citizens in guardianship and conservatorship in historic reform for an area of civil law that has long been noted for abuse. Governor Hobbs had previously signed SB1038, establishing a Probate Advisory Panel. Both bills passed out of the Legislature with unanimous support in both the House and Senate, which together bring long-needed reform and accountability to probate courts in Arizona.

The grassroots effort was led by Sherry Lund, who was motivated to act after her family endured over a decade of emotionally devastating and extremely costly litigation in two states to prove her stepson, the grandson of Walt Disney, was competent and not in need of a guardian or conservator.

Her experiences led her to found 5-14 Protecting Liberty, a grassroots organization dedicated to probate reform.

“The amount of money that was demanded to be paid by our family through the legal action to protect our son’s rightful inheritance was nothing short of extortion. Across our nation the courts, attorneys, and fiduciaries have developed a pattern and practice of abuse that protects their sources of financial gain, pulling it from private citizens and into their pockets. After what happened to our family, I could not sit by and watch as other Americans are abused by the system that was designed to protect them,” said Mrs. Lund.

Both bills were sponsored by Senator John Kavanagh R-Fountain Hills, who stated in public testimony that probate reform is “a very important issue” and spent hours in stakeholder meetings to develop the bill language that would ensure the rights of individuals are not lost unnecessarily in Arizona courts.

Rep. Alex Kolodin R-Scottsdale, who sponsored the striker amendment that added stronger protections for Arizona citizens, called SB1291 “a phenomenal bill” and was instrumental in seeing it passed. By Arizona law, the bills will become effective 90-days after Sine Die of the Arizona Legislature. Mrs. Lund in expressing her gratitude said, “Immense thanks are due to Sen. John Kavanagh for his efforts at getting both of these bills through the legislature, to Rep. Alex Kolodin for his strong legal language and commitment to the Constitution, and to Governor Katie Hobbs who recognized the need for reform and signed SB291 and SB1038 into law.”

Asked about her next plans, Mrs. Lund replied, “I’m not stopping. There is much more to do in Arizona to protect children and families. Nationally, I won’t stop until every state is upholding the Constitution in probate matters. Our case led me to meet so many other families, from around the country, with horror stories that cannot be ignored. I have the ability to affect positive change and am determined to do so.”

[This organized crime of conservatorship by fiduciaries, lawyers and judges is all too common here in La Paz County. For more than a year Vivian Hartless has had the heat on her and interestingly there is a huge decline in the number of people needing the assistance of a fiduciary this year. There have only been 3 total and none have been assigned to Mrs. Hartless. She is looking to retire and is currently training her assistant to take over her racket. Thank God there is no statute of limitations that will protect her. Where is John Pitt?]

Bouse Real Estate Mystery

By Marilyn M. Kennedy,
The Patriots Free Press
TPFPnews.com

There is a story unfolding in Bouse, Arizona that caught my attention recently, but little did I know how interesting and complicated this tale was. On June 16, 2023, a story ran in the Parker Pioneer that caught my interest and the more I investigated the more intriguing the story became! The article I read said that it involves ongoing disputes between neighbors along Thomas Road in Bouse, but as I dug into the story it became clear to me that it involved much more than that. From what I have discovered already, it involves not only the La Paz Board of Supervisors, the La Paz County Attorney's Office, the Community Development Department and the County Administrator's Office, but also a whole cast of other characters, and a few who have died under questionable circumstances.

This story began some 20 years or so ago, and if there is one thing we learned from the Richard Nixon Watergate Scandal, sometimes the coverup is more devastating than the incident itself. I am not saying this is on the same level of something that would cause a President of the United States to be removed from office, but in a county the size of La Paz, this seems to be a pretty big deal. La Paz County residents' homes, property and maybe even their lives are at stake.

The current events revolve around Bouse resident and property owner Laurie Nash, her neighbors, County District 2 Supervisor Duce Minor, Chief Civil Deputy County Attorney Jason Mitchell, Community Development Department Director Mike Ramos, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and other La Paz County employees. The basic facts in this case show that the washes in this area of Bouse have been illegally altered, perhaps for years. These illegal alterations to the natural paths of these washes are now causing damage to Bouse residences' property and the county seems to be trying to wash their hands of any responsibility in the matter, even though county employees have been involved since the beginning.

Two names that continued to pop up while looking into this story are Fred Barker and James Martin, both men are now deceased. Martin was an employee of La Paz County and both men, according to a report in the Parker Pioneer on May 1, 2012, were owners of two LLCs organized in Nevada and doing business in Arizona. Martin testified at a Department of Real Estate hearing on October 7, 2010, that he was acting as legal counsel to the LLCs. Both men testified at that hearing that they both believed what they had done was legal, but they both appear to have been lying. They were taking cash under the table for illegally divided parcels and then gifted them to those same people.

According to Nash, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers found no permits had been issued for grading of washes in any wash floodplain for the area where she lives. Nash also claims that there are septic systems that have been installed in the area without permits and the county may have been aware of this for some time. Now as the washes begin to reclaim their natural paths at least one of these non-permitted septic systems has been flooded during heavy rains. Mitchell, the Chief Civil Deputy County Attorney, is quoted in the Pioneer article as saying; he wasn't sure what Nash's specific grievances were, but just from reading the article

Mitchell is quoted in, it is pretty clear to me what Nash's grievances are: the county has not been doing its job and now those in the position of power are playing a game of CYA by issuing violations to residents that were duped into believing improvements on their properties were legal and approved.

Community Development Department Director, Mike Ramos was accused by Nash of citing her while not citing anyone else, and she accused the department that he directed and caused her to lose a civil case against one of her neighbors, because Ramos not only included a picture that was not of her property but also failed to fulfill her Public Records Request in a timely fashion as is required by law. According to the June 16, 2023, Pioneer article, Duce Minor says he is sympathetic to Nash's situation but for some reason he too "...isn't sure of what it is she wants. He said they can't go back and undo all the subdivisions and development on the land, even if they were originally done illegally." I am not sure, but I have a feeling the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers may have a differing opinion on the subject how to resolve this situation. One thing seems clear to me; the vulnerable residents of Bouse should not be violated and caused to bear the burden of this situation.

Minor is also quoted in the same article as saying; "I want to help her, I want to help everyone." I cannot help but think of a quote I read one time when I was researching the Watergate Scandal: "Never say no when a client asks for something, even if it is the moon. You can always try, and anyhow there is plenty of time afterwards to explain that it was not possible." - Richard M. Nixon

I am just beginning to appreciate the depth and complexity of this story. The Patriots Free Press plans to continue this investigation until we get to the bottom of what is going on and who is ultimately responsible. If you have any information on this continuing story, please contact me at: kmarilyn777@gmail.com

Get the US Out of The United Nations

Surrendering Sovereignty for “Peace”

Following the horrific devastation of World War II, Americans were open to new ideas in the hope that it would prevent another world war and bring world peace. Foisted on them by the Deep State was the idea for the United Nations. The United States enlisted as a founding member of the United Nations when the U.S. Senate approved the UN Charter on July 28, 1945. After only six days of formal deliberation, the Senate voted 89 to 2 in favor of joining the world body. The two patriots who voted against ratifying the Charter and UN membership were Senators Henrik Shipstead (R-Minn.) and William Langer (R-N.D.).

Charter for World Government

The UN Charter contains a Preamble and 111 Articles in its 19 Chapters. Although being approximately the same size as the U.S. Constitution, the two founding documents could hardly be any more different. Whereas the U.S. Constitution creates a government with strictly limited and defined powers, the UN Charter establishes the framework for expansive global governance towards one world government.

Article 1 of the UN Charter states that its purpose is: “To maintain international peace and security.” The word “peace” appears a total of six times in Article 1. As a result, UN officials and supporters contend that the world body is a “peace organization.” However, in 1971 the peace organization ousted the free, anticommunist Republic of China – a founding member of the UN – and replaced it with the communist People’s “Republic” of China, whose leadership has killed over 60 million Chinese.

Where is the UN Heading?

From the Arms Trade Treaty intended to regulate and trace the flow of conventional weapons, including handguns, around the world to the onerous environmental controls of the UN’s Agenda 21/2030, which are designed to curtail every individual’s consumption of natural resources (i.e. clean water, coal, oil, natural gas, and food), the UN is a recipe for global despotism.

The ultimate goal for the United Nations is to create a unified one-world government. Consider learning more about the UN’s threat to U.S. sovereignty and freedom using our educational links, videos, and other JBS.org resources. This being one of our longest standing Action Projects our society has some of the most useful UN education tools. Click through the menu on the left to continue learning more about the UN plans for your Second Amendment rights, a one-world government, and the infamous Agenda 21/2030.

Global Disarmament: “UN Peace Force”

A direct affront to our Second Amendment, the 1961 State Department document entitled Freedom From War: The United States Program for General and Complete Disarmament in a Peaceful World is a call for all nations to disband their armed forces and turnover their military assets and weaponry to the UN, in order to establish a “UN Peace Force.” This “Freedom From War” and “UN Peace Force” proposal remains in effect as it has not been withdrawn.

If that was not troubling enough, another United Nations Agenda aims to rule over and strictly regulate your land, your education, your healthcare, and even your nutrition.

Agenda 21/2030: Authority Over All

At the 1992 Earth Summit, held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, the UN unveiled its comprehensive plan for “sustainable development” known as Agenda 21 (renamed Agenda 2030). The program proposes a global regime to monitor, oversee, and strictly regulate the Earth’s oceans, seas, bays, lakes, rivers, streams, beaches, wetlands, rainforests, jungles, grasslands, farmlands, deserts, tundra, mountains, and atmosphere. It proposes sustainability and development plans for cities, towns, suburbs, and agrarian/rural areas. And it envisions global programs for healthcare, nutrition, agriculture, education, labor, energy, production, and consumption – in short, everything – that follow the objective of “sustainable development.” This agenda affects every person on the planet and every part of the planet. Yet, so few have even heard about the Agenda.

Globalists Desire U.S. Submission

A remarkable, early call for a UN world government is a 1962 report for the U.S. State Department titled A World Effectively Controlled By the United Nations by Lincoln P. Bloomfield (CFR), a professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and former State Department official. In his report, Dr. Bloomfield stated: “A world effectively controlled by the United Nations is one in which ‘world government’ would come about through the establishment of supranational institutions, characterized by mandatory universal membership.” He added that a speedier path to UN world government “relies on a grave crisis or war to bring about a sudden transformation in national attitudes sufficient for the purpose.”

Biden Announces High-speed Internet for All by 2030

By: David Kelly June 27, 2023
TheNewAmerican.com

Claiming that “high-speed internet is no longer a luxury — it is necessary for Americans,” President Biden announced on Monday a major investment of over $42 billion to expand affordable high-speed internet access to all Americans, in “50 states, DC, and the territories” by 2030.

Speaking on the broadband investments at the White House, Biden stated: It’s the biggest investment in high-speed Internet ever, because for today’s economy to work for everyone, internet access is just as important as electricity was or water or other basic services.

For around 24 million Americans across this country, there is no high-speed Internet. And for millions more, their internet connection is limited or unreliable.

High-speed Internet isn’t a luxury anymore; it’s become an absolute necessity. That’s why we acted as soon as we did — as soon as we came to office — with the American Rescue Plan.

A Department of Commerce (DOC) press release stated the $42.45 billion funding is part of the “Broadband Equity, Access, and Deployment (BEAD) program from President Biden’s Bipartisan Infrastructure Law to administer grant programs within their borders.”

“What this announcement means for people across the country is that if you don’t have access to quality, affordable high-speed Internet service now — you will, thanks to President Biden and his commitment to investing in America,” said Secretary of Commerce Gina Raimondo. “Whether it’s connecting people to the digital economy, manufacturing fiber-optic cable in America, or creating good paying jobs building Internet infrastructure in the states, the investments we’re announcing will increase our competitiveness and spur economic growth across the country for years to come.”

The White House fact sheet shared these highlights:

 Awards range from $27 million to over $3.3 Billion, with every state receiving a minimum of $107 million.
* 19 states received allocations over $1 billion with the top 10 allocations in Alabama, California, Georgia, Louisiana, Michigan, Missouri, North Carolina, Texas, Virginia and Washington.*

With these allocations and other Biden administration investments, all 50 states, DC, and the territories now have the resources to connect every resident and small business to reliable, affordable high-speed internet by 2030.

Full details at: TheNewAmerican.com

The States, D.C., and territories (Eligible Entities) will need to apply for the grant funding through the DOC describing how they propose to run their grant programs. Once approved, the eligible entities can begin awarding grants to telecommunications companies and broadband providers to build infrastructure to provide high-speed internet.

The concept of providing high-speed internet access to all, regardless of where one lives sounds great, but in reality, will be a difficult task to achieve by 2030, if ever. Current major broadband companies have had difficulty providing high-speed internet access in rural and sparsely populated areas due to infrastructure costs, as well as the few subscribers to such services in those areas.

Avoiding the obvious expense and ongoing infrastructure requirements to achieve his goal of high-speed internet access for all Americans by 2030, Biden chose to use the announcement opportunity as another 2024 reelection campaign speech. Biden declared: “For decades” — for decades — and the middle class was hollowed out. Too many good-paying manufacturing jobs moved overseas. Public investment was slashed. Core sources of our economic strength, like infrastructure, manufacturing, and innovation, were also hollowed out.

The president then rambled on about the failure of “trickle-down economics” while attacking the wealthy and big corporations, before he shared his memorized campaign talking points and his vision of building “the economy from the middle out and the bottom up instead of the top down; to grow the economy by educating and empowering workers, by promoting competition to support small businesses, and investing in ourselves again for the first time in a long time.”

To add to Biden’s broadband announcement, according to The Epoch Times, a memo was released at the same time, in which “senior

White House advisers Anita Dunn and Mike Donilon compared the broadband expansion to President Franklin Roosevelt’s efforts in 1936 to bring electricity to rural America.”

The memo shared, “just like Franklin Delano Roosevelt delivered electricity to every home in America through his Rural Electrification Act, the announcement is part of President Biden’s broader effort to deliver investments, jobs, and opportunities directly to working and middle-class families across the country.”

The White House staff memo focused on Biden’s supposed successes of his first two years in office, with the administration’s policies leading the way, while sharing that Bidenomics is working.

“The President’s economic strategy has powered the strongest recovery of any major economy in the world. Among leading economies, the United States has had the highest economic growth since the pandemic and currently has the lowest level of inflation. This progress wasn’t inevitable or an accident — it has been a direct result of Bidenomics,” the memo stated, before announcing that Biden will “deliver a major speech in Chicago” on Wednesday “to highlight how his strategy of growing the economy by growing the middle class is delivering for the American people.”

The timing of Biden’s broadband investment announcement and the memo reveals that this was more about the president’s 2024 reelection campaign than whether all Americans will actually have high-speed internet access by 2030. Only time will tell.

Connecting the Dots – What is Dirty Electricity and is it Harmful?

Bill Lowstuter: Electrical Engineer, Inventor, Entrepreneur 6/25/23
billlowstuter.substack.com

What is Dirty Electricity?

Dirty electricity exists everywhere. Some levels of dirty electricity are found in almost every building whether it be in homes, businesses, schools, or in public places. Whenever electronics like computers, phone battery chargers, Wi-Fi, TVs, game consoles, smart electric meters, compact fluorescent lighting, or solar panel inverters operate the electrical circuits are radiating dirty electricity. Dirty electricity can be present on electrified wires anywhere and probably has been on them since the beginning of widespread telegraph electrification in 1844.

Dirty electricity is the least understood and hardest to mitigate of the four types of Electro Magnetic Fields (EMFs), compared to the other types of EMFs that are prevalent in our environment, which are: Alternating Current (AC) Magnetic Fields (MF) from motors in refrigerators and air conditioning, Alternating Current (AC) Electric Fields (EF) from electronic devices like computers, and Radio Frequencies (RF) from wireless devices like cell phones and wi-fi.

The term “Dirty Electricity” was coined by the electrical utility industry to describe Electro-Magnetic Frequency (EMF) or Electro-magnetic Interference (EMI). Dirty Electricity is caused by plugging in electronics and all electrical appliances. It is created in the process of converting Alternating Current (AC) electricity into Direct Current (DC) for the equipment to operate. By converting AC to DC electricity and stepping down the voltage from 120 volts AC to 12 Volts DC, a measurable side-effect is wasted electrical energy created in the form of Electro-Magnetic Interference (EMI). Dirty electricity rides along on the sixty-cycle sine wave of alternating current (AC) power as high frequency voltage transients. The surge of electrical energy radiates into living environments in the form of voltage transients and spikes. These are erratic forms of electrical energy, which are rapidly and constantly changing in intensity. The dramatic increase of electronics and “green” wind turbine and solar power systems, compact fluorescent lights and electronics with AC adapters has served to create

AC power into DC power. This can cause spikes and surges of higher frequencies that then radiate out of the wiring and into the home. Dirty electricity most often ranges from 2 kHz to 200 kHz. This is a very special range as it is the frequency in which electric and magnetic fields most easily couple to your body, causing biological damage.

Dirty electricity exists everywhere. Some levels of dirty electricity are found in every building whether it be in homes, businesses, schools or in public places. Wherever electronics like computers, battery chargers, Wi-Fi, TVs, game consoles, compact fluorescent lighting or solar panels operate the electrical circuits are radiating dirty electricity continually. EMF circulates through a building’s electrical system and radiates into the environment through wiring, outlets, power strips, electronics, compact fluorescent lighting, and smart electric meters contaminating the environment with electrical pollution. Dirty electricity can also be caused by a substandard wiring job with poor grounding wiring. Sometimes homes get dirty electricity coming in from their power company and smart electric meters.

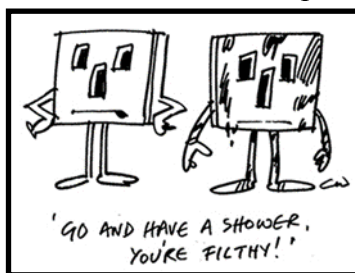

Dirty Electricity poses severe challenges to our health and all living things. It has been proven this harmful energy radiates into living environments, affects the human body and induces foreign electrical currents in the body. Dirty electricity is a by-product of using modern electronics. Dirty Electricity does not help power our homes and businesses but will harm electronics, and all electrical equipment. One crucial scientific study performed by Dr. Havas showed how removing dirty electricity produced by cell towers near schools improved the learning environment and 11 of 13 ADHD behaviors improved by up to 22%.

Both Wind Turbines and Solar energy create dirty electricity on the power grid.

Wind farms create two serious health problems; low frequency sound waves caused by the turbine blades and dirty electricity caused by the inverters. The wind turbine blades turn a generator in the nacelle at the top of the tower. The power generated varies based on the wind velocity and rotor blade rotation speed. To create the smooth 60 Hz frequency waveform, grid intertie inverters and controller electronics are used to shape the waveform necessary for the utility grade power that can be sent on the grid. This electronic modulation creates dirty electricity that is put on the power grid to your home and business.

The voltage created by solar photovoltaic panels is direct current and exacerbate this problem significantly.

Clean Power VS Dirty Power

Clean power is electricity coming through an electric outlet with little to no electrical noise. “Electrical noise” does not necessarily mean audible noise, though it can be present in some circumstances. It refers to electromagnetic frequencies lying outside the desired range expected from any power source. Although it can be heard with proper testing equipment as discussed later.

Dirty power has electromagnetic noise that causes interference with your household power wiring. Such noises originate from external sources like power lines or originate from inside your property.

Dirty electricity is caused when electrical / electronic devices are connected to a circuit and change

Common Sources of Dirty Electricity

(DC) and must be changed to alternating current (AC) to be put on the power grid. An Inverter is an electronic device that creates an alternating voltage by chopping up the DC to simulate an alternating waveform and generates a lot of dirty energy in the process. For solar on your home or business, the voltage is changed from 12- or 24-volts DC to 120 Volts AC. For large scale commercial solar arrays the voltage is converted to thousands of volts and then transformed to 345,000 volts to place on the high-tension power lines. Solar arrays create huge amounts of dirty electricity on the power grid as a result.

Is Dirty Electricity Harmful? Dr. Sam Milham, who authored one of the most powerful studies on dirty electricity and cancer, has spent nearly thirty years researching the impact of electromagnetic fields (EMFs) on health. In his book, "Dirty Electricity: Electrification and the Diseases of Civilization", Dr. Milham provides the epidemiological link between dirty electricity and cancer, heart disease, diabetes, Alzheimer's, suicide, and neurological disorders such as multiple sclerosis (MS) and ALS (Lou Gehrig's disease).

Decades of scientific evidence point to a connection between electrical energy and a wide variety of medical, emotional, and cognitive health problems. There are now more than 5000 studies which link electromagnetic energy with biological effects, chronic conditions, and dozens of diseases. There is increasing scientific evidence that these invisible spikes and surges radiating from electrical circuits may be triggering an immune system response. Recent science has shown dirty electricity to be bioactive. That is, it directly disturbs human biological systems. Dirty electricity and other types of chaotic electrical energy have been associated with auto-immune disease neurological conditions, poor sleep, attentional disorders, anxiety, and dozens of chronic symptoms associated with inflammation.

In a key section from the BioInitiative Report Dr. Olle Johansson, PhD, shows how electrical fields trick the innate immune system into thinking the body is being attacked by a foreign invader like a virus or bacteria. Johansson observed a proliferation of mast cells, which react to various classes of electromagnetic radiation (EMR) in humans after exposure. Mast cells are part of the body's immune system. Mast cells are a type of white blood cell that is found in connective tissues all through the body, especially under the skin, near blood vessels and lymph vessels, in nerves, and in the lungs and intestines. Mast cells play an important role in how the immune system responds to dirty electricity, bacteria and parasites and they help control other types of immune responses.

There is increasing evidence that chronic exposures to electrical fields like dirty electricity produce a chronic inflammatory response. The human inflammatory response activated for short/brief periods will aid the healing of the vascular endothelium (thin membrane of cells that line the surface of blood vessels and lymphatic vessels), whereas CHRONIC exposure to deleterious stimuli (EMF) causes a plethora of cardiovascular diseases. This chronic inflammation eventually exhausts the adrenal glands and leads to fatigue, cognitive impacts, fuzzy thinking, irritability, anxiety, and memory loss. In large amounts, they can also cause abdominal cramps, muscle pain, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, low blood pressure, and shock. Mast cells signal the release of inflammatory substances, which when chronically provoked, enter a repetitive feedback loop. Chronic EMF and dirty electricity exposures trigger symptoms that mirror those experienced in dozens of autoimmune diseases.

Here is a sampling of health impacts which have been scientifically associated with dirty electricity: ADHD, diabetes, anxiety, fatigue, asthma, irritability, cancer, pain, concentration problems, mood, multiple sclerosis, depression, and sleep issues.

How can you protect yourself from Dirty Electricity?

Fortunately, most power issues happen to the consumer side of a smart electric meter, meaning you can take appropriate corrective steps. Taking such steps will help you avoid costly power disruptions, improve energy efficiency, generally reduce costs and most importantly improve your health. Dirty Electricity voltage is caused when electrical devices, like refrigerators, air conditioners, computers and electronics are linked to a circuit, and manipulate the current in any way, such as, changing AC to DC power or turning a motor. This causes a spike and surges of higher frequencies that radiate out of the wiring and into your home and buildings.

Before you do anything to reduce your physical exposure to EMF's, it is vital for you to know your degree of physical exposure to EMF's by measuring radiation levels already present. Measuring first provides you with a baseline and dramatically helps you to fine tune your mitigation efforts so they can be as effective as possible. The ability to see and hear current readings detected by EMF measuring devices will motivate you to take immediate action to address them.

There are four types of meters that measure the four different types of EMF radiation.

Type of EMF Exposure / Maximum EMF Safety Threshold

Alternating Current Electric Fields (EF) / 5 volts per meter

Alternating Current Magnetic Fields (MF) / 1 milligauss or 100 nanotesla

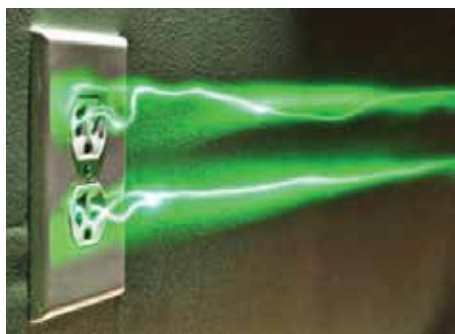

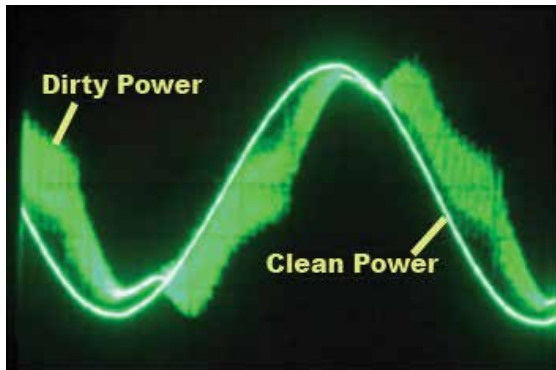

Radio Frequency Radiation Fields (RF) / 10 milliwatts per square meter

Dirty Electricity / Threshold varies depending on the meter you use; check the manual.

You can purchase the meters yourself or hire an EMF professional. Dr. Mercola's book, "EMF*D - 5G Wi-Fi, & Cell Phones" has a chapter on resources which provides information on meters for measuring all four of the types of radiation that are hazardous to your health. The types of meters, functionality, and cost can be researched on the internet. There are many meters, and you will need more than one to measure the 4 types of fields. There is no one best meter.

I purchased a Trifield Model TF2 EMF meter which measures Magnetic, Electric and Radio Frequency (including cell phone) radiation fields. I have taken readings on every electrical appliance in the house from varying distances. The further away you are from the source the lower the field strength. If you double the distance from the source, say from two feet to four feet, the field strength decreases to one fourth the power. Moving sources further away will reduce your exposure level. <https://www.trifield.com/product/trifield-emf-meter/>

I also purchased a Broadband EMF Meter and filters by GreenWave. <https://greenwavefilters.com/product/EMF-meter/> This basic meter measures the amount of dirty electricity (a.k.a. electrical noise, line noise, EMF) present on the wiring in buildings. You can find out how much dirty electrical pollution is on your wiring at home, business etc. You can hear the difference GreenWave filters make in reducing it.

The EMF meter is compatible with 50/60-Hz electrical circuits with voltage anywhere between 100V and 240V. This meter will display, and you can hear the difference immediately without the filter and the reduction with the filter plugged in.

This can help you determine the best number of filters to install in each room and where to place the filters for optimal results.

GreenWave filters are designed to significantly reduce the level of dirty electricity present on the wiring in homes and other buildings. <https://greenwavefilters.com/product/greenwave-dirty-electricity-fil-> ter/ By reducing the unhealthy dirty electricity flowing along building wires, less will radiate into your environment. A built-in outlet at the base provides an additional plug.

EMF / EMI Remediation Four Basic Principles

- 1) Avoid unnecessary exposure to EMF's, especially inside your own home and from your personal devices (such as your cell phone), where you have the most control.
- 2) Put as much physical distance as you can between you and the source of EMF's you can't avoid.
- 3) Decrease the amount of EMF exposure coming into your home from external sources by using EMF filters.
- 4) When all else fails, shield yourself with EMF protective blankets, clothing, and Faraday bags. These are all available online.

Conclusion

Dirty electricity is an inevitable occurrence that affects your home and business electricity. It is a nuisance that can quickly escalate into potential damage and costs. Unlike clean power, dirty power is characterized by electromagnetic irregularities that cause interference with your property's power and cause many health problems. Fortunately, dirty power can be reduced with a little electrical knowledge and expertise.

Dirty Electricity is clearly becoming an increasing health concern in our homes, schools and businesses. The conclusion in Dr. Samuel Milham's book, "Dirty Electricity – Electrification and the Diseases of Civilization" states:

"The explosive recent increase in Radio Frequency radiation and high frequency transient sources, especially in urban areas from cellphones and towers, terrestrial antennas, Wi-Fi and Wi-Max systems, broadband internet over phone lines, and personal electronic, equipment suggests that like the 20th century EMF epidemic, we already have a 21st century epidemic of morbidity and mortality underway, caused by high frequency electromagnetic fields."

The question is how big a role does it play in the current US health crisis. The controversy persists. Fortunately, we now have tools to address the question pragmatically. Interventions like those described above can give us a glimpse into how electrical energy can play a part in health. While these interventions may not conclusively eliminate the hazard, it can reduce it. We can begin to learn about the important effects of the electrical environment around us, and how it affects our state of health and wellness.

After all the reading I have done on EMFs' hazards and the articles I have written on their harmful effects on all life (see billowstuter.substack.com), I now take EMF and EMI exposure very seriously.

It is virtually impossible to achieve high levels of health in the 21st century unless you are addressing your total EMF exposure and giving your body the help it needs to reduce the damage this exposure causes.

DIRTY ELECTRICITY IS VERY HARMFUL! DON'T LET IT DAMAGE YOUR HEALTH!

What is Independence to a Teenager Living in Quartzsite Arizona?

By: Annah Rowland

Independence can mean a lot of things such as choice of religion, what your opinion is in politics, what you wear, what you think is right, deciding how you want to raise your kids, your job, how you live, and your hobbies.

But in this case in the small town of Quartzsite, Arizona, independence is selling what you want, buying what you want, and trading what you want. A vendor can choose to sell old bottles, it's their choice. If a person wants to buy plates of metal they can if they want to, and if they want to trade amethyst for some big gears, that's their choice to do that.

What I've noticed here in this unique town is that no one really has any problems with anyone. "Oh you have a different view on politics? Cool, do you like to make art?" It seems almost everyone gets along. Because the people know they have to get along to make the market work so everyone can make a profit and make a good living. Some of the vendors, after the market hours, invite their neighbors over to have dinner or talk around a campfire, no matter who they are. Not a lot of small towns are like that. Quartzsite is a one of a kind community, nothing in the world is probably like it.

People have said many times that it's the world's biggest swap meet. I would definitely agree with them. The community is choosing independence by trying to get along with each other and mixing many different types of people into small areas. It proves that if everyone tries to be happy with everyone's flaws and opinions it can and will work if people try hard enough to make it happen.

Having independence also means accepting others' opinions because you can't control what the other person thinks but you can control yourself and your thoughts. The person next to you is worshipping cats? Does it affect you in any way? No, It doesn't really matter, it's their choice. Someone wants to have a bag made out of duct tape? Does it affect you? No, it doesn't. That also means you don't have to change your opinions for someone else's. That's your choice, it also means that you can choose to be a person that doesn't hate everyone.

You have the independence of not breaking the law or starting an argument over a small mistake that can easily be fixed that is showing independence. It can also mean that if you see something happening that's wrong you have the choice of stepping up to see the problem at hand and have the choice to help fix it. That's why it's important in this small town and country.

During the annual fourth of July celebration it showed independence perfectly, no one was questioning people's views on the country's current situation or their own opinions. They were having fun, playing on the waterslides, buying snowcones, the little kids were playing tag, dumping water on each other, and many dressed up in red, white, and blue. That shows even with different views we're still a united country. And that's what we should be proud of.

"Many people fear independence because it's capable of doing many horrific things and wonders to people." ~ Mitch Flock

FBI Caves, Will Let Comer's Full Committee See Biden Bribery Document

Accommodation from the Bureau came after the threat of contempt vote on Thursday.

By John Solomon 06/07/23
JustTheNews.com

The FBI caved to congressional pressure Wednesday night on the eve of a contempt vote, agreeing to let all members of the House Oversight Committee see an informant memo alleging Joe Biden was involved in a $5 million bribery scheme as well as some related documents.

The committee's chairman, Rep. James Comer, R-Kentucky, announced the deal just hours before his panel was to vote to find FBI Director Christopher Wray in contempt. "After weeks of refusing to even admit the FD-1023 record exists, the FBI has caved and is now allowing all members of the Oversight and Accountability Committee to review this unclassified record that memorializes a confidential human source's conversations with a foreign national who claimed to have bribed then Vice President Joe Biden," Comer said. "Americans have lost trust in the FBI's ability to enforce the law impartially and demand answers, transparency, and accountability," he said. "Allowing all Oversight Committee members to review this record is an important step toward conducting oversight of the FBI and holding it accountable to the American people."

At issue is a document known as an FD-1023 containing allegations from a confidential informant in June 2020 that Joe Biden as vice president traded US policy for money to his family. The committee now will also be able to see two earlier documents from the same informant related to the allegation.

Comer told Just the News the allegations involve the country of Ukraine and remain under investigation by the bureau, and have not been disproven as Democrats have suggested. "Let's be clear: the allegations contained within this record are not closed as the White House and Democrats would have the American people believe," he said. "Former Attorney General Barr confirmed this information was sent to the U.S. Attorney in Delaware for further investigation and the FBI has confirmed it is being used in an ongoing investigation. "We also know the confidential source who provided this information is highly credible and trusted, has worked with the FBI for over a decade, and has been paid six figures."

U.S. Supreme Court Rules Affirmative Action Unconstitutional

By: Nicole Hunt 06/29/23
DailyCitizen.FocusOnTheFamily.com

In a blockbuster ruling on Thursday, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled affirmative action, as exercised in the college admission processes at Harvard and the University of North Carolina (UNC), are unconstitutional violations of the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment.

Chief Justice John Roberts authored the majority opinion in this 6-3 decision against UNC and 6-2 decision against Harvard. Roberts was joined by Justices Thomas, Brett Kavanaugh, Samuel Alito, Neil Gorsuch and Amy Coney Barrett.

Justices Sonia Sotomayor, Elena Kagan and Ketanji Brown Jackson dissented in the UNC case. Justice Ketanji Brown Jackson recused herself from the Harvard case as she formerly served on Harvard's Board of Overseers, leaving Justices Sonia Sotomayor and Elena Kagan as the two remaining dissenters in that case.

The opinion consolidated two cases brought by Students for Fair Admission (SFFA)— Students for Fair Admissions v. Harvard College and Students for Fair Admissions v. University of North Carolina. As previously reported by the Daily Citizen, both cases were filed in 2014 and have been making their way through the court system. In both cases, SFFA sued over the schools' admissions processes. The question presented to the Supreme Court was whether colleges and universities could use race as a factor in admission and whether the admission processes at those schools were a violation of the Constitution.

The majority held, "Because Harvard's and UNC's admissions programs lack sufficiently focused and measurable objectives warranting the use of race, unavoidably employ race in a negative manner, involve racial stereotyping, and lack meaningful endpoints, those admissions programs cannot be reconciled with the guarantees of the Equal Protection Clause."

The opinion explains that, in the past, the Court permitted race-based admission processes only if they complied with strict scrutiny, never used race as a stereotype or a negative, and had an endpoint. Roberts wrote that the admission processes at Harvard and UNC, "however well intentioned and implemented in good faith," failed the criteria.

The Court clarified, "... nothing prohibits universities from considering an applicant's discussion of how race affected the applicant's life, so long as that discussion is concretely tied to a quality of character or unique ability that the particular applicant can contribute to the university." In other words, as Roberts explains, "the student must be treated based on his or her experiences as an individual—not on the basis of race." He also warned that this does not mean that universities can "establish through application essays or other means the regime we hold unlawful today."

The Court declared, "Many universities have for too long wrongly concluded that the touchstone of an individual's identity is not challenges bested, skills built, or lessons learned, but the color of their skin. This Nation's constitutional history does not tolerate that choice."

In Justice Sonia Sotomayor's dissent, she claimed the decision "rolls back decades of precedent and momentous progress."

Justice Clarence Thomas, the Court's second black justice, wrote in his concurring opinion, "... the Constitution continues to embody a simple truth: Two discriminatory wrongs cannot make a right. ... Today ... the Constitution prevails." He concluded, "I hold out enduring hope that this country will live up to its principles so clearly enunciated in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States: that all men are created equal, are equal citizens, and must be treated equally before the law."

The Court's ruling will no doubt have widespread ripple effects across the nation as colleges and universities revamp their admission processes to comply with the Supreme Court's opinion. Moving forward, institutions of higher education will be required to consider each student applicant based on individual merit and the content of the applicant's character rather than skin color.

Racial discrimination is always wrong. We applaud the Supreme Court for a ruling founded on fairness and equal protection under the Constitution.

Gender Transformation: The Untold Realities | A Documentary Every Parent Needs to Watch

www.GenderTransformation.com

The transgender movement has recently gained national attention; from the recent controversy of big corporations like Budweiser and Target over their support for the transgender movement, to transgender competitors outperforming female athletes and male prisoners identifying as trans to transfer into female prisons. A new trend has emerged among children who are being taught at young ages that they can choose their own gender. What is behind the rise of the transgender movement today? And what are the implications on our children and youth?

Gender Transformation: The Untold Realities is an Epoch Original docudrama examining the complex issues surrounding transgenderism and youth. The film explores the roles played by the education system, medical and pharmaceutical industries, the financial interests behind the transgender movement, and the societal and political mechanisms at work.

The docudrama tells the real-life stories of several former transgender youth who started the gender transitioning process and their experiences at various stages of the journey through live interviews and re-enactments.

Experts interviewed in the film reveal the life-altering medical and psychological impacts of the experimental medication used, including the irreversible side effects of puberty blockers, hormone therapies, and surgeries that are not reported by the media.

Award-winning director Tobias Elvhage, whose most recent awards include Best Short Film at the 2023 LA Documentary Film Festival and Winner of the 2023 European Cinematography Awards, brings to light the untold realities and the implications of the transgender movement on our children and youth in this docudrama.

The courageous youth in Gender Transformation break through the silence and bring hope to other struggling children. Every one of their stories is powerful, important, and needs to be told.

Why Julian Assange Must Be Freed

Matt Taibbi
taibbi@substack.com 07/24/23

I have a confession to make.

Once, like a lot of journalists, I didn't like Julian Assange. It wasn't just that Wikileaks was breaking one huge story after another. He had fab hair. He wore skinny jeans. He even modeled at fashion week! What can I say? I was jealous. We're in London, so I can quote Shakespeare, can't I? "Beware the green-eyed monster, which doth mock the meat it feeds on."

Jealousy, that monster, impairs one's thinking. It impaired mine. I didn't have a reason to dislike Assange So I invented one. I decided I didn't like the concept of "radical transparency." I thought: "You can't just dump all of those secrets on the public. That's irresponsible!" I was so brainwashed that I forgot, as many people do, that secrets do not belong to governments. That information belongs to us. Governments rule by our consent. If they want to keep secrets, they must have our permission to do so. And they never have the right to keep crimes secret.

I'm an American. Many of you are from the U.K. In our countries, we're building skyscrapers and huge new complexes to store our secrets, because we don't have room to keep them all as is!

Why do we have so many secrets? Julian Assange told us why. From an essay he wrote: "Authoritarian regimes give rise to forces which oppose them by pushing against the individual and collective will to freedom, truth and self realization. Plans which assist authoritarian rule, once discovered, induce resistance. Hence these plans are concealed by successful authoritarian powers."

When governments become authoritarian, they inspire resistance. Techniques must then be developed to repel that resistance. Those techniques must then be concealed. In short: the worse a country is, the more secrets it has. We have a lot of secrets now.

Julian Assange became famous as we were creating a vast new government-within-a-government, a system of secret prisons, extraordinary rendition, mass surveillance, and drone assassination. Many of these things we know about only because of Wikileaks. Ostensibly, all this secrecy was needed to fight foreign terrorism.

The brutal irony now is the architects of that system no longer feel the need to hide their dirty tactics. My government, openly, wants to put this man in jail for 175 years, mostly for violations of the Espionage Act. These include crimes like "conspiracy to receive national defense information," or "obtaining national defense information."

What is "national defense information?" The answer is what makes this law so dangerous. It's whatever they say it is. It's any information they don't want to get out. It doesn't even have to be classified. What is conspiracy to obtain such information? We have a word for that. It's called journalism.

My government wants to put Julian Assange in jail for 175 years for practicing journalism. The government of this country, the U.K., is going to allow it to happen.

If they did this to Andrei Sakharov, or Nelson Mandela, every human rights organization in the world would be denouncing this as an intolerable outrage. Every NGO would be lining up to lend support. Every journalist would be penning editorials demanding his release. But because our own governments are doing it, we get silence.

If you're okay with this happening to one Julian Assange, you'd better be okay with it happening to many others. That's why this moment is so important. If Assange is successfully extradited and convicted, it will take about ten minutes for it to happen again. From there this will become a common occurrence. There will be no demonstrations in parks, no more news stories. This will become a normal part of our lives.

Don't let that happen.
Free Julian Assange.

Covid was developed and weaponized as a means of population control.

By: Frank Hammond,

I have a 43 year background in healthcare. The clinical medical community was prevented from effective intervention, by big Pharma and NGO funding, of FDA, CDC, NIH, medical school curriculum, regulatory agencies, and well entrenched government officials at every level. Threats and prosecution of clinicians, who chose not to follow the regulatory propaganda occurred.

One effective organization de-platformed, ridiculed, and prosecuted is the FLCCC alliance.

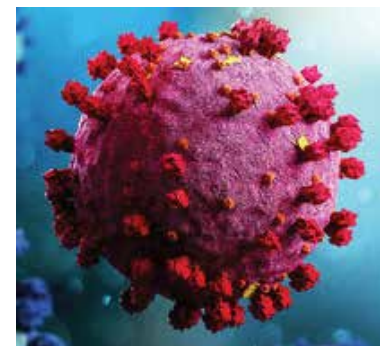

Immigrants with high parasitic occurrences are required to take Nobel Prize recognized ivermectin. Off label use has saved hundreds of thousands if not millions.

Henry Ford hospitals found a 50% reduction in mortality during a study of 2500 patients, March through May 2020, using hydroquinilone and azythromycin.

Effective treatment didn't enrich big pharma, corrupt government officials and WEF criminals, nor support world depopulation of 100 million people as Dave Foreman advocates.

Make no mistake, Covid was designed, developed and distributed to reduce population. Through no coincidence did Covid kill those with co-morbidity, with little effect on pediatric patients. WEF advocates, support genocide and murder. Kill the weak and ill, so young and healthy survive and procreate, in the proper quantity with desired attributes.

Those responsible deserve a speedy trial and execution when found guilty. But wait, the World Court is funded and supported by those who gave us Covid.

Sooooo, keep your knives sharp and your guns handy, and never forget; God, the creator of heaven and earth is in control.

The Real US Goal in Ukraine

By: Karen Kwiatkowski 07/01/23
www.LewRockwell.com

US state media – the NYT, WP, NPR, and the main TV news corporations – cautiously broaches topics they refused to touch a year ago. We are learning that Nazi and racist ideologies are popular in Ukraine. We now know the US state department, with German and other EU and NATO assistance, schemed against Russia when they signed on the Minsk agreement in 2014, a noble lie in the neocon fashion. We know from mainstream media that the so-called Ukraine spring counteroffensive has begun, after much US and NATO urging, and is failing at every turn, at a great cost.

We are now allowed to see glimpses of the dwindling Ukrainian population, and with it, their economy. Indirectly, we understand that there is a growing desperation in Kiev – for money, for weapons, for NATO and EU membership. The actions of the Ukrainian army and its leadership, attacking Moscow with drones, raids into Belarus, attempts to cause nuclear contamination in Eastern Europe though attacks and sabotage of their own Ukrainian nuclear power stations and major dams are being noted. While I believe Seymour Hersh who authored “How America Took Out The Nord Stream Pipeline” the convenient story of a heroic team of Uke divers doing the job had a valid purpose, to provide the Ukrainian voter with a ray of hope and heroism. That is, if they still had voters in Ukraine.

The casual observer of this war, 17 months in, notes physical and emotional exhaustion, and political desperation. The orgasmic excitement expressed by US death cult in Washington the last Saturday in June was revealing. Not of their various “goals” in Ukraine, or their fanatical Russia-hate – but that their long dry spell is beginning to make even neocons desperate for a bit of “good news.”

Neocon war is unpopular, ugly, and present situation in eastern Europe.

Biden is planning to send cluster bombs to Ukraine, and yes, they are indiscriminate, horrific, outlawed in 120 countries, and immoral – but – wait for it – the decision to use them is entirely Ukraine’s. Biden and Blinken and Nuland and Sullivan, and half the Senate and half the Congress – well, they don’t have a thing to do with “Ukraine’s decisions.”

Unless Kiev or a European ally, or NATO member wants to see about ending hostilities, making peace, making Ukraine a safe place for Ukrainians to live – well that’s strictly verboten, forbidden by Washington, cannot happen, is not allowed.

We apparently have a shit ton of MK-20s in the Pentagon “warehouse.” Where else are we going to use them? Some contracting officer, or a set of uniformed “really smart” people are due a promotion once their bosses find out they got the US taxpayer to pay for cluster munitions a second time, now as tax-funded aid to “Ukraine.” The per unit cost for the Ukes today is probably half what we paid Textron (inflation adjusted of course) originally, but hey, you wanted government to act like a business, and in war it does – complete with that extra set of books in the safe.

Continues on Page 19

venal. Worst of all, it is unsuccessful – meaning instead of ending in triumph and celebration, it persists as a confusing, contradictory and costly problem multiplier. We’ve seen this before. Neocons are the Dylan Mulvaney of American politics, albeit with less sincerity and self-awareness. When it’s your influence that has destroyed the effectiveness of and any residual honor in US foreign policy for the past 70 years, as well as bankrupting the nation – the writing is on the wall. Or it should be. We’d probably be better off having our country led by a beer company. Even Anheuser-Busch’s crippled instincts would not have led to the

Biden is an old man. But imagine, if you will, that you have a child, and that child lied constantly, never took responsibility for his most obvious transgressions, played with deadly toys, and on top of that – had several undeniable special needs. What would we do? Some of us might institutionalize, most would certainly medicate and counsel, and all of us would lovingly try to make sure he didn't kill or maim anyone.

Citizens, of course, cannot serve as loving stewards of government – it's not that kind of relationship. We share no caste, and have no heritage, with our 21st century government. We cannot believe what it says, we hate what it does, and we owe it no obedience. The fascinating thing is that these words will shock many good

Americans, but they do not shock our rulers, who understand the relationship accurately, and proceed accordingly.

Which brings me back to the US goal in Ukraine. It is destruction, and not the creative kind. Ukraine was completely destroyed as a free state, to be used as a dead thorn with which to poke Moscow. The neocon tea-talk is mostly about how dead and deconstructed Ukraine will be in service to that US goal – do we create a 200 kilometer wide plain of mines and barbed wire, a super-47th Parallel, managed, secured and farmed by international contractors, do we have the Poles administer the western territories, and what shall we do about Kaliningrad? Do we dare to eat a peach?

To end on a happy note – as we must – there are many excellent solutions to the Ukrainian problem, a guy mentioned a fact – what the polluters were doing was already in violation of an existing federal law – why don't we enforce it? It was a key to peaceful improvement. The law – for our nation and its rules-based order – often seems like a joke.

But when Switzerland just stopped tanks going into Ukraine, they did so by citing the law. I imagine if the 120 countries who have banned cluster munitions also have laws on the books that would serve peace, and help contain the savages in Washington.

If Ukrainians must live with their future, on Ukrainian territory, they should indeed be the ones deciding their next steps. Their Ukraine should not be subject to cowards, mass murderers, and profiteers in Washington and London, or in Kiev – with its flush of money and luxury stores thanks to the wages of proxyism. If Ukrainians leave the war to the US, and the UK and Germany, and Poland – there will be no Ukraine left at all. They will tell their grandchildren what once was, and what was lost.

and many people understand it – in and out of government. RFK, Jr in his first campaign speech told a story of how they cleaned up the Hudson River – many angry fishermen without fish and livelihoods at a public meeting began to offer solutions of violence, and terrorism – to give the corporate polluters a taste of their own medicine. Things They Didn't Teach You in Church: The Economy 2023

By; Jim Brouillette

I have a new book coming soon, The Four Hidden Dynasties of the Bible, it should be out in time for Christmas. These Four Hidden Dynasties that the book exposes control everything we see happening in the world today. These Hidden Dynasties are Education, Politics, the Economy, and Religion. Perhaps the most frightening thing happening in the world today concerns our economy.

The people that now control the Third Hidden Dynasty of the Economy have a goal in mind for all of humanity and it involves keeping them poor and under control. These people will happily support the Antichrist, when he arrives, if it means it will keep the status quo. They will dictate when we can buy and sell our goods and services, and through regulations imposed upon us by the Political Dynasty they will control the world economy. It is made clear in the Book of Amos that God is going to put holes in the pockets of his unbelieving children. The financial powers of the world will support Satan's total takeover, so don't expect what is to come to be fair.

The federal report, The Nation's Fiscal Health 2023, from the U.S. Government Accountability Office is available online in PDF format, here are some highlights.

"The Federal government faces an unsustainable long-term fiscal future; the balance of the current revenue and program spending policies result in debt growing faster than the economy. This is unsustainable over the long-term." Then this federal report continues.

"The fiscal year 2022 Federal deficit was among the highest in American history...high and rising Federal debt as a share of the economy increases the risk of a fiscal crisis." In other words, our economy could totally collapse! The report continues.

"...debt held by the public as a share of GDP (Gross Domestic Product) grew during the economic expansion of June 2009 to February 2020. It did not grow during the economic expansion from March 1991 to March 2001." The report continues.

"Projections...show that debt held by the public would reach its historical high of 106 percent of GDP by 2029 and continue to grow at an increasing pace...to more than 219% of GDP – more than twice the size of the economy – by 2051." There is more evidence of trouble coming in the annual reports of Social Security and Medicare Boards of Trustees, they state concerning Medicare: "The Hospital Insurance (HI) Trust Fund will be able to pay 100 percent of total scheduled benefits until 2031... At that point, the fund's reserves will become depleted..." Then concerning the bulk of Social Security, the report states; "The Old-Age and Survivors Insurance (OASI) Trust Fund will be able to pay 100 percent of the total scheduled benefits until 2033..." That is only 10 years until Medicare and Social Security will be totally depleted!

These reports came out of the Executive Branch on March 31, 2023, and were sent to all in leadership of Congress, and yet we are seeing the Executive Branch, the Biden administration, push spending in ways and magnitude we as a country have never seen before in history. Our political fiscal system in this country is broken. Instead of sending billions to Ukraine, why aren't we shoring up Medicare and Social Security?

It is easy to see what is happening around the world already, just look at what has happened in Spain and Venezuela over the past few years.

During the financial crisis of 2007 & 2008 until now Spain's currency has been devalued over 50%, so if you had one thousand dollars in Spanish currency it would now be worth less than five hundred dollars. Venezuela is even worse; your one thousand dollars would be worth zero.

What is going on in this country today sounds very much like what is described in the Book of Amos chapter 8; shutdowns of this, shutdowns of that, driving small businesses out of business, you must have permission from the government to operate your business, and on and on. According to the Book of Amos, the means by which the fairness of finances and the economy are administered will be turned upside down. Amos Chapter 8:

4 Hear this, O ye that swallow up the needy, even to make the poor of the land to fail,
What the elite globalists who use the poor to enrich themselves are doing is being done on purpose.
5 Saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit?

Justice by deceit. Does that sound familiar? When this was written, the ephah was worth much more than the shekel. What percent of interest are you paying on your credit cards today? What interest rate is the bank paying you for using your money in your savings account? God's Word is perfect, He tells us all things.

Let's continue in the Book of Amos chapter 8.

6 That we may buy the poor for silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes; yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat?

The evil forces of this world want to own us, by controlling the money we use, the everyday goods we need, and the food we eat. It is time to get prepared because the "fix" is in. Several respectable financial analysts are predicting an event in July or August 2023 that will put us into a tailspin. There is one event scheduled to happen in August that may mean the end of the dollar being the reserve currency for the world. It involves the rollout of a major new currency by a group called the BRICS.

What is being called the BRICS nations consist of Brazil, Russia, India, China, and South Africa. This alternative to the G7 is setting itself up as an alternative to existing international financial and political forums.

Medical Error is Third Leading Cause of Death in America

Transcription of Mikki Willis in Plandemic 2: Indoctrination PlandemicSeries.com

Around the same time that John D Rockefeller seized US media, he also hijacked US medicine. When it was discovered that drugs could be produced from petroleum, America's top oil mogul ordered his army of propagandists to invert reality accordingly. Medicines used for 1000s of years were suddenly classified as "alternative," while the new petroleum based, highly addictive and patentable drugs were declared the "gold standard."

After buying the German pharmaceutical company that manufactured chemicals of war for Adolf Hitler, Rockefeller leveraged his political influence by pressing Congress to declare natural healing modalities, "unscientific quackery."

Rockefeller then took control of the American Medical Association and began offering massive grants to top medical schools under the mandate that only his approved curriculum be taught. Any mention of the healing powers of herbs, plants and diet was erased from most medical textbooks. Doctors and professors who objected to Rockefeller's plan were crucified by the media, removed from the AMA and stripped of their license to teach and practice medicine. Those who dared to speak out, were arrested and jailed.

When evidence began to emerge that petroleum based medicines were causing cancer, Mr. Rockefeller founded the American Cancer Society through which he suppressed that information.

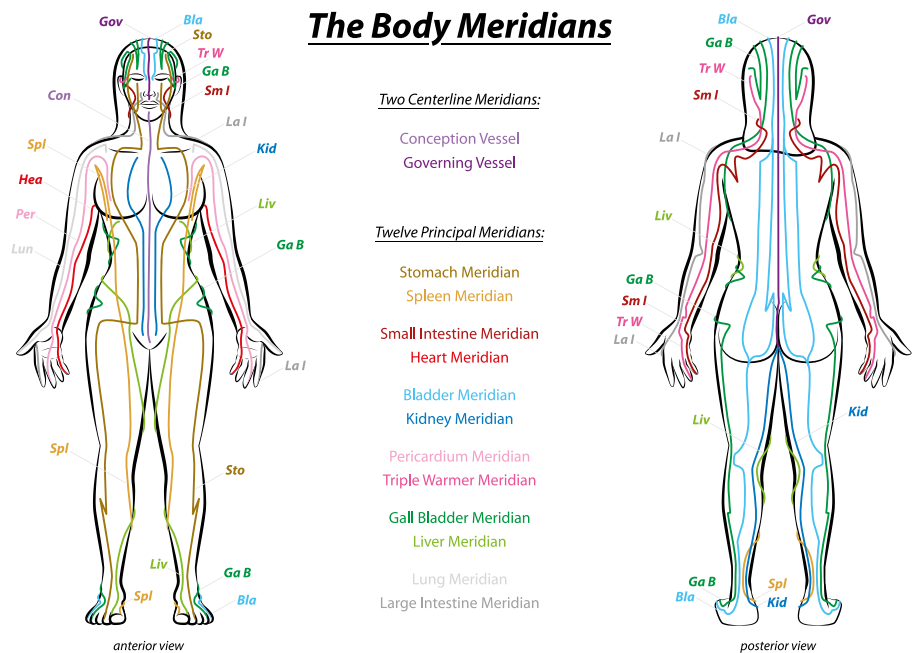

John D. Rockefeller is duly credited as the founder of the pharmaceutical industry. And the reason that medical error is currently the third leading cause of death in America.

This is not an indictment against doctors, more than anyone they are under the stranglehold of the single largest lobbying power in Washington. Every year, the pharmaceutical industry spends at least twice the amount as big oil to influence laws, policies and public perception. Thanks to Mr. Rockefeller, the architect of American monopolies, no industry has more power over our lives than big pharma.

U.S. Declaration of Independence
the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only. He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislatures. He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:

For Quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offences
For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighbouring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:
For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands. He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have We been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

U.S. Declaration of Independence

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

Dr. Douglas G. Frank, PhD

'That Ain't Natural, Buddy' - The subject of Mike Lindell's documentaries, 'Absolute Proof' and 'Absolute Interference'. Dr. Frank will show how algorithms are used within state-run, centralized systems to attain pre-determined election results and how citizens can bring change in returning elections to local control.

Mike Lindell, CEO, "My Pillow"

Executive Producer, 'Absolute Proof', 'Absolutely 9-0', 'Absolute Interference', and '[S]election Code'. Mike will make a special appearance via LIVESTREAM.

Tina Peters

As the former Mesa County, Colorado, County Clerk and Recorder, Tina has been covered in national/international news when she, as a state elected official, revealed evidence of voter fraud. Tina is the subject of the Mike Lindell documentary '[S]election Code'. She will share how corrupt politicians and media have set about to destroy her.

Toni Shuppe, CEO 'Audit The Vote PA'

Toni will share her experience as one who went from 'Mom to Patriot' and will share how to become an empowered citizen in the fight against election fraud.

Ruth Weiss, VP, "EIPCA Inc."

'How Did We Get Here? The Golden State Agenda'
Chronological history how California became the model for election corruption. Also, updates on EIPCA's Federal lawsuit and how citizens can get involved.

Jon Matthews, CEO, G3

'A Republic: If You Can Keep It' - Why our election system is the cornerstone of American exceptionalism, particularly the necessity of preserving the Electoral College.

Netty Chow, Founder G3

Known for her bubbly personality and ability to connect and inspire people to "show up" and become pro-active, God, Guns, Government (G3) is her vision in the fight to restore government into the hands of we the people.

Urson Russell, President "Patriot Force CA"

Urson works on educating citizens on how elections run and their civic duty required to preserve our Republic form of government. He will explain voter canvassing and how to get involved in documenting voter fraud in your community.

Mike Netter, Master of Ceremonies

Mike is an established, recognized activist that has managed candidate campaigns and is most known for his involvement of the "Recall Newsom" campaign in 2021.
