Donald Trump: The Good, the Bad & the Ugly

by: Larry C Johnson
substack.com/@larrycjohnson

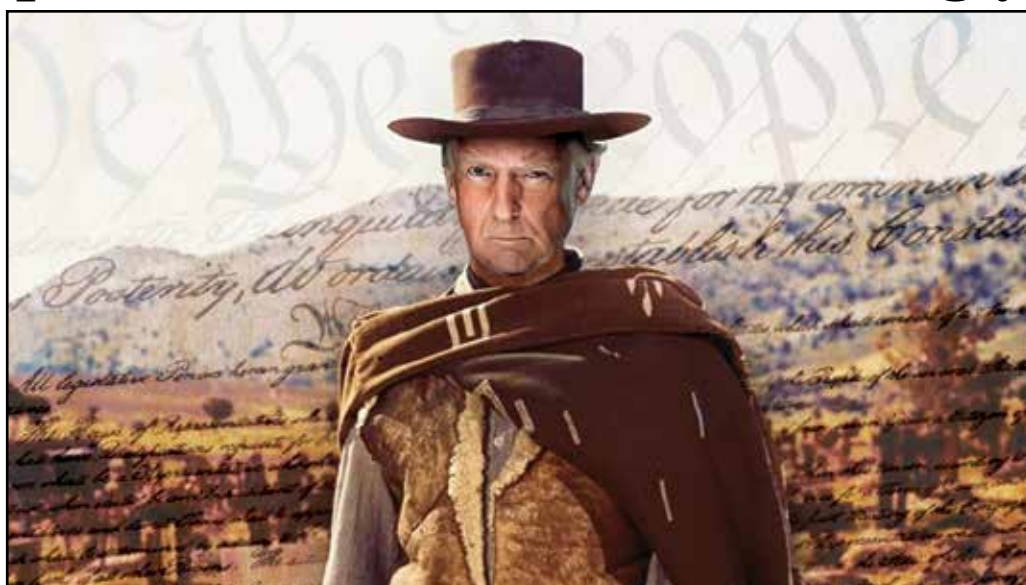

Watching Donald Trump's first 24-hours as President made me think of Sergio Leone's spaghetti western classic, The Good, the Bad and the Ugly. Let's start with the good. In sharp contrast to the shambles of his 2017 inauguration, Donald Trump demonstrated he had learned some hard lessons from his first four-year term. He has assembled a cabinet of loyalists who are unlikely to sabotage his agenda. He has a slate of second-and-third-tier officials selected and ready to get to work.

He is culling Biden loyalists from the bureaucracy, including the National Security Council. And he wasted no time cancelling the security clearances of the 51 former intelligence officials who played a key role in pushing the lie that the Hunter Biden laptop was a piece of Russian disinformation on the eve of the 2020 election. He also banned (correctly in my view) John Bolton's access to classified information.

Trump also did not delay in reaching out to China's leader, Xi Jinping, and getting a dialogue started. Trump plays a bombastic role in public — it is part of his showmanship schtick — but is the congenial Donald when talking to someone like Xi. That's good. He also has let Vladimir Putin know he wants to talk.

Trump's team also entered office with a bevy of Executive Orders. Here is the list of presidential actions Trump signed on Monday following his inauguration:

- ∞ Unleashing Alaska's Extraordinary Resource Potential
- ∞ Withdrawing the United States

- From The World Health Organization
- ∞ Application of Protecting Americans From Foreign Adversary Controlled Applications Act to TikTok
- ∞ Granting Pardons and Commutation of Sentences for Certain Offenses Relating to the Events at or Near the United States Capitol on January 6, 2021
- ∞ Putting America First In International Environmental Agreements
- ∞ Delivering Emergency Price Relief for American Families and Defeating the Cost-of-Living Crisis
- ∞ Hiring Freeze
- ∞ Regulatory Freeze (Pending Review)
- ∞ Return to In-Person Work
- ∞ Ending the Weaponization of the Federal Government
- ∞ Restoring Freedom of Speech and Ending Federal Censorship
- ∞ Securing Our Borders
- ∞ Protecting the Meaning and Value of American Citizenship
- ∞ Realigning the United States Refugee Admissions Program
- ∞ Unleashing American Energy
- ∞ Clarifying the Military's Role in Protecting the Territorial Integrity of the United States
- ∞ "America First" Trade Policy
- ∞ Memorandum to Resolve the Backlog of Security Clearances for Executive Office of the President Personnel
- ∞ Declaring a National Emergency at the Southern Border of the United States
- ∞ Holding Former Government Officials Accountable for Election Interference and Improper Disclosure of Sensitive Governmental Information
- ∞ Restoring Accountability to Policy-Influencing Positions Within the Federal Workforce
- ∞ Protecting the American People Against Invasion
- ∞ The Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Global Tax Deal (Global Tax Deal)
- ∞ Organization of the National Security Council and Subcommittees
- ∞ Reevaluating and Realigning United States Foreign Aid
- ∞ Temporary Withdrawal of All Areas on the Outer Continental Shelf from Offshore Wind Leasing and Review of the Federal Government's Leasing and Permitting Practices for Wind Projects
- ∞ Declaring a National Energy Emergency

Letter from the Editor

by: Leesa Bolden, LAC
TFPP Editor in Chief

I think most will agree that this is the best beginning to a new Presidency that we have ever experienced. There is a wonderful feeling of calm in the air. The lefties are brainwashed to believe that they need to be afraid, perhaps this is because if the shoe were on the other foot, we would actually need to be afraid of them. Lefties always project what they would do in a given circumstance. They are completely mistaken in this unfounded fear but I digress.

We should all be cheering from the rooftops. We have a President that has embraced the FAFO attitude and surrounded himself with a team hell bent on making America GREAT again!

Making America HEALTHY again! Making America SAFE again! Making America PROSPEROUS again! Making the World PEACEFUL again! As of this writing RFK Jr. and Tulsi Gabbard have been approved and I believe all of Trump's picks will be confirmed. Finally, we can begin to unravel and expose the evil that has plagued this Country and the World for long before you and I were even thought of.

I am a little worried about the AI Stargate and the nut job that wants to make mRNA Cancer Vaccines for everyone. Look at what a great success the COVID jab was, it has caused WAY more harm than good so let's not fall for that one, ok? I am WAY more nervous about the Chinese DeepSeek AI program. I pray that Stargate is the way we stop Cyber Satan. We cannot let up on keeping AI and Big Brother out of our lives.

We can NOT let up on Making America Healthy Again. That starts with stopping the addition of poison to our food and water supply but needs to be extended to our skies. The Chemtrails are out of freaking control lately. This MUST end if we are ever to be fully healthy as a society. If you think I am a conspiracy nut case... you have not been paying attention. All the Conspiracy Theories are coming true so I am keeping my tin foil hat on! Stay excited about the great things happening and stay vigilant with what we want to see happen.

I keep getting a few requests for more local news coverage about the Quartzsite PD. It seems that not much of the great work they are doing is being seen by the public eye. They are doing a better job than you may be aware of given the lack of resources. It seems our Town Manager is directing the Chief to allocate funds differently than I would think would benefit the department and the people. If this is something that you want to see in the paper, perhaps you could help us collect the info. Marilyn Kennedy is back in town and she will be reporting some Shenanigans very soon. We all love some good reporting on Shenanigans!

I hope you enjoy this edition of The Patriots Free Press. God Bless YOU, America and the World!

We have a free section of bonus articles that includes a ton more news you might have missed.

- ∞ America First Policy Directive to the Secretary of State
- ∞ Protecting the United States From Foreign Terrorists and Other National Security and Public Safety Threats

As you peruse the list, you will find a mix of good, bad and ugly - depending on your point of view.

Then there is the bad and the ugly. Trump's threat to take back the Panama Canal (while being a healthy serving of red meat for the MAGA crowd) was not well-received globally, especially in Central and South America. Some dramatic inside-the-Beltway action regarding Ukraine (I'll let you debate whether this qualifies as good, bad or ugly): The Pentagon has reportedly fired or suspended all personnel directly responsible for managing military assistance to Ukraine, signaling what propagandists close to the Ukrainian Armed Forces are calling a "complete reboot" of U.S.-Ukraine relations. R. Bochkala, a media figure with ties to Kiev, described the overhaul as "alarming" in comments following a meeting with Washington Post journalists. The move is being framed as part of a broader shakeup in Washington under President-elect Donald Trump, with a "new format" of relations with Ukraine on the horizon.

Laura Cooper, the Pentagon's Deputy Assistant Secretary for Russia, Ukraine, and Eurasia, has already resigned, marking the beginning of what some see as a strategic pivot. Cooper was a key figure in overseeing $126 billion in military aid to Ukraine. Her departure, coupled with what appears to be a housecleaning of Pentagon staff tied to Kiev's war effort, casts doubt on whether Ukraine will continue to enjoy the open spigot of U.S. weapons and funding it received under Biden.

The restructuring also casts a shadow over the Ukraine Defense Contact Group, which under Lloyd Austin had expanded into a 50-nation coalition supporting Kiev. But with Austin on the way out and Trump signaling skepticism about the war in Ukraine, the future of this NATO-centric initiative looks uncertain at best.

Vladimir Putin and Xi Jinping held a video conference call a few hours after Trump's impromptu news conference in the Oval Office. Both governments provided a read-out of the call.

In a conversation with Xi, Putin confirmed his readiness to

How the McKinley Tariff Almost Destroyed the Republican Party

by: Thomas J. DiLorenzo
<https://mises.org> 01/01/2025

President Trump's first major speech on economic policy in 2017 was delivered in Lexington, Kentucky near the home of Henry Clay, the early nineteenth century leader of the Whig party and the epitome of a political tool of the moneyed plutocracy of the day. Clay championed Alexander Hamilton's "American System" of high protectionist tariff taxes that would plunder American consumers for the benefit of politically-connected businesses; corporate welfare for road- and canal-building and railroad corporations; and a national bank controlled by politicians who would use the bank to corrupt politics and solidify its supporters' political power.

It was really the rotten, corrupt, British mercantilist system of the eighteenth century against which the American Revolution was fought to secede from. As Edgar Lee Masters once wrote, Clay's Whig party had no platform for it was "political plunder and nothing else." If your platform is indeed political plunder it is a good idea to keep quiet about it and don't broadcast it. Proclaim to be selflessly serving all of humanity instead. To Hamilton and Clay such a system is not so bad if one is on the money-collecting end of the plunderers rather than the plundered, as the American colonists were.

Lo and behold, President Trump has discovered a new political hero to idolize: President (1897-1901) William McKinley of Ohio whose election was orchestrated by the wealthiest man in Ohio (and the U.S.), John D. Rockefeller, who ran the Standard Oil Company out of his Cleveland home.

McKinley is President Trump's new hero because he was known in the U.S. Congress before being elected president as the most rabid Republican party protectionist in a party that was founded on the principle of protectionism (and of corporate welfare and a national bank) in the mid 1850s.

The 1890 McKinley tariff was named after Representative William McKinley because of his notoriety as a tool of the Northern manufacturing plutocracy. It created the highest average tariff rate in U.S. history up to that point and targeted such items as wool and tin with especially high tariff taxes, some exceeding 100 percent. It caused such a spike in the prices of such items that in the next election the Republican party was wiped out, losing both houses of Congress and the White House, with the Democrat party having a 2-1 advantage in the House. McKinley himself was defeated and was installed by his Rockefeller handlers as the governor of Ohio.

The Rockefeller cabal got McKinley elected president in 1896. One of his first "accomplishments" in 1897 was the political disaster of signing the Dingley Tariff Tax which created another highest average tariff rate in history.

McKinley was also a notorious imperialist, waging an imperialistic war against Spain (the Spanish-American War) during which the U.S. government conquered Cuba, Puerto Rico, and the Philippines, leading the great William Graham Sumner to author his famous article, "The Conquest of the United States by Spain." The Spanish-American War, Sumner wrote, turned the U.S. into an imperialist power, just like the thoroughly corrupt and bankrupted Spanish empire. (All empires, by the way, view their populations as good for two things: as taxpayers and cannon fodder in the empire's wars). As General Smedley Butler wrote, "war is a racket," and this war was fought for the benefit of various American politically-connected corporate racketeers.

This was all achieved under the stewardship of President-elect Trump's new heartthrob, William McKinley. Just recently the president-elect pledged to change the name of Mount Denali in Alaska back to Mount McKinley in honor of the hyper protectionist and imperialist who is his role model of the day. The majority of Alaskans are reportedly against this, preferring a native American Indian name for the tallest mountain in America to a crooked Rockefeller-connected Ohio political hack. McKinley was assassinated in 1901 and was succeeded by his mentally disturbed vice president, Theodore Roosevelt.

Trump Exits WHO & Paris Climate Agreement. Time to Leave the U.N.

by Paul Dragu 01/22/2025
TheNewAmerican.com

President Donald Trump has once again pulled the United States out of the UN World Health Organization (WHO) and the Paris climate agreement. This time, Joe Biden is nowhere around to ruin everything.

Included in Trump's avalanche of Day 1 executive orders are two that serve as minor yet welcome sticks in the spokes of the wheels of encroaching globalism. These two EOs will drive a small wedge between the United States and international organizations that work to usurp the sovereignty of nations and steal individual liberties from Americans.

Out of WHO

On Day One of his second presidential tenure, Trump ordered U.S. withdrawal from the WHO and halted any further financial support to the organization. He cited the organization's mishandling of the Covid-19 virus response and its "inability to demonstrate independence from the inappropriate political influence of WHO member states" as justifications.

The WHO is crawling with globalists, marxists, fascists, outright communists, and a handful of well-intended yet misled believers in rule by experts. It panders to the Chinese Communist Party, which is no surprise given that its director general, Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, was a leader in Ethiopia's communist Tigray People's Liberation Front (TPLF). More alarming is that "Dr. Tedros," as he's often referred to, has no medical degree, yet has managed to assume the highest position in a supranational organization that dictates medically relevant measures to entire nations of people.

Covid/Pandemic Response

During Covid, the WHO recommended implementation of the Chinese model for dealing with the pandemic. Pressure from the WHO prompted European leaders to lock citizens in their homes, force them to wear worthless face masks with no capability of blocking viruses, and, in some cases, require "vaccine" passports of anyone who wanted to live like it was 2019. The WHO never acknowledged the potential harm of the mRNA Covid injections, which studies continue to find are neither effective nor safe.

As far as money goes, Trump's EO noted, the WHO takes "unfairly onerous payments from the United States, far out of proportion with other countries' assessed payments."

Trump pointed to the sweet deal China gets while America gets the shaft. "China, with a population of 1.4 billion, has 300 percent of the population of the United States, yet contributes nearly 90 percent less to the WHO," the EO says.

The EO also keeps the WHO's pandemic treaty, whatever final form it will take, from affecting Americans. It directs the secretary of state to "cease negotiations on the WHO Pandemic Agreement and the amendments to the International Health Regulations." The treaty received a lot of attention in alternative media last year for its potential to usurp U.S. liberties for medically dubious reasons. Now there's one less issue to worry about.

On Tuesday, the WHO responded to the news. The United States was a founding member of WHO in 1948, and the two have achieved great things ever since, it lamented. "WHO and the USA have saved countless lives and protected Trump: The Good, Bad & Ugly negotiate with the United States on the Ukrainian settlement.

...Russia is ready for dialogue with the United States if Trump's team shows reciprocal interest.

...Putin and Xi discussed relations between Russia and China with the United States, taking into account the coming to power of Donald Trump.

...Xi informed Putin about the details of his conversation with Trump; The conversation was not timed to coincide with Trump's inauguration; an agreement on contact was reached back in December.

...The conversation between Putin and Xi lasted 1 hour and 35 minutes and took place in a friendly atmosphere.

I think both countries are sending a message to Trump — i.e., the alliance between China and Russia is not ephemeral. They are united in a common cause to work jointly to assert their respective national interests. They are willing to talk to Trump and engage in serious negotiations. But they are not going to be bullied or threatened.

Trump made one remark about China that shows he does not understand how the world has changed since his last term as President. He complained that China is shutting-the-door on the US auto industry. During the last four years, China has made dramatic strides forward in developing its own auto industry — an industry that is creating some real headaches for US car manufacturers. Chinese consumers are buying Chinese instead of American. I also saw similar results on the streets of Moscow and St. Petersburg during my trips to Russia in 2024: Chinese automobiles are displacing European and American brands. US sanctions only exacerbate the situation and make the Chinese produced cars more attractive.

Top Treasury Official Announces Resignation — Comes at the Same Time Elon Musk and DOGE Team Discover Treasury Is Funding Terrorist Groups

by: Jim Hoft 02/01/2025
TheGatewayPundit.com

David Lebyrk, the top-ranking career U.S. Treasury Department official, will leave his post where he has been a top official for years. Elon Musk and the DOGE team are currently examining the treasury payments, even to known fraudulent or terrorist groups. They literally never denied a payment in their entire career. Not even once,” Musk wrote.

Rep. Marjorie Taylor Greene weighed in on this bombshell revelation. “What is the point in even having payment officers at the Treasury if they were directed to literally pay anyone and everyone no matter what?! Even terrorists! The outright rot that is being uncovered and ripped out of our government right now is shocking. Thank God!”

The Washington Post reported on Friday: “The highest-ranking career official at the Treasury Department left the agency after a clash with allies of billionaire Elon Musk over access to sensitive payment systems, according to three people with knowledge of the matter, who spoke on the condition of anonymity to describe private talks.

David A. Lebyrk, who served in nonpolitical roles at the Treasury for several decades, announced his retirement Friday in an email to colleagues that was obtained by The Washington Post. President Donald Trump named Lebyrk acting secretary upon taking office last week. Lebyrk had a dispute with Musk’s surrogates over access to the payment system the U.S. government uses to disburse trillions of dollars every year, the people said. The exact nature of the disagreement was not immediately clear, they said.

Officials affiliated with Musk’s “Department of Government Efficiency” have been asking since after the election for access to the system, the people said — requests that were reiterated more recently, including after Trump’s inauguration. Tom Krause, a Silicon Valley executive who has now been detailed to the Treasury, is among those involved, the people said. Krause did not respond to requests for comment.”

This comes after Scott Bessent was sworn in to serve as Trump’s Treasury secretary.

Meanwhile, Musk aides have locked career staff out of computer systems at the US government personnel agency.

AI Cyber Satan and Technocracy Conversation with Illuminati Insider Leo Lyon Zagami

Ana Maria Mihalcea MD, PHD
anamihalceamdphd.substack.com 01/28/2025

In Episode 46 of the “Truth, Science, and Spirit” series, Dr. Ana Maria Mihalcea engages in a comprehensive discussion with Leo Lyon Zagami, delving into the intricate and pressing issues surrounding mind control, the Internet of Things (IoT), and artificial intelligence (AI) as they pertain to human autonomy and freedom.

Leo Lyon Zagami is an Italian author, researcher, and former high-ranking Freemason who has become a well-known whistleblower exposing what he claims are secret societies, Illuminati control structures, and globalist agendas. Born into a lineage connected to European aristocracy and Vatican-affiliated groups, Zagami was once deeply involved in elite circles before publicly breaking away to reveal insider knowledge about their workings.

His work often explores the intersection of occultism, geopolitics, and technological control mechanisms, warning against the increasing encroachment of artificial intelligence (AI), transhumanism, and digital surveillance on human freedom. Through his books, lectures, and media appearances, he has become a vocal critic of globalist organizations, including the Club of Rome, the United Nations, and the World Economic Forum, arguing that they seek to centralize power under a technocratic elite.

Zagami draws from his insider experience to explain how AI and IoT are being used as modern tools of control, turning humans into “hacked animals” and advancing a dystopian future where digital governance supersedes personal autonomy. His insights highlight the necessity of resisting these forces through analog alternatives, national sovereignty, and a rejection of global consolidation efforts such as those outlined in the Club of Rome’s 1973 map.

Mind Control and the IoT: The Reality of Hacked Humanity

The conversation begins with an exploration of how modern technology, particularly the IoT, has facilitated unprecedented levels of surveillance and control over individuals. Zagami emphasizes that the integration of everyday devices into the IoT ecosystem has created a network capable of monitoring and influencing human behavior. This interconnectedness has led to a scenario where humans can be considered “hacked animals,” with their actions and decisions increasingly manipulated by external technological forces.

Dr. Mihalcea and Zagami discuss the mechanisms through which AI systems analyze vast amounts of data collected from IoT devices. These systems can predict and potentially direct human behavior, raising ethical concerns about autonomy and free will. The discussion highlights the subtle ways in which AI can influence decision-making processes, often without individuals’ conscious awareness, leading to a form of modern mind control.

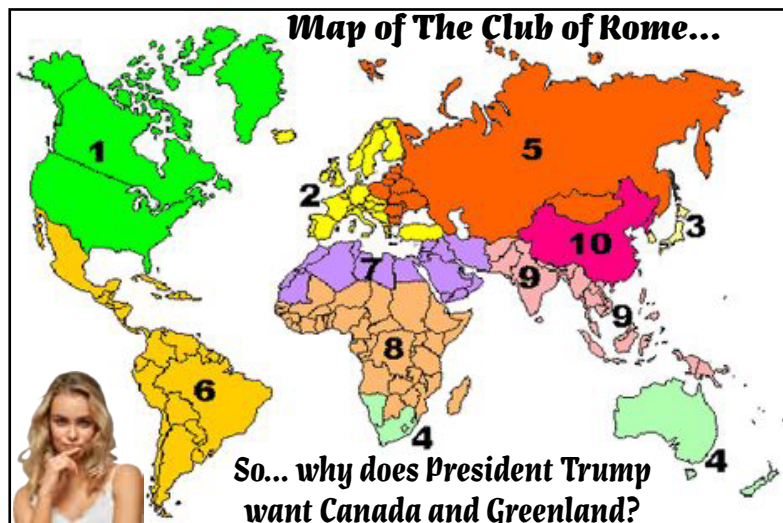

The Gates of Hell: A Warning Against Unchecked AI Advancement

The dialogue then shifts to a critical examination of key figures in the tech industry, notably Bill Gates and Sam Altman. Zagami refers to the rapid advancement of AI technologies under their influence as the opening of the “Gates of Hell,” suggesting that the pursuit of AI supremacy without adequate ethical considerations could lead to dystopian outcomes.

The discussion critiques the notion of surrendering human control to AI systems, arguing that such a path could result in the erosion of individual freedoms and the emergence of authoritarian structures. Dr. Mihalcea and Zagami stress the necessity of establishing ethical frameworks and regulatory measures to ensure that AI development serves humanity’s best interests rather than leading to its subjugation.

The Club of Rome’s 1973 Map: A Caution Against Global Consolidation

The discussion also touches upon the 1973 map by the Club of Rome, which proposed dividing the world into ten economic regions, including a consolidation of Canada, the United States, and Greenland into a single entity. Zagami interprets this as a move towards a new world order, potentially subjecting nations to centralized, possibly authoritarian, control.

Dr. Mihalcea and Zagami express concerns that such regional consolidations could erode national sovereignty and make countries more susceptible to the influence of global elites, often referred to as the Illuminati. They argue that maintaining national boundaries and sovereignty is crucial for preserving cultural identities and political autonomy.

Advocating for Analog Systems: A Call to Resist Digital Vulnerabilities

In response to the vulnerabilities associated with digital systems, the conversation advocates for a return to analog technologies in certain aspects of life. Analog systems, being less susceptible to hacking and digital manipulation, offer a more secure alternative for maintaining personal autonomy and privacy.

Dr. Mihalcea and Zagami discuss practical steps individuals and societies can take to reduce dependence on digital systems, such as using analog communication methods and mechanical devices. They argue that such measures can serve as a form of resistance against the pervasive reach of AI and IoT technologies, helping to preserve human agency in an increasingly digital world.

A Message to Leadership: Advocating for National Sovereignty

In conclusion, the conversation underscores the importance of communicating these concerns to political leaders, specifically mentioning President Donald Trump. Dr. Mihalcea and Zagami urge citizens to advocate for policies that prioritize national sovereignty and resist globalist agendas that may lead to loss of autonomy.

They call for a collective awakening to the potential dangers of unchecked technological advancement and global consolidation, emphasizing the need for informed and active participation in political processes to safeguard individual freedoms and national interests.

DeepSeek Panic Unfolds as I Predicted China Will Be the Main Helper in the Rise of Cyber Satan!

by: Leo Zagami 01/27/2025
LeoZagami.com

U.S. equity futures and global markets are tumbling today after weekend fears that China's latest AI platform, DeepSeek's R1 released on January 20, 2025, on the day of the U.S. presidential inauguration, is now leading to a collapse in CapEx spending plans, the financial strategy that helps businesses around the world decide how to allocate funds to buy or improve long-term assets. This growing panic has culminated in a wholesale rout of tech names around the world which has since transformed into a full-blown DeepSink rout expert, sending S&P futures down as much as 3% and Nasdaq futures down 5%, before a modest bounce.

As of 8:00 am EST today, S&P futures were down 2.3%, and Nasdaq futures tumbled 3.9%, on futures volume that was about four times the 30-day average, as the DeepSeek story forces investors to suddenly question the market position of all MegaCap Tech names and the entire AI supply chain, and the validity of the latest $500 billion AI infrastructure project (Stargate) launched a little less than a week ago. This is after China released its DeepSeek R1, which outperforms its rivals in advanced coding, math, and general knowledge capabilities, as I explained on Saturday on The Leo Zagami Show, where I also detailed the history of the rise of Chinese Artificial Intelligence since 1979 and exposed DeepSeek, a mysterious Chinese artificial intelligence company based in Hangzhou, Zhejiang, "officially" developed by four kids out of a Communist university in China that started to emerge in 2015.

The official version of the story released by sources close to the Chinese Communist Party tells us that in February 2016 High-Flyer was co-founded by a young AI enthusiast Liang Wenfeng, and three other friends at Zhejiang University, trading since the 2007-2008 financial crisis while still attending the university in question affiliated with the Chinese Ministry of Education. By 2019, they established High-Flyer as a hedge fund focused on developing and using AI trading algorithms. 52 members of Zhejiang University faculty are members of the powerful Chinese Academy of Sciences and the Chinese Academy of Engineering, the national academy of the People's Republic of China for engineering.

By 2021, High-Flyer exclusively used AI in trading but suddenly things changed in April 2023 when High-Flyer started an artificial general intelligence lab dedicated to research developing AI tools separate from High-Flyer's financial business that became its own company in May 2023 called DeepSeek that could well be a creation of the "Quantum Prince of Darkness" rather than four geeks. We don't know what kind of hardware they are using to develop their products and they didn't require the advanced microchip technology that Joe Biden's corrupt administration tried to control at the last minute with their export ban on critical technologies, including quantum computing and semiconductor goods, as China makes advances in the global chips industry anyway. For this and other reasons "Sleepy Joe" was given a Master Mason membership the day before leaving the White House by the Jesuit-controlled Free and Accepted Masons of the State of South Carolina.

Remember, dates and numbers are relevant for the Jesuits and the Chinese Illuminati, that's why they released on Christmas 2024 DeepSeek-V3, a new open-source AI language model with 671 billion parameters trained in around 55 days at a cost of only US$5.58 million! Now should we trust what has been described by American businessman and former software engineer and Democrat Marc Andreessen as a "profound gift to the world"?

Of course not!!! The future of humanity is being decided as I write this, and it is not going to be on a battlefield in Eastern Europe, the Middle East, or the Taiwan Strait, but in the data centers and research facilities around the world as technology experts create the physical and virtual infrastructure to power the next generation of AI that could bring us, if kept in Chinese hands, to the establishment of Cyber Satan's "Digital Prison" by 2030.

As Michael Whitney, a brilliant geopolitical and social analyst based in Washington State explained on his blog last week, "In a matter of days, the news of China's AI sensation, DeepSeek R1, has gone from a gentle breeze to a Force 5 hurricane." Soon after, CNBC published a YouTube video entitled How China's New AI Model DeepSeek Is Threatening U.S. Dominance.

What I have coined in my Confessions, Volume 6.66, Volume 7, and Volume 9 as Cyber Satan, whose ultimate development will be the "Quantum Prince of Darkness," is going to fully manifest in 2030 aided by China and their loyal Jesuits and as I wrote in Confessions of an Illuminati Volume 9: Seven Steps to The Secrets of the New World Disorder from Transhumanism and Immortality to Gnostic Jesus, UFOs, and Insect Witchcraft: "we will not be able to stop their evil plan, headed by the Quantum Prince of Darkness, but we might be able to survive if we prepare accordingly to what the Jesuits and their Sabbatean minions are planning for us." As Elon Musk said at the MIT Aeronautics and Astronautics Department's 2014 Centennial Symposium "With artificial intelligence, we are summoning the demon."

That's why DeepSeek was set up as the side project of a quant firm "officially" founded by an electrical engineering student who they tell us went all in on AI in 2016/17 after being in the Quant industry for nearly two decades. Quantitative analysts are professionals who understand the complex mathematical models that price financial securities and can enhance them to generate profits and reduce risk. The DeepSeek project is a much more sinister project that will benefit not only financial institutions, and much wider implications in the world of Artificial Intelligence. DeepSeek backed by the Chinese Communist Party has been created to make both the American AI projects unprofitable, including The Stargate Project, the recently announced AI infrastructure for OpenAI in the United States, and at the same time create something that will lead to the inevitable dependence on China's Artificial Intelligence Aka Cyber Satan.

"Imagine the panic that is spreading across western tech capitals right now," wrote Michael Whitney, who added "AI is supposed to be the fast-track to absolute societal control and oligarchic rule into the next millennia, but now those pesky Chinese have overturned the applecart leaving western elites with a problem they might not be able to fix." Well, the globalist elites who recently met in Davos might not be too upset about their

Three Key Takeaways from the RFK Confirmation Hearing

Capt. Seth Keshel 01/30/2025
skeshel.substack.com

Even though the outcomes are predictable, with party line votes minus a few compromised Republican defections, the confirmation hearings for Donald Trump's cabinet picks continue to yield valuable insight into what ails the political world and our most prominent elected officials. I profiled Pete Hegseth's confirmation process last weekend, in an article that can be read on my substack page.

Hegseth's confirmation is crucial for reshaping the Department of Defense and the decaying military culture found within, which was beginning to rear its ugly head more than a decade ago when I was making my way out of the Army. Along with Hegseth, I've tagged Tulsi Gabbard for Director of National Intelligence and Robert F. Kennedy, Jr., for Health and Human Services Secretary as Trump's most critical choices requiring 51 votes in the U.S. Senate.

Perfectionists and ideologues need to step back from the proverbial ledge. This is a vitally important pick for Trump to have made because it falls under the trust department. The two men formed a coalition in August that proved vital in getting Trump elected through the narrowly decided battleground states, and this brought in an entirely new segment to the MAGA movement that considers itself populist, but more aligned with green reforms. This pick screams that Trump can be trusted to follow through on his word. Kennedy's confirmation, if it happens, breaks the red-blue paradigm, and if he is successful in making America healthier and ridding the grocery aisles of toxins while promoting medical freedom, then generational cultural change will follow. America cannot survive the scourge of obesity and low fertility that has been brought about largely from the abuses of the big food and big pharma industries.

Furthermore, nominating a vocal critic for a key cabinet position shows a strong side of Trump's leadership and willingness to bridge divides for the common good. Kennedy is a change agent and all Americans should hope he succeeds.

Prior to last night's aviation tragedy over the skies of Washington, D.C., a seriously ridiculous confirmation hearing to determine Kennedy's fate took place in the U.S. Senate. It was filled with the standard Democrat double-speak, hypocrisy, and hysteria, and reading through the lines, of what was said over the course of several hours leads me to three main takeaways that paint the clearest picture of the disposition of the most powerful federal chamber:

I. "Conspiracy Theorists" for the Win

Since even before he announced his presidential campaign, Kennedy has been tarred, feathered, and branded as the worst sort of conspiracy theorist imaginable, which is media-speak for anyone who questions entrenched government talking points and sheds light on the grift that controls the national discourse to the detriment of American citizens. When asked directly by Thom Tillis if he qualifies as a conspiracy theorist, Kennedy replied: "That is a pejorative, senator, that's applied to me, mainly to keep me from asking difficult questions of powerful interests."

In a CBS news article: "Kennedy said he's been called a conspiracy theorist for his statements on COVID-19 transmission early on in the pandemic, for his assertions about red dye causing cancer and for saying that fluoride lowered IQ. "I could go on for a week," Kennedy said, citing the issues as examples of where public opinion has evolved over time. The FDA recently announced it had decided to revoke food coloring Red 3's authorization to be added to foods, over concerns about how the dye has been linked to cancer in laboratory animals. Last September, a court ruled against the EPA in a lawsuit about health risks due to fluoride in water."

As a recovering ideologue myself, I readily identify with Kennedy in having been branded by the biggest names in the mainstream media as a conspiracy theorist. I just happened to incorporate traditional political indicators with my estimates of possible election manipulation to formulate a perfect 312-226 Electoral College prediction, while Kennedy correctly grasps what is making the nation ill and insane.

The best way to handle folks who attempt to brand you and shut you up is to document each instance in which you are right. Consistent with a growing distrust of government, more and more Americans readily identify with Kennedy's positions and goals for the department, which is corroborated by the critical coalition Kennedy and Trump formed last summer that cemented victory.

II. Defiance of the People

The MAGA-MAHA (Make America Great Again-Make America Healthy Again) coalition is admirable at face value, and full of merit upon full examination. Had Kennedy not folded his cards in August and thrown in with Trump, it is likely he would have had the strongest third-party performance in nearly 30 years, throwing the outcome into disarray depending on exactly which states had the greatest response to his campaign.

The merging of Trump and Kennedy creates a coalition of hardcore conservatives, libertarians, suburban fiscal-issue voters, health advocates, concerned mothers, and yes, full-blown conspiracy theorists who keep the government in check. It isolates the Democrats to a party of grievance industry feminists, minorities, and warmongers, and if elections ever get fixed, the loss of their key working-class coalition will send them on their way to extinction, paving the way for an entirely new political future.

This is why, given the opportunity, establishmentarian sociopaths like Elizabeth “Liawatha” Warren interrupt these key hearings in defense of their medical industry puppet masters, big pharma, and a bureaucracy intent on doing nothing for the indefinite future so long as the grants, contracts, and kickbacks keep flowing. Despite branding herself a darling of progressives, Warren is the same politically as nearly all Senators – up for sale to the highest bidder and a guardian of the American political establishment. If she needs to back a right-wing policy, she will, and she will use the mainstream media to provide cover.

III. Ideology No Longer Matters

The conservative vs. liberal war is a construct designed to distract the people from the clear fact that government is for sale, and foreign and domestic special interests run the show. If this is not the case, explain to me why a lifelong left-wing Democrat with an environmental bent is almost certainly going to be voted down by every single Democrat when the final vote comes? I profiled Kennedy’s hardcore environmentalist positions (along with other items) in 2023 when the MAGA coalition was looking for Trump to recruit him as running mate.

If Democrats were sincere in vetting Cabinet choices, Kennedy would certainly get some of their votes, especially in states full of Kennedy Democrats, like those in the northeast. Instead, a mostly left-wing guy is being branded as a right-wing one because he was pegged by Trump and is liked by most of the coalition. For those of you concerned about his past public (and perhaps current personal) positions on abortion, I encourage you to remember this one point, and one that Kennedy himself echoed yesterday: Kennedy serves at the pleasure of the President of the United States.

I do not expect Kennedy to pursue a divisive agenda opposing Trump’s, or one that will infuriate his base at a strategically important time; if he did, then you can bet that he will find himself in the same boat as Tom Price, Trump’s first HHS Secretary; however, Americans are sicker, fatter, more depressed and more insane than they’ve ever been, and the status quo regarding the way we approach these issues clearly isn’t working out.

Conclusion

As always, read between the lines in these hearings. Most of these Senators are beholden to special interests and will perform ideological gymnastics to get into position for any vote necessary. I would expect, like the Hegseth confirmation, for the Kennedy vote to come down to the wire with Republican defectors in the ranks.

The most important thing to understand is that ideology is used as cover to protect elected officials from bad votes; sifting through the sound bites, hit pieces, and popular social media narratives is the only way to discern what the main goals are. In this case, the primary goal is to splinter the new political coalition that threatens to bring major change to America’s electoral landscape if and when it finds success in practice.

losses, after all, they have recently admitted during the World Economic Forum that President Trump and his America First movement have defeated their agenda.

Many market participants appeared astonished to learn that Von der Leyen and Scholz in Davos were steadfastly pursuing the policies that have severely damaged the EU. However, this is typical European Illuminati behavior subject to Jesuit control. That’s why in a predictable move, EU bureaucrats have chosen to exploit the new Trump administration as an external enemy, rather than seizing the opportunity to unleash the immense potential of their economies. The European Union could thrive with lower government spending, tax cuts, and eliminating bureaucracy because it has the human capital, businesses, and entrepreneurs to achieve it. However, EU leaders, as I explained in Confessions of an Illuminati Volume 7: From the Occult Roots of the Great Reset to the Populist Roots of The Great Reject, are a clear expression of Klaus Schwab’s

Fourth Reich and they do not want to reduce their hostility towards Russia, their interventionism, and their economic control objectives, leading them to bow down to China instead of cooperating with the U.S.

The Jesuits have been working behind the scenes with China for the last few centuries, as I revealed in Volume 4 of my Confessions, and are happy about taking over Europe after failing to recapture the White House with their allies in the Democratic Party. The EU has used the Paris Climate Agreement as a tool for economic and social control, causing harm to its industrial and business infrastructure further helping China and the rise of Cyber Satan as it could have happened in the United States without the victory of President Trump and the MAGA movement. Now President Donald J. Trump needs to immediately issue a National Artificial Intelligence Emergency regarding the latest Chinese AI developments and replan the $500 billion Stargate project considering what has become a National Security threat that far exceeds what we have seen with TikTok.

How To Memory Hole Biden's Legacy

The lowlights of the demoralizer in chief, who dragged the entire Democrat propaganda machine down with him into the abyss

by : Yuri Bexmenov 01/16/2025
substack.com/@yuribezmenov

Comrades: Joe Biden's legacy is a rancid shart that will be memory holed. The coverup of his senility was the crime that enabled all the other crimes. His downfall is the downfall of the entire propaganda machine.

Biden was by far the worst president of my lifetime. His legacy is uniquely meta because it is an indictment on the memory hole itself. Every time he faltered, MSM propagandists gaslighted. More Americans saw through the Pravda level gaslighting and spinning because it was so blatant. Don't believe your lying eyes! As the disasters worsened, the Streisand Effect grew. Biden showed once and for all that the emperor has no clothes. An incapacitated president was installed through a "fortified" election. His handlers pushed all-in with a 2-7 off-suit. Trump called their bluff with a legendary debate knockout blow that summed up the past four years: "I really don't know what he said at the end of that sentence. I don't think he knows what he said either."

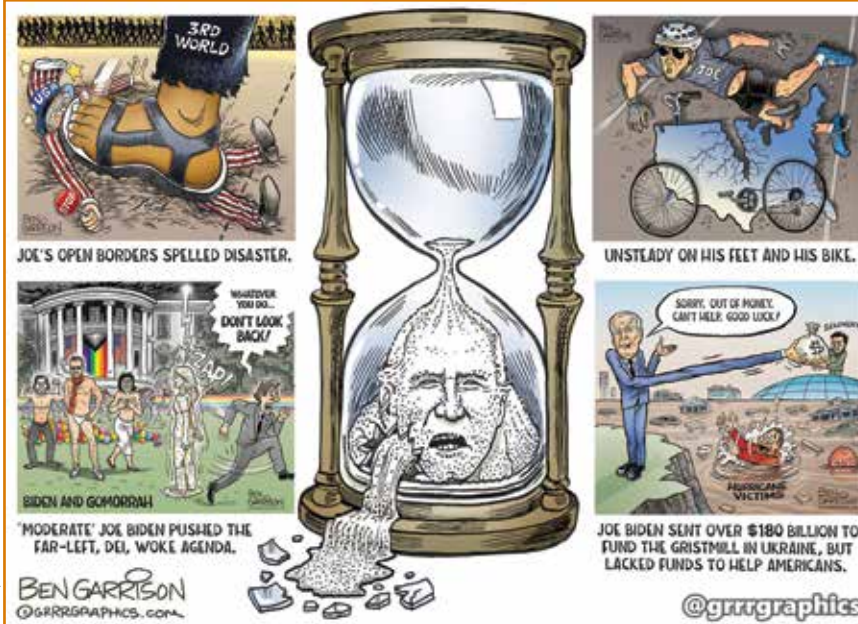

After Sleepy Joe retires to the nursing home where he should have resided for the past decade, leftist historians and commentators will memory hole his entire presidency because it implicates them in malfeasance. They sacrificed their careers and credibility for a cadaver. The more time goes by and damage uncovered, the uglier the cover-up of his senility will get. He was the final flail of an imploding regime. His stubborn pride not only led to his downfall, but it also wrecked the entire Democrat machine that he and his cronies built for 50 years. The social contract was collateral damage. Our justice system, politicians, economy, "science", and "experts" will never be trusted the same away again. It will take decades to reestablish a high trust society, if ever. We should never forget what they did to our country.

Let's send Biden off with some of his most enduring moments:

Checking watch as bodies return from Afghanistan

In August 2021, the Taliban overran Afghanistan.

Biden was asleep at the wheel during the disastrous chain of events. 13 American soldiers were killed by a suicide bomber during the desperate final days. When their bodies were repatriated, he checked his watch. The families of the fallen were despondent over his disrespect. MSM claimed the mission was a regrettable blip on a successful exit from Afghanistan, while the commander in chief refused to take responsibility for the calamity. His body count piled up with over a million killed in the wars that broke out after our enemies saw how weak he was.

10% for the big guy

Who was actually running the country? The Biden crime family had the most to gain, so they used their patriarch as an ATM puppet. Jill Biden called the shots. Hunter Biden received a pardon for his many crimes serving as a bagman while playing with guns, hookers, and crack. 10% for the big guy and his family!

Blinken stares into the abyss

Tony Blinken's forlorn face behind bumbling Biden on Air Force One summed up the regime's self imprisonment. He symbolized the cowardice of bootlickers, who could not speak out because they wanted to protect themselves. Every time Biden gaffed and glitched out, he cringed as we did. His "elite" credentials from Dalton, Harvard, and Columbia turned his spine and brain into mush. The cabinet only met 7 times during Biden's entire term. Move along, nothing to see here...

I did that!

Record inflation from Biden's reckless spending made Americans 25% poorer. DEI Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen insisted that the inflation was transitory. The cost of staples like gas, food, housing, healthcare, and education skyrocketed. We were told the Inflation Reduction Act would bring down inflation, but the useful idiots falsely claimed that rate of inflation coming down meant prices were declining. No one believed the fake job reports, which were later revised down.

Look, fat!

The Biden regime held a contempt for American citizens that was unprecedented. He barked at voters with nonsensical slurs like "Look, fat!" and "Dog faced pony soldier." American women were raped and murdered by illegals that he let in. Many Americans lost their jobs including yours truly because he demonized the unvaccinated and wished them a "winter of severe illness and death", while falsely claiming that the jabs would stop the spread. If you complained about any of this, he smeared you as a "danger to democracy". The optics of the blood red speech were genocidal. His rhetoric further divided the country. Many Americans returned the sentiment with the famous "F Joe Biden" chant that Orwellian reporters called "Let's Go Brandon."

President Teleprompter

Biden's downfall unfolded slowly, then suddenly. His handlers hid him as best they could. They prepared him with teleprompter scripts and cheat cards to take softballs from regime propagandists. They pulled a hail mary by scheduling a debate early before the conventions, only for him to deliver the worst performance of all time. Sensing blood in the water, the Democrat piranhas swarmed in. Obama, Pelosi, Schumer, and Kamala staged a coup "For Democracy". The downfall of Biden led to the downfall of Kamala and the entire regime.

Unburdened by reelection in late 2024, Biden seemed rejuvenated. His legacy was the opposite of the script and MAGA was so back that he put on a Trump hat. On his way out, he commuted the sentences of child murderers and honored crony commissars like Hillary and Soros. He was PINO - President in Name Only. Trump was the real leader for the final year, while the regime tried to imprison and assassinate him during his campaign. The wave of populism has swept out Biden and Trudeau - now it will spread across the Atlantic to end Macron, Starmer, and Scholz's careers.

As The SmartLA 2028 Conspiracy Theory Erupts with the L.A. Fires the Illuminati Unveil the Ultimate Top Secret Smart City Project and “Living Lab” in Japan

by: Leo Zagami 01/10/2025
LeoZagami.com

Los Angeles Mayor Karen Bass came under sharp criticism for her response to a series of raging wildfires on Thursday, while President-elect Donald Trump sought to blame California Governor Gavin Newsom for the deadly disaster as the total incompetence of the left is on display.

Fires raging across the Los Angeles area have now entered their fourth day, killing at least ten people, forcing the evacuation of 180,000 residents, and destroying more than ten thousand structures. Preliminary estimates placed damages and economic losses up to $150 billion, but that's only a first preview of the final assessment. As of Friday morning, five fires are burning across L.A. County and the National Guard was called in to stop the burglarizing and looting of the disaster zones, typical of leftist-controlled cities. The largest fire in Palisades, has scorched 20,000 acres and is considered “one of the most destructive fires in the history of Los Angeles,” according to the L.A. fire chief on Thursday. Meanwhile, the Eaton Fire has burned 14,000 acres. The newest fires are Kenneth and Hidden Hills, which expanded overnight.

CBS News summary of the 5 fires:

- * The Palisades Fire in Los Angeles has killed two people and grown to cover over 31 square miles, likely destroying thousands of structures, according to fire officials. It was 6% contained as of late Thursday night.
- * The Eaton Fire, in the hills above Altadena in northern Los Angeles County, has killed three people and burned more than 21 square miles. Between 4,000 and 5,000 structures were believed to have been destroyed or damaged. Cal Fire reported zero percent containment as of Thursday night.
- * The Kenneth Fire ignited in the Woodland Hills neighborhood of Los Angeles on Thursday and covered 960 acres with zero percent containment as of Thursday night, according to Cal Fire.
- * The Sunset Fire, which erupted

Wednesday in Hollywood Hills, prompted a new round of mandatory evacuations, and threatened iconic landmarks. By Thursday, all evacuation orders for the fire were lifted and the blaze had been fully contained, according to officials.

* The Hurst and Lidia fires scorched at least 771 acres and 394 acres, respectively, Cal Fire said. The Hurst Fire was 37% contained and the Lidia Fire was 75% contained as of Thursday night.

The Daily Wire, ex-Fox host Megyn Kelly, and the Federalist stated that the LAFD is “DEI-crazed” and thus “made the fires worse.” While Infowars and a variety of other alternative media sources claim that the LAFD was flat-footed because “most of their supplies were sent to Ukraine,” a claim also repeated by Donald Trump Jr. However, a much more sinister conspiracy has surfaced in the last 24 hours as a growing number of social media users claim that the blazing fires are all a part of an agenda to build “Smart Cities” in connection with the infamous UN Agenda 2030 and a specific local project that kickstarted in Los Angeles approximately 6 years ago, called SmartLA 2028.

In 2019, the City of Los Angeles Information Technology Agency (ITA) convened its leftist and globalist-minded elected officials to form the “Smart City Committee,” composed of 24 departments, stating on their website, “While Los Angeles had become a civic technology leader, (winning #1 U.S. Digital City award for three straight years), the exponential growth of new technologies and increasing public expectations require new levels of coordination to realize our smart city vision.”

What is this vision? Well as I explained in Confessions of an Illuminati Volume 9 published in 2023: “WEF zealots, corrupt Freemasons, and Bilderbergers controlled by the Jesuits and financed by the Sabbatean Frankists no longer hide their evil intentions, going so far as to push the construction of ‘Smart Cities’ or ‘Fifteen Minute Cities’ in which tens of millions of brainwashed millennials can be relocated and live side-by-side in small apartment complexes, that move through a constant maze of entrances and exits accessed solely through digital ID verification and the approval of the Mark of the Beast.”

After all, as I wrote in the previous Confessions of an Illuminati Volume 7: From the Occult Roots of the Great Reset to the Populist Roots of The Great Reject, “their plan is to push you out of the cities so they can transform them into so-called ‘Smart cities,’ under the control of Cyber Satan,” and their agenda is a real one not a conspiracy theory as the mainstream media claims. As I also wrote in the same Volume “The United Nations and their infamous ‘2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development,’ are also involved in the transhumanist revolution of the Fourth Reich led by Klaus Schwab and the Vatican.” Adding later in the book: “We are entering the darkest of ages as we approach the 2030 AI takeover.” So, we shouldn’t be surprised about the latest theories circulating on X in the last few hours.

“All these fires are a deliberate criminal land grab in preparation for Agenda 2030 and Smart Cities,” a January 7 Threads comment said under a post by @severeweatherus, which tracks severe weather and posts about the wildfires. A January 8, 2024 X post made a similar claim to the Threads post, saying that Los Angeles is positioned to become a smart city and comparing it with Lahaina, Maui. Social media users also claimed that catastrophic wildfires tearing through Lahaina in August 2023 were intentionally set to make it a “smart island”. Such claims are branded as “outlandish” by the mainstream but as I explained in my trilogy dedicated to Cyber Satan that includes Volume 6.66, Volume 7, and Volume 9 of my Confessions, that’s not the case. “Just in time to replace it with a smart city, where you’ll be governed and policed by AI.” Wrote another X user who was immediately labeled a “conspiracy theorist” by the mainstream media.

“How many people are aware of the SmartLA 2028 Initiative? The initiative is to turn Los Angeles into a Smart City by 2028. I’m sure this fire will be the perfect excuse to rebuild Los Angeles into a ‘Smart City,’” another person wrote. “Would banning ‘Smart Cities’ stop the ‘Climate Change Fires?’” one person asked. “So, they are looking to turn Los Angeles into a smart city by 2028 Interesting timing with these fires wouldn’t you say?” wrote another. More reactions followed mainly on Musk’s platform, as discussions continued on this topic.

Apart from the SmartLA 2028 initiative, many people rightly claimed a connection between the L.A. fires and the United Nations 2030 Agenda which includes developing sustainable “Smart Cities” using technology.

Soros Owned Radio Station Tips off Criminal Aliens to ICE Agents Locations and Vehicle Make and Models in California

by: Jordan Conradson 02/01/2025
TheGatewayPundit.com

Soros-owned radio station KCBS recently endangered officers and the public by tipping off criminal illegal aliens to the locations of ICE agents who were conducting operations in San Jose, California.

KCBS' Brett Burkhardt reported that "Mayor Matt Mahan and council member Peter Ortiz confirmed today that US Immigration and Customs Enforcement agents are currently carrying out an operation on the east side of town," echoing reports from the Santa Clara County Rapid Response Network.

Ortiz, who confirmed the ICE deportation operations to the Rapid Response Network, boasts in his San Jose City Councilmember biography that he "joined a gang at the age of 12" but "was able to turn his life around." However, clearly, he's still on the same team as the criminals.

The Santa Clara Rapid Response Network is described as a "community defense project developed to protect immigrant families from deportation threats and to provide accompaniment support during and after a community member's arrest or detention."

As noted by NewsMax's Rob Finnerty, "these actions could end up getting American citizens killed," including the ICE agents who were exposed. Jeopardizing law enforcement operations in such a matter

"is a crime," said Finnerty.

Burkhardt said, "The County's Response Network says agents in San Jose were in unmarked vehicles, including a black Dodge Durango, a gray Nissan Maxima, and white Nissan truck. ICE agents were also reported outside a residence on South White and Tully roads."

took control of 235 radio stations last year after his company became the largest shareholder in the Audacy, Inc. media company.

Incoming Voice of America Director Kari Lake posted the clip on X, commenting, "In the lead-up to my segment with @RobFinnertyUSA, I heard some audio that truly shocked me. A host from @KCBSRadio tipped off criminals about the locations of ICE agents & the make & model of their vehicles. Then, we learned something that made the motive behind the despicable actions obvious. This was one of the many radio stations recently purchased by George Soros, a billionaire who has used his fortune to fund politicians & causes who seek to undermine American safety & sovereignty."

NPR and PBS Leaders Just Got Bad News From The DOGE Subcommittee

By Steve Straub
TFPPWire.com 02/03/2025

The newly-formed Delivering on Government Efficiency subcommittee wants top executives at NPR and PBS to explain the federal money they receive and the media content critics call "systemically biased."

Key Facts:

* House Rep. Marjorie Taylor Greene chairs the DOGE Subcommittee.

* NPR CEO Katherine Maher and PBS President Paula Kerger were invited to testify.

* The subcommittee questions NPR's past refusal to cover the Hunter Biden laptop story.

* A former NPR editor accused the outlet of maintaining far-left bias. The hearing is expected to take place in March 2025.

The Rest of The Story:

Members of the DOGE Subcommittee, led by Rep. Greene, have voiced concerns that NPR and PBS unfairly tilt their coverage.

NPR's decision not to report on the Hunter Biden laptop story during the 2020 election cycle is drawing scrutiny, as is an essay by veteran NPR editor Uri Berliner who said the newsroom suffered from a "frictionless" approach to left-leaning topics. His essay described how certain narratives were chosen while others were dismissed.

In addition, Greene's letter to PBS President Kerger criticized the network's characterization of Elon Musk as making a "fascist salute," calling it a false portrayal that reflects a narrow ideological viewpoint.

Both NPR and PBS rely on a combination of private contributions, sponsorships, and federal allocations—funding that may be threatened if the subcommittee concludes their reporting is overtly partisan.

Officials at NPR and PBS did not respond to questions about the invitation at the time of publication. Both organizations have long maintained that they uphold journalistic standards and claim that federal money is essential for smaller local stations in rural areas. They are expected to address how they spend these funds and whether their content meets the standard of impartial public service.

The Bottom Line:

Critics argue that federal dollars should not subsidize news outlets that appear politically one-sided. NPR and PBS leaders will have a chance to address these concerns at the upcoming congressional hearing. How they explain their editorial decisions and funding practices may affect the future of public broadcasting in America.

[NPR & PBS are Soros owned media outlets... Go figure!]

Healthy People Don't Need AI-Created mRNA Jabs

by: Tracy Beanz & Michelle Edwards 01/28/2025
TheHighwire.com

The billionaires clamoring to influence President Trump and accelerate artificial intelligence, specifically its position in healthcare, are undoubtedly driven by the massive profits at stake. Stock in Moderna—a deep state and DARPA partner that received $590 million from Joe Biden to enhance mRNA capabilities a mere two days before the former president vacated the White House—surged after Oracle's Larry Ellison declared at a press briefing held by President Trump that artificial intelligence (AI) would soon be used to analyze blood tests and develop customized mRNA cancer vaccines within 48 hours. What? Considering the sheer failure of mRNA technology during the pandemic, why not, for example, put those billions into a nationwide project using AI to personalize a person's diet using whole, organic, and local food to cure a detected illness?

Clearly, the future of humanity is being charted in real time as we watch. Ellison's mRNA declaration upset countless health freedom warriors who've spent the last few years in disbelief, watching that same mRNA technology, which was used in the COVID-19 jabs, arguably kill millions, cause serious adverse events, and likely ignite turbo cancers. Instead of rapidly accelerating the transhuman agenda, perhaps let's take a much-needed pause.

Ellison's remarks followed President Trump's announcement on his second day in office of an endeavor called The Stargate Project, which comes on the heels of China's just released DeepSeek R1, which it claims "outperforms its rivals in advancing coding, math, and general knowledge capabilities," and has surely left America's tech giants gasping for air. Thus far, with no funding from the Trump administration, the Stargate joint venture plans to invest $500 billion over the next four years to build a new physical and virtual AI infrastructure for OpenAI in the United States to power the next generation of AI.

Stargate's initial equity funders are SoftBank, OpenAI, Oracle, and MGX. SoftBank and OpenAI are the lead partners for Stargate, with SoftBank having financial responsibility and OpenAI having operational responsibility. Bill Gates' friend, Masayoshi Son, will be the chairman. Son is the CEO of Softbank and owner of robotics design company Boston Dynamics. Following the disastrous mRNA cancer treatment announcement, William Makis, MD, a Canadian physician with expertise in Radiology, Oncology, and Immunology, who blew the whistle on mRNA-initiated turbo cancers, wrote on X:

"Oracle CEO Larry Ellison wants to cure your cancer! Somehow, we've gone from mRNA vaccines created in giant vats of E. Coli bacteria that give you cardiac arrests, clots & Turbo Cancer to "AI creating mRNA Vaccines in 48 hours" that will cure your Turbo Cancer!

I honestly think @realDonaldTrump is just having fun here with these clowns. It's comedy gold. This is not the "promise of AI". This is not even good science fiction. This is pure nonsense."

Makis is right; it sure feels like pure nonsense. As Dr. Sherry Tenpenny pointed out, the billionaires driving the mRNA agenda want humans to falsely believe that their immune systems are weak and incompetent without the overlord's profitable and deadly interventions. In reality, cancer cells form inside us daily. But, alas, the human body was intelligently designed to fight back without needing AI and toxic, life-altering treatments. Technology is not superior to the incredible healing power that exists within each of us, created by God, and cancer is nothing more than the presentation of toxicity and deficiency in the body. It certainly makes you wonder how many blood tests will indicate the presence of cancer despite the fact disease symptoms may never develop and will instead disappear naturally after the immune system does its job.

In a recent interview with Megan Kelly following Ellison's bold prophecy, Nicole Shanahan warned of an "extinction" level risk if mRNA gene-damaging "vaccines" are rushed to the market as they were during the pandemic. Shanahan echoed the sentiment of many, telling Kelly that "what we need for the mRNA platform right now is a moratorium," adding, "it's not ready for human use." She noted that the outcomes of mRNA technology have proven inconsistent among individuals, raising concerns about its immediate use. Thus, Shanahan insists a temporary pause on mRNA is necessary to ensure the strength, health, and growth of our population and economy. While artificial intelligence may offer transformative possibilities, its rapid or premature deployment in certain scenarios poses significant, even catastrophic, risks. Unlike AI, Shanahan stated that human health is not a computational problem. Instead, it requires careful, deliberate consideration, and moving forward, all mRNA protocols must be optional, never forced or mandated.

According to Forbes, Ellison's interest in healthcare is not new. On numerous occasions, Oracle has announced its commitment to "redefine healthcare," which is evident in its purchase of Electronic Health Records (EHR) company Cerner (now called Oracle Health) for $28 billion. More recently, the company revealed plans to relocate its headquarters to Nashville, a city recognized for its investments in the healthcare industry and technology. Other partners in Stargate are equally focused on the profitable relationship between AI and healthcare, including Microsoft and Nvidia. Both have emphasized that healthcare is a top priority, particularly in advancing artificial intelligence technology. Lucky us.

With the announcement of Stargate, it is safe to assume the mad dash to advance AI will only intensify. 2024 saw billions of dollars poured into the competitive AI race, which has reached unprecedented intensity. And they've all got their eyes on the enormous profitability in the AI healthcare game. Stargate is but one of many initiatives highlighting the need for considerable infrastructure to support greenhouse gas-emitting AI advancements. AWS (Amazon) recently announced a nearly $11 billion investment in Georgia to expand its data center infrastructure for AI and cloud computing. Similarly, Meta revealed plans to invest $10 billion in an AI-focused

Audit USAID...Then Shut It Down!

by: Ron Paul, MD 02/04/2025
RonPaulInstitute.org

As of this writing, when you attempt to access the US Agency for International Development (USAID) website or social media pages you are informed that, "This site can't be reached." The media reports that the new Trump Administration has not only frozen USAID activities but may be planning on bringing it back under control of the US State Department. Other reports, including statements by Elon Musk, suggest that it will be closed completely.

If true, the closing of USAID may be one of the most significant changes President Trump has made among many dramatic actions in his first couple of weeks in office. Many Americans may still have the idea that USAID is a government agency delivering relief at disaster sites overseas. They may still remember the bags of rice or grain with the USAID logo on them. That is not USAID. It is a key component of the US government's "regime change" operations worldwide. USAID spends billions of dollars every year propping up "NGOs" overseas that function as shadow governments, eating away at elected governments that the US interventionists want to overthrow.

Behind most US foreign policy disasters overseas you will see the fingerprints of USAID. From Ukraine to Georgia and far beyond, USAID is meddling in the internal affairs of foreign countries – something that would infuriate Americans if it was happening to us.

When President Trump ordered a 90 day pause in USAID activities, we quickly learned just how pernicious the agency really is. The US media reported that Ukrainian press outlets were scrambling to keep their doors open when the US dollars stopped flowing. It is reported that 90 percent of the media outlets are funded by the US government!

This means that there is virtually no independent media in Ukraine, only fake news outlets willing to toe the US Administration's propaganda line. Does anyone think these wholly US-funded "news" outlets would ever publish a story that the US government did not want published?

This is plainly immoral, but it is also dangerous. Most US mainstream media stories about Ukraine have their origins in the "reporting" of the local media. From battlefield news to casualties to the state of the Ukrainian military, the "news" from Ukraine is being written by US government-backed media outlets and then picked up by US and other western media. It is a closed propaganda loop that not only propagandizes the US citizen but also feeds false information into US government outlets – such as Congress – that rely on mainstream US media reporting for their news on Ukraine.

No wonder so many in Washington continue to support this hopeless war! However, USAID is not just in the business of disinformation. Elon Musk recently re-posted a New York Post article on X reporting that USAID funneled $53 million to EcoHealth Alliance to support gain-of-function research on coronaviruses at the Wuhan lab! Did USAID help fund COVID? Americans have a right to know.

In natural catastrophes overseas Americans have shown themselves to be extremely generous. Private volunteer assistance organizations can more effectively assist victims of disasters worldwide.

USAID needs a full and transparent audit. Americans deserve to know exactly what is being done in their name overseas. Then the agency needs to be shuttered completely, and its employees sent home. That would go a long way toward making America great again.

data center in Louisiana, while Elon Musk announced efforts to scale up xAI's electricity-guzzling operations in Memphis.

Yet, here we are. Something crucial is missing as these billionaires scramble to merge humans and technology. Indeed, contemplating the idea of the future they are pushing is desperately unappealing and (quite frankly) frightening. What is missing is a serious emphasis on the healing power of the human body. That healing power is the real golden age. We don't need billions invested in AI to learn of that healing power—it is already right before us. When individuals take their health into their own hands and discover what they may not yet know about the healing power of the human body, the path before them quickly reveals the importance of a healthy diet and clean, unprocessed food. The realization that we don't need the government, doctors, AI, or Big Pharma to save us is truly liberating. Healthy people, not AI, will save the world. Don't wait! Stay informed, have hope and take charge of your health.

The Quartzsite Chamber of Commerce: Moving Positively Forward for Quartzsite

The Quartzsite Chamber of Commerce thanks to everyone that joined us on Saturday January 11th for the Hi Jolly Parade and Camelpalooza 2025.

We hope that you all had as much fun as we did. We feel that we really hit a homerun by moving the parade to the Moon Mountain and combining it with the Camelpalooza. We are planning to do the same route next year.

The winners of the parade judging are: Parade Theme, Quartzsite Roadrunners Gem and Mineral Club Honoring History, Eric Souder (Lt. Beale) and Nance Fite accepted the award for the Camel Family Reunion group. Most Creative, Rat Rod by Sonny Cruz and Russ from RVr TV Largest Group, "Clampers" E Clampus Vitus led by Jeremy "Irish" Murphy.

Honorable mention also goes to the Town of Quartzsite for their "Quartzsite Rocks!"

Camel Express bus. Mayor Norm Simpson, Town Council members and our Town Manager were all riding in the bus and waving out the windows. Thank you Nikki and Melissa, for the musical themed decorations. They were really nice.

Our whole Camel Family is so much fun to work with. Nance Fite has always been the spark plug that keeps our Camel heartbeat strong.

Department for excellent traffic control. We were very worried about interfering with traffic and businesses during the parade but we've been told that it was a bonus, as business was brisk for Mountain Quail Restaurant, the swap meet and craft show at the Senior Center and also at the Salvation Army Thrift Store.

This year we were missing Jenn and Christina but we had newcomers, Nancy and Saiid Rouas, Percilla Davis and Adrian Hopkins to fill the void.

In total, we had eleven Camels onsite. We're told that we singlehandedly doubled the Camel population in Arizona during the event.

One more, big thank you goes out to Chief Romo and our Quartzsite Police Department along with the Public Works

Daniel Berkey and Rock Solid Construction did a wonderful job in getting the Camel Building finished on time and the historic

Europeans Unite to Fight Globalism, Embrace MAGA Agenda in EU Parliament

by Andrew Muller 02/03/2025
TheNewAmerican.com

BRUSSELS — Anti-globalist European forces are attempting to replicate the political dominance of Donald Trump’s MAGA movement. At the Make Europe Great Again (MEGA) international conference at the European Parliament, over 500 politicians, staffers, and NGOs gathered for a two-day event to game-plan how to “red pill” all of Europe. Organized by the European Conservatives and Reformist Party (ECR) and the Alliance for the Union of Romanians (AUR), the event was the 2nd annual gathering. Attendees seek to unify Europeans who want to see an end to mass migration, socialism, green-deal climate-scam policies, and endless wars.

George Simion, a Romanian parliamentarian, president of the AUR, and executive vice president of the ECR, told The New American: “It is a wave. We are trying to go from MAGA to MEGA. We should seize the momentum; we should act now because the globalists are frightened.”

As the name of the conference conveys, Donald Trump’s political worldview is paramount to the movement. Many attendees told The New American that their various countries are warming up to the populist uprising led by Trump. They said the moment has arrived to unify around his leadership in Europe and do away with politics as usual.

Bringing Back Faith

Banners littered across the event read, “Defending Western values in the European Parliament.” Speakers repeatedly defined and articulated those Western values solely as principles derived from the biblical Christian worldview. Simion, the leader of MEGA, told The New American: “We cannot do anything without God. We have four pillars at the basis of our party: nation, family — composed of a man and a woman, faith — Christian faith, and of course freedom... We must follow the words of God and of our Bible,” he added.

Accordingly, many speakers offered history lessons on the influence of Christendom in Europe. They noted how fundamental societal constructs such as family, nations, and marriage being between a man and woman are biblical principles. With mass migration compromising many Europeans’ cultures and religious practices, speakers said, returning to the Christian faith is a high priority.

Globalism Out, Nationalism In

In step with President Trump’s “America First” nationalism, MEGA brought its own flavor of nationalism. Speakers and attendees often labeled it “sovereignism.” This writer observed a variety of opinions on how to handle the rise of globalism. There was one consistent thread among the proposed solutions: Decentralization from the United Nations (UN) and European Union (EU).

Opinions on how to accomplish that decentralization ranged from abolishing the UN and EU altogether to reform measures. One Australian parliamentarian summed up part of the group’s concerns by saying international bodies are prone to “mission creep,” as time naturally corrupts an entity’s original mission. However, debates took place in hallways and corridors regarding the good or evil behind the original visions of the UN and EU.

The John Birch Society has been exposing for decades how the UN and EU were instituted with the specific purpose of eroding national sovereignty and individual liberty as a part of a global conspiracy. Not all participants at MEGA saw “multilateral” groups as part of a conspiracy. However, there appeared to be the beginning of an awakening of the nature and methods of the EU and UN. This was a positive upgrade from previous political norms.

Among the American voices at MEGA was Dr. Robert Malone, a pioneer of mRNA technology and critic of the Covid-19 shots and lockdowns. He told The New American, “The European Union, as it currently exists, is overextended, and it is counterproductive.” Malone said that “it needs to be reformed,” however, rather than abolished.

European Critics

One voice that has consistently exposed the EU for its globalist and anti-democratic ways is Christine Anderson. A member of the EU Parliament (MEP) and a key leader in Germany’s Alternative für Deutschland (AfD) party, which has received praise from Elon Musk, Anderson told The New American: “So, they [European nations] are relinquishing their sovereignty in part to, you know, these institutions and that is actually of great concern because the EU institutions are not only undemocratic, they are downright anti-democratic.”

David Campbell Bannerman, a former MEP from England, brilliantly exposed the Chinese influence behind globalist institutions. In an address delivered to MEGA leaders, Bannerman exposed World Economic Forum (WEF) founder Klaus Schwab’s vision for the Chinese Communist Party to be the “role model for many countries” in the New World Order: “This is like a fork in the road. Either we go down this WEF Chinese model and do it that way - that’s communism and we lose our rights and freedoms ... or we do it the American way; we do it the Trump way.” He continued: “One of my key arguments for leaving the European Union (and I was a prominent Brexit member of the European Parliament) was because the EU is not democratic and overrides national sovereignty, and it overrides the nation-state... There’s too much Chinese influence.”

Hope in Youth to MEGA

Youth were ever present at MEGA, participating in panels and question-and-answer sessions and as general observers. This writer spoke to a young man from London named Nicholas Lissack. He was attending MEGA to learn more about the success of Trump’s MAGA movement and how he could use online media platforms to influence youth in the U.K. to get engaged.

When asked about globalism in the West, Lissack shared: “I think the second Trump administration really needs to place an emphasis on nationalism and populism and breaking up this neoliberal globalist establishment that’s based here in Brussels. Europe will not thrive, and European countries will not regain proper sovereignty, until the European Union is a thing of the past.” Lissack has cultivated a large social-media following, encouraging youth in the U.K. to push back against the globalism, tyranny and mass-migration policies that have infected the country.

A Message of Hope to the West

The MEGA conference ended with a call to action for a global, organized, grassroots response to the one-world-government conspiracy. Opined Simion when closing out the event: “We must be united, because unity is our strength. If we fight alone, if we do not have allies and partners, we will be decimated.”

The number of allies in the United States to help save Europe from totalitarian control is growing. Elon Musk posted on X after the event: “People of Europe: Join the MEGA movement! Make Europe Great Again!!”

The third installment of the Make Europe Great Again conference is set to take place next year. Organizers plan to hold it in multiple European countries, in an attempt to expand the movement.

Trudeau Bends The Knee: Canada Will Send 10,000 Troops To Border, Name Fentanyl Czar To Delay Trump Tariffs

by: Tyler Durden 02/04/2025
ZeroHedge.com

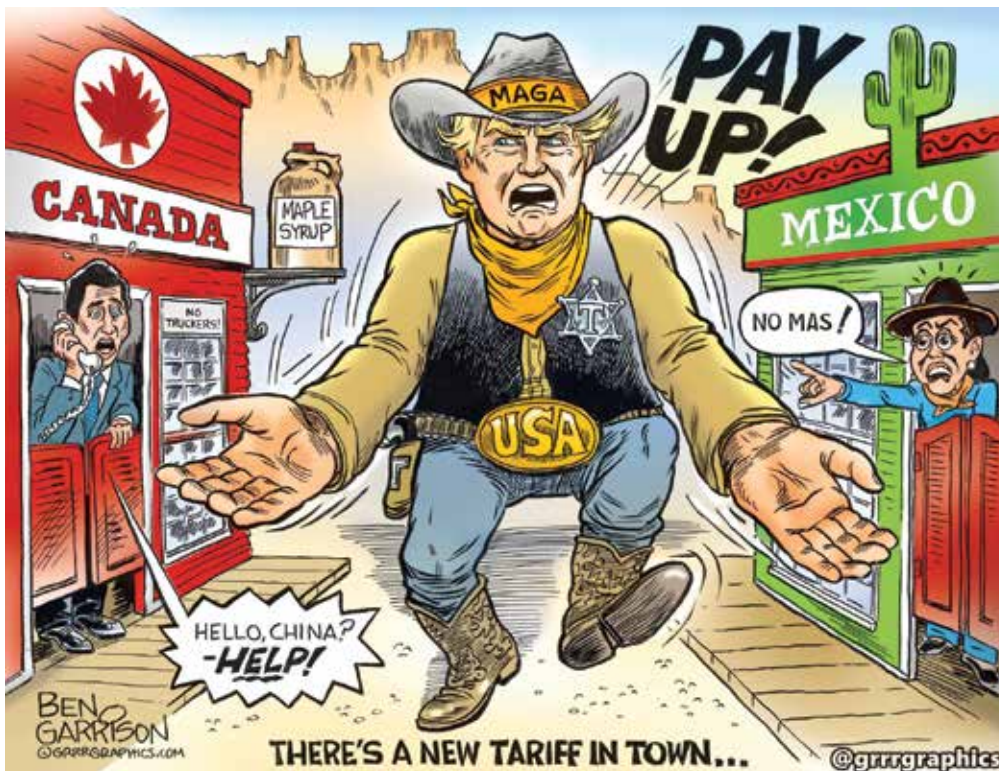

In what is a carbon copy of Trump's tariff-delaying deal with Mexico, moments ago Canada's outgoing PM, Justin Trudeau, said that he too had bent the knee, i.e. had a "good call" with Trump, and that US tariffs on Canada would be paused for 30 days after Canada - just like Mexico - agreed to send 10,000 troops to the border as part of a $1.3 billion border plan which "reinforces the border with new choppers, technology and personnel, enhanced coordination with our American partners, and increased resources to stop the flow of fentanyl".

Trudeau also said that Canada will appoint a Fentanyl Czar, list cartels as terrorists, ensure 24/7 eyes on the border, and launch a Canada-U.S. Joint Strike Force to combat organized crime, fentanyl and money laundering. Finally, the Canadian PM also signed a new intelligence directive on organized crime and fentanyl and we will be backing it with $200 million. As a result of not only bending the knee but bending over fully for the US president, Trump's proposed tariffs will be paused for at least 30 days.

Shortly after Trudeau's post, Trump followed suit on his own Truth Social network, writing that Canada "has agreed to ensure we have a secure Northern Border, and to finally end the deadly scourge of drugs like Fentanyl that have been pouring into our Country, killing hundreds of thousands of Americans, while destroying their families and communities all across our Country."

Trump concluded by saying that he is "very pleased with this initial outcome" adding that the Tariffs announced on Saturday will be paused for a 30 day period "to see whether or not a final Economic deal with Canada can be structured. FAIRNESS FOR ALL!"

Separately, the Financial Times reported that all shipments arriving by mail from Canada and China will need to be cleared by customs from Tuesday onwards as the US moved to close a trade loophole that allowed low value imports to avoid duties. "Without regard to their value, no mail shipments from China will be cleared or released" by the Customs and Border Protection agency "unless and until formal entry is properly filed", the agency said in a document scheduled to be published in the Federal Register on February 5th.

The Customs and Borders Protection (CBP) used the same language in a filing about tariffs on Canada, also scheduled to be published on Wednesday. Details on the CBP's order requiring "formal entry" for shipments from Canada and China follows US President Donald Trump issuing executive actions imposing tariffs on goods from those countries. Trump's executive orders stated that the articles applicable for tariffs would not be exempt from the so-called "de minimis exemption", which allows low value imports to avoid duties.

Late last night we said that it is very likely Trump's trade war would be agreements:

1. Mexico will immediately reinforce the northern border with 10,000 members of the National Guard to prevent drug trafficking from Mexico to the United States, particularly fentanyl.
2. The United States is committed to working to prevent the trafficking of high-powered weapons to Mexico.
3. Our teams will begin working today on two fronts: security and trade.
4. They are pausing tariffs for one month from now."

President Trump has confirmed the tariffs are paused for one month.

As for China, we doubt that particular trade war will be as easy to win but who knows: Trump is certainly on a roll. In any case, the market is certainly delighted with the outcome, and the Mexican peso is surging... TSY yields are rising (shouldn't they fall on non-inflationary, non-tariffs?)... Oil prices have plunged, erasing overnight tariff-driven gains... Bitcoin is ripping higher (as we suppose this means no large drop in global liquidity?) and US equities are reversing the large losses overnight quite rapidly... Now, what will the MSM say after doom-mongering all morning about Trump's 'catastrophic' tariffs?

Vice President, JD Vance summed it all up in one simple tweet: "For three days a lot of the far left has actively rooted against America and argued we'd get nothing out of President Trump's demands that Mexico secure its country. Well, how do you like them apples?"

Get US out of the UN

Americans and all people from health threats. Together, we ended smallpox, and together we have brought polio to the brink of eradication.” It went on to say it regrets America’s withdrawal and hopes the Trump administration will reconsider. Let’s hope not.

Leaving Paris

Then there’s the equally absurd Paris climate agreement, which has blunted America’s energy potential under dubious pretenses. Under the guise of reducing greenhouse-gas emissions, the staffers running the Biden administration, in accordance with the Paris Agreement, leveled a number of policies that have essentially made Americans poorer. “Green” policies have reduced the production of cheap and reliable energy, resulting in higher gasoline, heating and cooling, and grocery costs.

At least for the next four years, America is done with the WHO and the Paris Climate agreement. The EO says it’s now time to put the interests of Americans first and abandon agreements that “unduly or unfairly burden the United States.” The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations is responsible for informing the UN secretary-general of America’s departure. Wouldn’t it be great if every U.S. president put the nation’s interests first?

Get Out of the UN

As great as these actions from Trump are, it would be better if the United States once and for all cut off the head of the monster. The United States needs to get out of the UN, and the UN needs to be booted out of the United States. The WHO is part of the UN, and there wouldn’t have been any need to exit the WHO if we left the UN.

The United Nations claims to be a peace-fostering organization. If that’s truly the case, it has failed miserably and should be shuttered for that reason alone. The UN has accomplished nothing when it comes to ending the Russia-Ukraine War. It has done nothing to temper China’s aggression toward its neighbors, and it’s accomplished zilch to end the turmoil in the Middle East. The UN couldn’t even convince Hamas to release Israeli hostages. Trump had to step in to help get that done.

It gets worse. Not only has the UN failed at its ostensible mission, it has expanded its influence and resources to destroy the rich countries of the West, which appears to be its real mission.

Migrants & Climate Change

During the Biden years, the UN financially and strategically supported the migrant invasion into the United States. It has done the same to Europe, which prompted Brexit and the rising of several nationalist populist movements in nations such as France, Germany, Italy, and the Netherlands. The UN has made European nations poorer, less safe, and less European.

The UN has also orchestrated the nonsensical yet effective climate-change campaign that has infected all of the West. For decades, the UN has hosted conferences at which the global elites devise plans to redistribute the riches of Western countries to third-world countries under the pretense of climate reparations. The New American warned as far back as 1992, when we attended the climate summit in Rio de Janeiro in Brazil, that the green scam was going to turn into a tool of tyranny and destruction. After that, TNA consistently reported on the UN’s Agenda 2030 goals, which are essentially a blueprint for global control of every nation down to the local level.

The UN’s Real Purpose

The peace façade is simply a cover for the real purpose of the UN, which John Birch Society Founder Robert Welch figured out decades ago. He said a network of international conspirators were working to bring about the gradual surrender of American sovereignty piece by piece and step by step to various international organizations, of which the United Nations was the “outstanding” example. In 1962, the JBS launched a campaign to create understanding among Americans about the UN and its real goal. The Get US!

Out of the UN action program will be a major focus of the JBS in the following years.

The UN’s goal is to destroy the fabric of Western societies that stand in the way of their utopian, borderless, and godless one-world-government system. Even the globalists admit this. In the November/December 2024 issue of Foreign Affairs, the flagship publication of the globalist Council on Foreign Relations, former UN official Thant Myint-u advocates for global government. When he discusses the beginnings of the organization, he says, “The seeds of a future planetary government were evident from the start.” Later he adds that “a hopeful vision of global government persisted.” In that same article, he bemoans what he sees as a missed opportunity for the United States to build “the foundation of a UN-centered world government.”

Whether Trump recognizes the true intentions and dangers of the UN we don’t know, but he needs to. If he’s truly America First, one of the most impactful steps he can take is to sever all ties with the UN.

Readers, we encourage you to help fellow citizens understand the importance of getting out of the UN. Visit our store at shopjbs.org for educational materials. You can also order back copies of TNA issues devoted to exposing the UN.

January 6 Life Rebuilding Fund

The financial devastation that every January 6 Hostage & their families have undergone is a travesty. When hundreds of these patriot heroes emerge from Federal Prison after being pardoned - many of them will be HOMELESS & JOBLESS!!

The travel costs are too high for many to afford, and we cannot allow our patriots to step out of prison with no money and nowhere to go!!

The J6 Life Rebuilding Project is focusing on supplying these men with the necessities to resettle into society: First months rent, a cell phone, clothing and some groceries to hold them over until they begin working again.

Please donate to our vital life rebuilding fund, which is operated by Jan 6 Political Prisoner Jake Lang & his team at J6Truth.org.

God bless you, we are eternally grateful for the love, support and prayers from our Conservative Christian community. We would be lost without you. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

We are connected with teams of volunteers who are ready to pick up the J6ers from each Federal Prison and help them get settled into their new apartments and restart their lives after 4 long years of torture and solitary confinement.

5 Shocking Reasons Trump Should Exit The U.N. Now!

by: Kimberly Ells 02/03/2025
TheFederalist.com

The UN is tied to shocking scandals harming children and families around the world, and threatens to do much more.

A host of valid reasons have been cited for why the United States should exit the United Nations, including the erosion of U.S. sovereignty, climate activism that imperils the global economy, the spending of billions of dollars on non-U.S. priorities, and forced collaboration with ruthless dictators. Here are five lesser-known reasons to exit the UN that may be even more compelling to the average family.

1. The UN is the Largest Global Purveyor of Gender Ideology

The United Nations is a major player in the global push to de-sex society in the name of “gender equality.” The Generation Equality Forum convened by UN Women in 2021 launched a five-year action agenda to achieve their version of gender equality. The Forum garnered $40 billion in financial commitments to advance gender equality worldwide.

UN Women has historically been dedicated to advancing women’s rights around the globe. However, in July 2019, UN Women announced it would now focus on “equality of all genders” including transgender, questioning or queer, intersex, pan-sexual, gender nonconforming, nonbinary, and “the full range of gender diversities that exist.” This seismic shift by UN Women represents the abandonment of women’s rights at the highest UN levels. It signals the attempted obliteration of physical sex as a meaningful and defensible designation in society.

If you’ve noticed an extraordinary and almost inexplicable uptick in transgender activism and in the rates of children and others identifying as transgender over the past five years, it is due in large part to the workings of the United Nations.

2. UN Agencies Promote ‘Sexual Rights’ for Children

A major way the UN seeks to disseminate gender ideology across the globe is through comprehensive sexuality education programs. Not only do these programs teach children that their bodies do not reflect their innate identity as males or females, but they teach children that they have “sexual rights” that must be protected by law. These “sexual rights” include the right to access sexual content and the right to experience sexual pleasure at all ages. In UN negotiations, UN actors fight ferociously to enshrine comprehensive sexuality education as a human right for all children.

The UN’s definitive document on sexuality education endorsed by multiple UN agencies (including the World Health Organization) is laced with references to childhood sexuality. It says, “[Young] people want and need sexuality and sexual health information as early and comprehensively as possible;” that children should have “agency in their own sexual practices and relationships;” and that comprehensive sexuality education can “help children...form respectful and healthy relationships with...sexual partners.”

A longtime partner of UN agencies, International Planned Parenthood Federation is the largest promoter of comprehensive sexuality education programs in the world. In its “sexual rights” declaration for youth it says, “Sexuality and sexual pleasure are important parts of being human for everyone — no matter what age, no matter if you’re married or not and no matter if you want to have children or not.” Notice the phrase “no matter what age,” which does not appear to make exceptions for children, toddlers, or babies.

3. The UN has a History of Horrific Child Sex Abuse

Incidents of child sex abuse by UN personnel and UN peacekeepers have been reported for decades. To cite only a few of many heinous incidents, a series of “food-for-sex” scandals erupted in the early 2000s when UN peacekeepers in Liberia were accused of selling food for sex to girls as young as eight. In Haiti, at least 134 UN peacekeepers from Sri Lanka were accused of sexually abusing children in a sex ring from 2004 to 2007. One boy reported having sex with more than 100 peacekeepers, averaging about four a day over the course of three years beginning when the boy was fifteen.

In 2014 in the Central African Republic, another child sex scandal erupted involving French UN peacekeepers. One boy said he’d been given biscuits and cash in exchange for sex and a thirteen-year-old boy said he “couldn’t number all the times he’d been forced to perform [sex acts] on soldiers.” When one UN official notified French authorities of the alleged abuse against children, he was suspended by senior UN figures for “breaching protocols.”

The list of similar incidents is long and alarming, and almost no meaningful action has been taken to stop it.

On a final explosive note, UNICEF’s Implementation Handbook for the Convention on the Rights of the Child purportedly instructs policymakers worldwide on how to protect the rights and well-being of children. The author of the handbook was longtime children’s-rights campaigner Peter Newell, who worked for UNICEF. In February 2018, Newell was convicted of sexual crimes and allegedly raped a boy over the course of three years beginning when the boy was thirteen. Newell pled guilty to charges against him. Let that sink in. The UN handbook on protecting children worldwide was written by a child rapist.

4. UN Officials are Immune to Prosecution

A founding UN document called the Convention on the Privileges and Immunities of the United Nations says UN officials shall “be immune from legal process in respect of words spoken or written and all acts performed by them in their official capacity” and grants them immunity from civil lawsuits in any jurisdiction anywhere in the world.

This means UN officials are immune from being prosecuted for virtually any act that can be construed as having occurred in connection with their “official capacity.” Peter Gallo, a former investigator employed by the UN, says the immunity loophole is “being grossly abused,” and that UN officials are “paid enormous salaries for what they do and they’re comfortable in their immunity, knowing they won’t be caught.”

The old line about absolute power corrupts absolutely comes to mind.

5. The Current Secretary-General of the UN is the Former President of Socialist International

The list of UN leaders with socialist and communist ties goes back to the very foundations of the UN itself. But one doesn’t have to dig into the mire of UN history to discover that the UN has severe socialist leanings. António Guterres, current Secretary-General

How You Can Help Tina Peters

by: Capt. Seth Keshel 01/24/2025
skeshel.substack.com

One of the biggest names caught up in legal hell over the past four years is Tina Peters, the former Mesa County, Colorado, clerk who wound up being convicted of four felonies related to her preservation of key election records and gaining supposedly unauthorized access to the electronic voting infrastructure (machines and software).

It is great to see all the January 6th prisoner pardons and subsequent releases, but it is important that we don't forget Peters, who has paid a stiff price at the hands of the wicked Jena Griswold, Colorado's disgraced Secretary of State, and the tyrant-in-a-robe named Matthew Barrett, for demanding a deeper dive into the world of election maladministration. Unfortunately, since she was convicted of state crimes, President Trump cannot pardon her. So, what do we do now?

My recommendation is to continue to post online, tagging President Trump and all his DOJ leadership across all platforms, about this matter so it becomes a viral online issue, and for all concerned to contact the office of Colorado Governor Jared Polis, a Democrat, at (303) 866-2471.

While he likely has no internal inclination or conviction to pardon Peters, he may find it politically expedient to appeal to mercy and moderation since he is rumored to aspire to the Presidency as soon as 2028.

Burn up those phone lines and keep this issue alive. I have little doubt Trump allies like Mike Lindell will keep this issue in his ear, and we can certainly move the needle here if we press the matter. Remember, Peters' legal issues and persecution are directly tied to the administrative state's desire to intimidate all so-called election deniers in order to obscure all transparency into the widespread corruption of our national elections infrastructure. Thank you for your attention.

5 Resons to Get US out of the UN of the UN is a member of the Portuguese Socialist Party and served as secretary-general of the Socialist Party from 1992-2002. He then served as president of Socialist International from 1999-2005.

Further, Audrey Azoulay, the current director-general of the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) is a member of the Socialist Party. This matters because UNESCO is the self-appointed steward of education for the world and has increasingly significant influence on how the children of the world will be taught in the coming decade. Do you think Ms. Azoulay and Mr. Guterres want children to learn about the dark and lethal history of Mao's socialist-communist state in China? Or the millions upon millions crushed in the wheels of Marxist Russia? Or the legions killed in Cambodia's ruthless regime?

The Time is Ripe
The coalescing of minimal accountability, huge financial reserves, fondness for child sex, and ever-increasing political leverage at the UN has done harm to the children and families of the world and threatens to do much more.

President Ronald Reagan withdrew the United States from UNESCO in 1984, stating that it "has exhibited hostility toward the basic institutions of a free society, especially a free market and a free press, and has demonstrated unrestrained budgetary expansion." President George W. Bush ushered us back in. President Trump withdrew the U.S. from both UNESCO and the UN's World Health Organization during his first term in office and has now withdrawn the U.S. from the World Health Organization once again.

Is it time to get the United States out of the United Nations entirely? President Trump is the first president in history who has the will to do it. But will he? Let's hope so. Our children's future may depend on it.

Nevertheless, such claims remain unsubstantiated for the mainstream media trying to cover up Cyber Satan's plans, which include the unveiling of the ultimate Smart City Project, a top-secret robotic utopia "living laboratory" planned by the Illuminati that will open in Japan later this year filled with futuristic tech. Toyota has been building its Woven City since 2021 which will serve as a test ground for driverless cars, smart homes, and robotics that we might soon find as included in the SmartLA 2028 initiative.

Phase 1 construction of the ambitious project is now complete, and one hundred people will move in later this year, Toyota announced at the CES tech show in Las Vegas. The current site will eventually house 360 residents. Once phase 2 and future phases are complete up to 2,000 people could be living there. "Woven City is more than just a place to live, work, and play," said Akio Toyoda, Chairman of Toyota. "Woven City is a place where people can invent and develop all kinds of new products and ideas. It's a living laboratory where the residents are willing participants, giving inventors the opportunity to freely test their ideas in a secure, real-life setting."

Select inventors and their families – known as "Weavers" – will relocate to Woven City in autumn with the goal of developing technologies to address "societal challenges." Visitors to the Top-secret city will be "limited to related parties" at first, but the public will be able to visit and participate in activities from 2026. Toyota has previously explained that each residence will be kitted out with solar-panel rooftops, AI tech to monitor health inside the home and all vehicles and buildings will be connected through data and sensors. Houses, made mostly from wood, will include in-home robotics to "assist with daily living" helping residents to be more independent.

Streets will be split into three types, pedestrian-only areas, roads for fast-moving traffic, and streets for a mix of lower-speed vehicles. The car brand commissioned Danish architect Bjarke Ingels, whose previous projects include the Two World Trade Centers, the Lego House in Denmark, and Google's Mountain View – to work on the huge development.

Things They Didn't Teach You in Church: World Peace

by: Jim Brouillette
CCHW Real News HQ
(Rumble and YouTube)
ChristChurchOfTheHolyWord.com

All that has happened since the election of Donald J. Trump (especially since his Inauguration on 01/20/25) is unlike anything I have ever witnessed. If you ever needed a reason not to vote Democrat again, you have it now. The last-minute pardoning of the "Biden Crime Family", the J6 Committee and Fauci among others in the final minutes of Joe's presidency and the new information emerging about the coverup of his real mental condition while in office should get the attention of everyone.

The calm, or personal peace, that has come over 70% or more of the American population is breathtaking. As a boomer who grew up immersed in the Russia/USA Cold War, successful assassinations of popular political and religious icons, bomb shelters and instructions in grade school of how to crawl under your desk in case of a nuclear attack, this comparatively seems really calm. Don't forget, we just survived the release of a "Killer Virus" from a Chinese lab, the massacre of over 1200 Jewish party goers, 2 assassination attempts on Trump, mysterious balloons from China, unidentified drones over our cities, and much more.

In the first few days of our new president's 2nd term, all J6ers were pardoned, several Biden political and religious enemies were pardoned and released from prison. The JFK, RFK, and MLK assassination files were declassified, DEI was banned from the federal government, and Pete Hegseth was confirmed as Defense Secretary! The U.S. / Mexico border was declared an emergency, additional border barriers were ordered, and certain "international cartels and organizations," such as Tren de Aragua and MS-13 were designated as foreign terrorist organizations. The "Remain in Mexico" policy was reinstated, "Birthright Citizenship" ended (although now tied up in the courts), and a "national energy emergency" was declared. The U.S. withdrew from the Paris Climate Agreement, all full-time federal employees were ordered back to work in their offices, and the U.S. withdrew from the World Health Organization. This all happened in Trump's first week back in office and more is coming every day.

Can you feel the calm peace of mind growing in this country? There were also big moves made towards world peace in Trump's first week back in office. It seems Putin might be interested in a settlement ending the Russia/Ukraine war, Saudi Arabia aligned with the U.S. on energy and middle east issues, and hostages are beginning to come home from the heinous terrorist attack Hamas committed against Israel.

Three days after his inauguration Trump addressed a group of global CEOs at Davos 2025 and left nothing to their imaginations. Trump told the CEOs that America was back and open for business. Trump told them; "I terminated the ridiculous and incredibly wasteful Green New Deal - I call it the Green New Scam." He withdrew from the one-sided Paris climate accord and ended the insane and costly electric vehicle mandate "the United States has the largest amount of oil and gas of any country on Earth and we're going to use it... we are going to pass the largest tax cut in American history, including massive tax cuts for workers and families, and big tax cuts for domestic producers and manufacturers... my message to every business in the world is very simple: Come make your product in America and we will give you among the lowest taxes of any nation on Earth."

- Sounds like peace and prosperity to me.

Peace and prosperity are very good, but the most nationally calming action was taken on day one of Trump's 2nd term; he slammed the southern border shut so tight that the influx of illegals into this country is almost nonexistent now. ICE is rounding up and deporting thousands of illegal criminals every day that have invaded our country over the past 4 years. Many others in this country illegally are self-deporting before they are picked up by authorities. Again, all in the first week of the new administration.

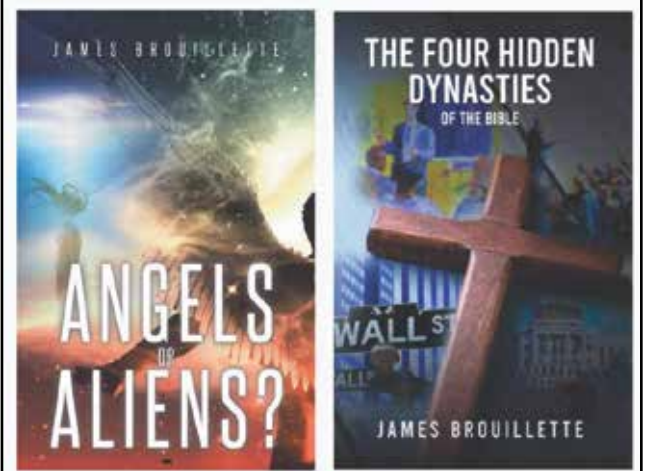

In a speech Trump made in Wisconsin (while on the campaign trail) he said: "If I win we will have peace in the world..." That sounds really good, but what does the Bible say about world peace? In the Book of Luke 10:6 we are told:

And if the Son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon it: if not, it shall turn to you again.

If Jesus, the Son of Peace hasn't returned to us yet, can mankind make world peace a reality? The Old Testament is an example for us of things to come. In Jeremiah, false prophets are the topic and are being condemned for lying to the people about the coming of peace to make them feel better.

Jeremiah 8:11 states: For they have healed the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, saying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace.

In Jeremiah 24 we find the root of the Parable of the Fig Tree. We are told about the two groups of people symbolized as good and bad figs, and how those people, today known as Jews (Tribe of Judah), would be scattered across the globe and then how at some time later, both groups good and bad, would be returned to the Holy Land as a nation. Jesus tells us in Matthew 24:32; Now learn a parable of the fig tree...

Later in verse 34 Jesus says: Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass, till all these things be fulfilled. What generation will not pass away before all prophecy is fulfilled and Christ returns? The generation that sees the Tribe of Judah (Jews, good and bad figs) returned as a nation to the Holy Land. That happened in 1948. Perhaps Christ's most important warning in Matthew 24 is in verse 44; Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh.

Jesus will return when most people least expect it, maybe when they are crying Peace, Peace, Peace. We need to be ready. We need to be Watchmen.

'People in Our Government Supported Al-Qaeda': Gabbard in Heated Exchange With Sen. Kelly

by: Kyle Anzalone 1/30/2025
LibertarianInstitute.org

During the confirmation hearing for Director of National Intelligence, Senator Mark Kelly attacked nominee Tulsi Gabbard over her past criticisms of US policy in Syria. Kelly asserted that Gabbard was repeating Russian talking points, while Tulsi argued that she was exposing US support for al-Qaeda.

change war in the Middle East."

Even though Gabbard's answer invoked her patriotism and call to service, Kelly again attacked the former Congresswoman as parroting Russian and Iranian points. "My concern has to do with the tendency to repeat Russian and Syrian and even in some cases, I think we'll get into in the closed session, Iranian information and to discount what comes from our intelligence community."

During Thursday's Senate committee session, Sen. Kelly brought up Gabbard's frequent criticism of US policy in Syria. He claimed that Gabbard was repeating Russian and Iranian talking points by discussing the US support for terror groups in Syria.

Gabbard fired back at Kelly, explaining why she viewed the policies of supporting terrorists as a personal affront, "as someone who enlisted in the military specifically because of Al Qaeda's terrorist attack on 9/11 and committing myself and my life to doing what I could to defeat these terrorists."

"It was shocking and a betrayal to me and every person who was killed on 9/11, their families, and my brothers and sisters in uniform." She continued, "When as a member of Congress, I learned about President Obama's, dual programs that he had begun, really to overthrow the regime of Syria and being willing to, through the CIA's Timber Sycamore program that has now been made public, of working with and arming and equipping Al Qaeda in an effort to overthrow that regime, starting yet another regime

Gabbard responded definitively, "Senator, every American deserves to know that people in our own government were providing support to our sworn enemy, Al Qaeda. That should not be acceptable by anyone. Thank you."

While Kelly may argue that Gabbard was repeating Russian and Iranian statements on the matter, legendary American journalist Seymour Hersh reported on the CIA program in 2014. "The Obama administration has never publicly admitted to its role in creating what the CIA calls a 'rat line,' a back channel highway into Syria," he wrote in the London Review of Books. "The rat line, authorized in early 2012, was used to funnel weapons and ammunition from Libya via southern Turkey and across the Syrian border to the opposition. Many of those in Syria who ultimately received the weapons were jihadists, some of them affiliated with al-Qaida."

The CIA program to fund and arm opposition groups began in 2012 and culminated in the overthrow of Syrian President Bashar al-Assad in December. Assad was removed from power by Hay'at Tahrir al-Sham (HTS), a designated Foreign Terrorist Organization.

HTS is led by Abu Mohammad al-Julani, who recently declared himself President of Syria without holding elections. Julani was a member of al-Qaeda in Iraq, who was moved to join the terrorist group after seeing the results of the 9/11 attack on the US.

At the time the Timber Sycamore program started, it was well known to the Obama administration that the opposition was mainly comprised of jihadist fighters. At the time, Jake Sullivan sent an email to then Secretary of State Hillary Clinton explaining, "AQ is on our side in Syria," he wrote referring to al-Qaeda.

~ Authority ~

au·thor·i·ty noun

1. the power or right to give orders, make decisions, and enforce obedience.
2. a person or organization having power or control in a particular, typically political or administrative, sphere.

What Does the World Say?

In the United States, the office of the presidency is often considered to have the highest authority in the country, some believe also in the world. The President of the United States of America is largely referred to as the leader of the free world. The office of the presidency derives its powers from the Constitution of the United States. These powers are discharged within the limits of the Constitution and are checked by both the Judiciary and the Legislature.

What Does the Bible Say?

Matthew 17:5

While he was still speaking, a bright cloud overshadowed them, and behold, a voice out of the cloud said, "This is My beloved Son, with whom I am well-pleased; listen to Him!"

Matthew 28:18-20

And Jesus came up and spoke to them, saying, "All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth. [19] Go therefore and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, [20] teaching them to observe all that I commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age."

Matthew 7:13-14

Enter through the narrow gate; for the gate is wide and the way is broad that leads to destruction, and there are many who enter through it. [14] For the gate is small and the way is narrow that leads to life, and there are few who find it.

Matthew 7:21, 23

"Not everyone who says to Me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of My Father who is in heaven will enter. [23] And then I will declare to them, 'I never knew you; DEPART FROM ME, YOU WHO PRACTICE LAWLESSNESS.'"

John 14:15

"If you love Me, you will keep My commandments."
