An Act of Terror Against the American People

The film White Noise was released on Netflix in September of last year. It's about a train crashing, exploding and burning toxic chemicals off into the atmosphere, creating a major health hazard for miles around, reflecting what just happened a few weeks ago in Ohio. White Noise was even filmed in the same area just a few miles from ground zero in East Palestine.

Some people will call this a coincidence, but these days, believing in coincidence can cost you your life.

There is more... Just three months before the train wreck, the city of East Palestine began adopting the My ID digital bracelet system into their local emergency services. Being touted as the ultimate ID system. My ID is a digital ID company dealing primarily with digital ID Bracelets for the medical industry. Bracelets designed to make it easier for first responders to access your medical profile in the event of an unexpected emergency.

Just a week before the crash, they began handing these bracelets out to all the residents of East Palestine. Also two weeks before the crash, the CDC updated their page on vinyl chloride removing their section on how it affects children and raising the safe exposure threshold.

Neale Donald Walsch wrote there are no coincidences in the universe, only convergences of will, intent and experience.

Not only does the Ohio train crash appear to be a deliberate attack, it appears to potentially be a very deadly attack. Three days after the train wreck, authorities called for a controlled release burn. Controlled in that they would initiate the spark that will burn all the chemicals and cargo together in a massive chemical fire potentially putting millions of people's lives at risk.

The vinyl chloride spill at camp Lejeune was small in comparison to what happened this month in Ohio, but it still poisoned over a million people and it took decades for the effects to materialize. A new federal lawsuit against Norfolk Southern alleges that 1.1 million pounds of vinyl chloride was spilled into the local environment. The vinyl chloride metabolite chloro ethylene oxide attacks human DNA and can take years to start showing up as cancers and other diseases.

There is arguably no safe dose for exposure. leading expert in the study of vinyl chloride. Dr. Juliane Beier agrees and says that nobody should be drinking the local water. According to Dr. Beier, vinyl chloride gets transported into homes via the groundwater. She says it comes out of the water into the air and that's really the major route of toxicity for the liver. It comes through the air. While some argue that burning it resolved these issues, that seems to be false.

Dioxins are the deadly toxins behind Agent Orange and DDT. They are generated when chlorinated chemicals like vinyl chloride burned in fact the exact reaction that happened in East Palestine when they decided to burn vinyl chloride and PVC pellets together was arguably the most efficient and deadly way of dispersing dioxins into the environment and could equate to being one of the biggest chemical weapons attacks in history. Some are saying that 10s of millions of lives could now be at risk. And that number will keep growing so long as humanity dismisses these attacks as coincidence and continues to do nothing.

The season is almost over and yet the Spring flowers are only just thinking about peeking out. The desert is so beautiful in March and April. The side by side rides might be warm for you icebergs but the flowers are spectacular. I will share photos so be sure and subscribe online :) or snail mail.

This is always a love/hate time of year for those of us who are still young and able to work to accommodate the masses that come here. We are able to take a breath, for that we are grateful but our friends are leaving and this makes us sad. In RV living, ya never know if they will be back. C'est la vie. We love you.

Many will wonder why there is no coverage of the Lincoln Day dinner in the paper this month, it was after all another HIGHLIGHT of my life. Well, when I sit down to write about it, my heart breaks a little more. When Mayor Cal

Sheehy arrived he was greeted with many hugs and praises by many of the Republican women. The same Mayor that was FORCED to make the right decisions regarding the plandemic mandates. The same Mayor who wanted to enforce injecting the health care workers with experimental toxins. The same Mayor who just fought for a sexualized drag queen show, promoted to children in Lake Havasu City. Is he bought and paid for OR what? You tell me. Oh that's right, we can't call him out on anything because he is gay. It's a clever plan really! You can read all about the drag show on pages 23 and 24.

U.S. Government Has Paid $0 in COVID Vaccine-Injury Claims Despite $11 Trillion in Spending on Pandemic Response

By: Jefferey Jaxen
TheHighWire.com
JeffereyJaxen.substack.com

The Counter Measures Injury Compensation Program (CICP) is a string of words most Americans have never heard of. A program described as a ‘black hole’ where people disappear, alternatively called ‘the payer of last resort.’ Its existence, and its negligence, are the biggest story left to be told throughout the failed COVID response. A ‘safety net’ is only activated during emergencies to compensate Americans for injuries and deaths experienced from the use of countermeasures such as vaccines and anti-virals.

A broken promise of transparency from federal agencies during a rushed vaccine development and rollout sans any real semblance of safety testing gave way to a billion-dollar full-court pressure campaign from every conceivable angle. Get the shots in arms at any cost, double down on mistakes along the way was the unofficial motto of agencies like the CDC and FDA. “Take the shot” commanded Biden through his trademark whisper and distressed face struggling to read his loaded teleprompter. 262,908,216 Americans have walked blindly into another medical experiment unlikely to ever have full knowledge or informed consent to the medical procedure they agreed to.

Their only redress is at the mercy of an admittedly antiquated Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System (VAERS) well-known for over a decade to vastly underreport true injuries and deaths from vaccination. In fact, HHS has known from an analysis by Harvard Pilgrim that less than 1% of adverse events occurring after vaccination are reported to VAERS. The statute of limitations to file an injury or death claim is one year for CICP. Harms from the vaccines are still being discovered years after the first shot went into an American arm. Doesn't matter in the CICP. Another barrier to claim fulfillment is stated on HRSA's website:

“Temporal association between the administration or use of the covered countermeasure and onset of the injury (i.e., the injury occurs a certain time after the administration or use) is not sufficient, by itself, to prove that an injury is the direct result of a covered countermeasure.” You read that right. Having an injury after the shot isn't enough. What other obstacle is one up against when filing a claim? Aaron Siri, lead lawyer for the Informed Consent Action Network told Reuters: “The CICP is not a court,” he said, noting that it's part of the “same federal health department that licensed, recommended, and mandated COVID-19 vaccines, and then sits as an investigator and ‘judge’ of any CICP claim. That is a mockery of the term justice.” Simply put, it's a place you don't want to find yourself. You versus the government – no courts, no public attention, and no transparency. Up against the very same well-funded bureaucratic apparatus that has only doubled down on warp-speeding shots into bodies as the science to justify it evaporates and the safety signal compound.

Now let's investigate CICP's funding. Keep in mind that a total of $11 trillion has been distributed in the form of federal spending, tax cuts, loans, grants, and subsidies authorized in the wake of the coronavirus pandemic and economic crisis. A Freedom of Information Act Request (FOIA) from author and researcher Wayne Rohde uncovered these numbers regarding CICP's funding:

1. Total annual amount budgeted for compensation under the CICP. Fiscal Year 2020 = $400,188

- Fiscal Year 2021 = $931,735
 - Fiscal Year 2022 = $931,936
 - Fiscal Year 2023 = $5,000,000
2. The total annual amount budgeted for the overall CICP.
- Fiscal Year 2020 = $3,542,810
 - Fiscal Year 2021 = $5,952,064
 - Fiscal Year 2022 = $7,192,729
 - Fiscal Year 2023 = $15,000,000

A total of $20M was set aside for claim compensation and budget when it was all said and done for the fiscal year 2023 or 0.00018% of government spending during the failed COVID response. For an unproven product rushed through safety testing and aggressively targeting, often through unconstitutional mandates, every adult, adolescent, child, and infant.

Rohde's FOIA also uncovered that the CICP estimated that the allotted $15M would “be used to initiate the review of an estimated 1,500 medical reviews of claims and provide compensation to eligible individuals for injuries and deaths directly resulting from the use of covered countermeasures.” In other words, they expected 1,500 injury claims. What did they actually receive? The latest update from the U.S. Health Resources & Services Administration, which administers the CICP, shows the following numbers: Total COVID-19 CACP claims filed = 11,196; Pending Review or In Review = 10,653; Decisions = 543; Eligible for Compensation and Pending Benefits Determination = 19; Paid Out = 0

Expected 1,500 claims...received 11,196...in an underreported system. Yet that's not the most shocking piece of information. For nearly 3 years, HRSA has paid out zero claims. Not a penny to COVID vaccine-injured Americans waiting for assistance. To get an idea of the potential backlog we are talking about, we go to VAERS where the first records of possible vaccine injuries are recorded before potentially moving onto a CICP claim. Here are the most recent number and types of reports filed after COVID shots:

- Deaths = 34,478 (more deaths than the in the last 30 years from all vaccines combined)
- Hospitalizations = 192,755
- Urgent Care = 146,706
- Doctors Office VIsits = 225,633
- Anaphylaxis = 10,411
- Bell's Palsy = 16,755
- Miscarriages = 4,930
- Heart Attacks = 18,649
- Myocarditis / Pericarditis = 26,504
- Permanently Disabled = 63,660
- Thrombocytopenia / Low Platelet Count = 8,526
- Life Threatening = 36,724
- Severe Allergic Reaction = 42,245
- Shingles = 15,469

From past behavior and current trajectory, the U.S. government will try at all costs to avoid taking accountability, financially, ethically, and legally, for the vast amounts and types of injuries caused by the rushed COVID shots. It is up to the media, politicians, and people everywhere to keep this story front and center in an effort to seek justice for those harmed.

Nullify the WHO's "Pandemic Treaty" and IHR Amendments!

The John Birch Society

Alert Summary

The World Health Organization (WHO) is negotiating a global pandemic treaty and considering dangerous amendments to its International Health Regulations — these will further enable Covid medical tyranny while amounting to yet another step toward a one-world government. State governments can and should nullify these tyrannical schemes.

TAKE ACTION NOW

URGENT: The WHO, working in conjunction with the Biden administration, has published a draft of its planned global pandemic treaty, the "Zero Draft of the International Instrument on Pandemic Prevention, Preparedness, and Response." This agreement, if implemented, would dramatically increase the WHO's power, making its edicts (including in response to "pandemics") legally binding on its member states, putting Americans under the control of its authoritarian bureaucrats.

Furthermore, this proposed treaty makes strides toward the creation of a global surveillance state, making it easier for government to control every aspect of our lives. Worse, the Biden administration is attempting to impose this treaty on the American people without ratification by a two-thirds majority of the U.S. Senate. The WHO Intergovernmental Negotiating Body will meet from February 27 through March 3 to finalize this proposal.

Additionally, the WHO's International Health Regulations Review Committee (IHRRC) met in January to finalize the proposed IHR amendments, which will further enable Covid medical tyranny (including vaccine passports) and empower international bureaucracy at the expense of American sovereignty. The World Health Assembly would then consider these amendments at its next meeting in late May. Already, the WHO recently considered recommending travel checks in response to a new strain of Covid.

State legislators have a key role in stopping these schemes — they have a duty to nullify it (i.e., prevent its enforcement within their state's borders), along with every unconstitutional treaty, law, or edict. This is not just "a federal issue," and state legislators have no excuse for not acting. Contact your state legislators and urge them to enforce the U.S. Constitution through nullification.

The World Health Organization (WHO) is negotiating a global pandemic treaty and considering dangerous amendments to its International Health Regulations (IHR) — these will further enable Covid medical tyranny while amounting to yet another step toward a one-world government. State governments can and should nullify these tyrannical schemes

The Threat

On December 1, 2021, the World Health Assembly agreed to begin "a global process to draft and negotiate" an agreement "to strengthen pandemic prevention, preparedness and response."

The WHO released a working draft of its proposed "pandemic treaty." This draft would be a major step toward world government; it emphasizes "solidarity," meaning "intensified international cooperation," and it floats increased "collaboration and cooperation across the United Nations system and other international and regional intergovernmental organizations and non-State actors and bodies as a means of strengthening the [agreement's] implementation." Furthermore, it promotes "universal health coverage" and could threaten free speech. Last, but not least, the WHO stated that it could expand the agreement's scope to go beyond pandemics, and be implemented at the UN level. This treaty threatens our God-given freedoms protected by the Constitution.

Any "pandemic treaty" is a threat for the following reasons:

* It will further erode U.S. national sovereignty, giving foreign bureaucrats greater control over domestic policy. It would also amount to yet another step toward a tyrannical one-world government.

* It will further expand the WHO's ability to dictate health policy worldwide, making it easier for the Deep State to impose its tyrannical "health" measures on the global populace.

* It will enable the creation of global "health passes," thereby restricting travel and certain activities to only those who have been vaccinated or who are in compliance with the WHO's "health" dictates. These so-called "health passes" will further compromise individuals' medical privacy and lay the groundwork for a biomedical security regime.

* Enable "global coordinated actions" to censor those who dissent from the Deep State's narratives — all in the name of "public health."

* American taxpayer money would likely be diverted to enable the implementation of the treaty's dictates.

This is not the only WHO threat to liberty. Additionally, the U.S. proposed amendments to the WHO's International Health Regulations (IHR). These amendments would also strengthen the WHO's ability to take unilateral actions and meddle in countries' internal affairs, and they could lead to an expansion of the CDC's power to detain Americans for medical reasons. Although the WHO temporarily withdrew most of the amendments, it is still planning on amending the IHR and submitting similar amendments to be voted on in May 2023. Additionally, the WHO continues to work on its proposed pandemic treaty and could potentially merge the IHR amendments into it. These amendments, combined with the proposed pandemic treaty, constitute a massive threat to liberty by the WHO.

The Deep State, which weaponized Covid to implement its tyrannical agenda, has been pushing for a global pandemic treaty for some

ARIZONA: EXPLOSIVE Testimony at the Sen. Elections and House

By: Editors at American Buddhist
Americanbuddhist.net 2/24/23

Outlining the most complex investigation into Political corruption in AZ. @katiehobbs and her husband are laundering cartel money through fake deeds and mortgages.

In the video, [of the testimony available at Americanbuddhist.net] the part specific to Hobbs begins at 19:45 min. According to this testimony, Arizona is riddled with massive fraud and corruption.

O/sight hearings by Jackie Berger

UPDATE:

It is clear from her testimony that a significant portion of the AZ government, from local officials to the statehouse, is working with the cartel and being paid handsomely for their efforts. Also, Ms. Berger mentioned more than once that among the many types of criminal activities her group has documented, the swatting of innocents combined with falsified evidence has resulted in several (many?) people being falsely convicted and imprisoned because of their active or even merely potential danger to the cartel. Databases are hacked, false documents inserted and real documents deleted at will; the election process is compromised completely; money laundering of cartel profits provides essentially limitless resources for bribery and extortion, and on and on. Other states are mentioned as well, but Arizona is the focus here, described by Ms. Berger as being corrupt almost beyond belief.

[Watch the full video of her testimony - link on our website TFPnews.com]

time already. For example, in an April 3, 2020 op-ed, former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger stated that, "Addressing the necessities of the moment must ultimately be coupled with a global collaborative vision and program." Additionally, Bill Gates has called for strengthening the WHO, while the organization's own director-general, Tedros Adhanom must also be subject to, and bound by, the limitations of the Constitution.

In a letter, dated September 7, 1803, then President Thomas Jefferson wrote: "I say the same as to the opinion of those who consider the grant of the treaty making power as boundless, if it is, then we have no constitution." This was further affirmed by the Supreme Court of the United States, in Reid v. Covert (1957), in which the Court correctly ruled: It would be manifestly contrary to the objectives of those who created the Constitution, as well as those who were responsible for the Bill of Rights – let alone alien to our entire constitutional history and tradition – to construe Article VI as permitting the United States to exercise power under an international agreement without observing constitutional prohibitions. The Court further explained, "It would be completely anomalous to say that a treaty need not comply with the Constitution when such an agreement can be overridden by a statute that must conform to that instrument." Even the most constitutionally-egregious pandemic treaty would be powerless under Article VI. If the U.S. Senate ratifies the WHO's proposed treaty, states must nullify its enforcement.

Nullification of the WHO's pandemic treaty wouldn't be the first time the states have taken such bold action. Among multiple other examples, Alabama in 2012 enacted a strong law banning the implementation of the UN's Agenda 21 (now Agenda 2030) in the state. Multiple other state legislative chambers passed similar bans.

Contact your state legislators and urge them to enact strong legislation fully preventing the implementation and/or enforcement of the WHO's proposed pandemic treaty, along with the proposed amendments to the WHO's IHR. State governments have an important role in preserving liberty - we can not afford for them to squander it.

Although we provide a way to easily email legislators, we know from long experience that it takes a lot more interaction with your legislators to get your point across than that provided by emails alone.

That's why we provide an easy way not only to email them, but to contact them by phone, tweet, and even video message them.

Dr. Mick Hall

www.35ForLife.com

As we now realize, there has been a group of people and their posterity that, for hundreds of years, have been determined to gain total control over the planet and everyone living here. More recently, this same group decided that there are far too many of us, and that the majority of us need to be removed from the planet. According to the Georgia Guidestones, they only wanted 500 million of us remaining, and for this number of people to be totally subservient to this same group.

In order to accomplish the project of depopulating the planet, a long-term plan was established around a hundred years ago. We can now look back through the past hundred years and see the many proofs of this diabolical plan.

One of the first steps was to eliminate the many natural and safe healing practices that were well established a hundred years ago, and replace them with a system based on using toxic poisons to treat the symptoms of disease. Each medication was a toxic blend of extracts from natural sources, without their natural buffers. Therefore, these toxic blends could quickly provide a rapid relief of the immediate symptom, without correcting the cause for the symptom, but, since each formulation lacked the natural buffers nature provides with every herb, the residue of each drug accumulates and creates another disturbance within the body chemistry responsible for the next problem the patient develops. As we are now discovering, drug therapy can never actually correct any health disorder, it can only temporarily treat the symptoms, in exchange for money. Also, when the quality of a person's health is lost, it is impossible to poison the body into restoring the lost quality of health. This form of "health care" was established as the foundation of their depopulation program.

From there, many other powerful influences were purposely manipulated to enhance their depopulation agenda.

Since 1941 this group has made sure we were getting enough iron in our diet by having our bread, cereals, and flour "enhanced" with iron. The problem is, our bodies weren't able to use this iron, because it wasn't a nutritional iron, it was powdered scrap metal. Unbeknownst to us, all our lives this scrap metal has been accumulating in our organs and tissues. This toxic metal has become the main cause for the production of free radical damage and inflammation throughout our bodies, and the core of every serious disease.

At the same time that we were being poisoned with powdered iron, they were taking control of our farming land to make sure all farmers were using the toxic, commercial fertilizers they were making available, in place of the rock dust and manures that were previously being used to grow healthy food. These new fertilizers contained three main ingredients: Nitrogen, Phosphorus, and Potassium. This caused produce to grow large and look great. The only problem has been, the produce was extremely mineral deficient. Two of the

An Understanding of What is Really Going on Inside Your Body

Although Dr. Mick Hall is a Naturopathic Doctor, his function is that of a teacher, utilizing his fifty years of research to help you to understand all levels of cause for why your body would develop disease, presently or in the future. Life teaches us thoroughly that when we have a problem, if we fail to discover the true cause and correct it, the problem will either remain or reoccur. Dr. Hall uses the same logic to assist you in understanding all the reasons your body is developing the patterns that will eventually develop into degenerative disease. With this understanding, derived from two simple finger prick blood tests, you will also be provided with a simplified explanation for how to make these corrections that will restore your body's self-healing ability, and thereby avoid the development of disease.

Dr. Hall's one-hour educational session costs $150 and assures you of receiving an understanding beyond anything you have ever experienced before.

main minerals that were allowed to become depleted from the soil were Magnesium and Copper. For decades people have been aware of the many problems caused by not getting enough Magnesium in our food, but it has only recently come to our attention the horrible result of farming soil being depleted of copper.

One of the main complaints of people over 45 years of age is a serious lack of energy. Considering the agenda being imposed upon us, it shouldn't be a surprise to learn that without sufficient copper and magnesium within our cells, it is impossible for our mitochondria to produce ATP, the energy source for every cell in our bodies. When you add the effect of not having sufficient energy to a body filled with inflammation and free radical activity, it becomes easier to see why most people believe that disease is a natural part of the human experience.

For years there was much controversy over whether dentists should be placing mercury fillings into our teeth. The controversy was due to the fact that Hal Huggins, a dentist with a conscience, exposed the fact that it was morally wrong to take a toxic substance that he had to go through special training to learn how to carefully handle to prevent himself from being poisoned while placing it in people's teeth. Thousands of cases of paralysis, ALS (Amyotrophic lateral sclerosis), and dozens of other mercury related health disorders had to be proven to be associated with these mercury fillings before the dental association would finally admit the stupidity of putting a toxic substance into our teeth that was illegal to throw away and be taken into landfills.

One day we will become aware of the thousands of highly toxic chemicals that are being purposely placed into our food chain to assist in this depopulation agenda.

The human body has a brilliant intuitive guidance system designed to warn us when we step into harm's way. Unfortunately, this was thoroughly understood by this same group. That was the reason they have been dumping millions of tons of Sodium Florosilicate into municipal water systems all around the US as well as most of the world. Sodium Florosilicate is a toxic chemical used in ore refining and metal finishing. As a waste product from these industries, it was costing the steel mills a great deal to dispose of this waste, because it is so caustic that if it were spilled onto concrete, it would dissolve the concrete. It became such a huge financial burden that they decided it would be much cheaper to pay millions of dollars to immoral politicians in Congress to sell the public the big lie that it was good for our teeth. Then, by dumping it into our drinking water, not only would they shuffle the expense of disposing of this waste onto the people by taxing them into paying for the water treatment expenses, but this substance also greatly supported their long-range plan toward depopulation. You see, the most destructive effect of Fluoridating our water has been the stress it has placed upon our Pineal glands. As with any area of the body that gets stressed, with the stressing of the Pineal gland by Fluoridated water, this caused the Pineal gland to calcify. With the Pineal gland calcified, this creates the breakdown of communication between our brain and what we refer to as our intuition: the guidance system of wisdom that is meant to warn us when we step into harms way. With this connection severed, we also slowly lose our desire to strive toward wisdom and we become more docile and cooperative, and thereby easier to control by this same group. We become, exactly the way we see the majority of the people now living who are easily controlled through fear, which makes them unwilling to actually stand up and do anything to stop this group from continuing with their many programs for depopulation.

Steps for reversing the damages and the problems imposed upon us:

1. The first step is to learn how to get these poisons out of our bodies through consistent detoxification.
2. Begin loading our bodies with concentrated food items to replenish the many missing nutrients they have purposely caused us to be depleted of.
3. Decalcify our Pineal glands. [Read the article on Borax at TFPF.com]
4. Work daily to replenish our body's supply of magnesium, copper, & food-sourced Vitamin C.

FLUORIDE makes your body absorb extra ALUMINUM. And where does the aluminum go? Your BRAIN. And what metal shows up alarmingly in the brains of ALZHEIMER'S victims? You guessed it.

#FluorideLawsuit: Censored Review On Fluoride's Toxicity Will Soon Be Made Public

Derrick Broze 02/20/2023
TheLastAmericanVagabond.com

Attorneys with the Fluoride Action Network and the U.S. government have agreed to the release of a censored report on the toxicity of fluoride, the latest development in the ongoing Fluoride lawsuit.

After numerous delays, and intervention by Assistant Health Secretary Rachel Levine, the U.S. National Toxicology Program's review of Fluoride's toxicity will soon be released to the public. The move is the latest development in the nearly decade-long legal battle between the Fluoride Action Network, Food and Water Watch, Organic Consumers Association, and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Attorneys with the Fluoride Action Network and the National Institute for Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS), parent agency for the National Toxicology Program, have agreed to the release of the long-delayed NTP review on fluoride's toxicity. The release of the documents will play a major role in the next phase of the ongoing lawsuit against the EPA.

The decision to release the documents was made at a February 3rd meeting between counsel for the Fluoride Action Network and the NIEHS following a subpoena requesting comments from the agency, the NTP's responses, and additional documents relevant to the decision not published in the NTP's completed fluoride monograph in May 2022.

The NIEHS agreed to publicly post the NTP monograph to the NTP website, as well as comments provided by a little known bureaucracy known as the Board of Scientific Counselors, and the NTP's subsequent responses. In addition to the NTP monograph they will also publish a related meta-analysis that has been a subject of debate in recent hearings.

In a hearing on January 10th, Michael Connett, representing the Fluoride Action Network and other plaintiffs, expressed interest in obtaining comments from officials within the Department of Health and Human Services. In a declaration to the court, Dr. Richard Woychik, Director of the NIEHS, claimed it is these comments from unknown officials at the HHS which lead to the monograph being put on hold.

The EPA told Judge Edward Chen these comments should be privileged and not allowed as evidence in court or made public. Ultimately, Judge Chen ordered the two parties to meet and come to an agreement about which documents would be made public. The NIEHS agreed to post the documents on or before March 15th, before the next scheduled court hearing on April 11th. Judge Chen has previously said he is likely to set a new trial date at the April hearing. The release of the NTP monograph, a related meta-analysis and interagency comments are likely to play a major role in the second trial phase of the nearly decade-long legal battle.

The Fluoride Emails Reveal Corruption of Science

The discussion around the comments related to the NTP's unreleased monograph stem from revelations contained within internal CDC emails which were obtained via Freedom of Information Act requests by Connett. The emails indicate the NTP report was not made public due to interference from Assistant Health Secretary Rachel Levine and National Institute of Health Director Lawrence A. Tabak. One email from the CDC dated June 3, 2022, specifically stated, "ASH Levine has put the report on hold until further notice."

Connett outlined the findings of the emails in several exhibits submitted to Judge Chen. "These emails confirm that the NTP considered the May 2022 monograph to be the NTP's final report," Connett writes. "They also confirm that the CDC was opposed to the NTP releasing the report, and that leadership at the top levels of the Department of Health Human Services intervened to stop the report from being released."

As Connett notes, on April 28, 2022, Dr. Mary Wolfe, the Director of NTP's Office of Policy, Review and Outreach, emailed Casey Hannan, the Director of CDC's Division of Oral Health, and stated that the NTP's "analysis and conclusions are set". Dr. Wolfe also let Hannan know that the NTP had reviewed the CDC's submitted comments, but still planned to release the review "mid/late May" 2022. In a May 11, 2022 email, Wolfe again notifies Hannan and the CDC that the NTP has "set May 18, 2022 for publication of the monograph. The monograph will be posted to the NTP website, and we will email a notice of the posting to NTP list-serv subscribers." However, later that day and the following day, Dr. Karen Hacker, the Director of CDC's National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion (NCCDPHP), tells Dr. Wolfe that there is concern within the CDC about publishing the NTP review without an additional review by "NIH leadership". Hacker also asked about the potential of a "interagency review" by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).

Dr. Wolfe subsequently told the CDC that "we (the NTP) believe the current findings, as stated in the monograph, reflect the scope of our evaluation and the available scientific literature and no revision is needed".

Meanwhile, another study on the toxicity of fluoride has been published by scientists from Toronto's York University in the journal Science of the Total Environment. The study, Fluoride Exposure And Hypothyroidism In A Canadian Pregnancy Cohort, linked fluoride exposure with an increased risk of hypothyroidism in pregnant women. "The findings are concerning because hypothyroidism is a known cause of brain-based disorders in children," stated Christine Till, PhD, clinical neuropsychologist and one of the study's authors.

The Money Matrix: Part 8 Rockefeller and the Origins of U.S. Pharmaceutical Industry

By: Sue Peters
InfoStation.net

Introduction

“When a commercial bank makes a loan contract with a borrower, the bank CRE-ATES the deposit in the borrower’s account.” Have you repeated this fact 15,000 times yet? Private banks CREATE what we use as money. This ‘money power’ can also be called Finance Capitalism or Wall Street, or just the Banks. Those who control this ‘money power,’ have powerfully influenced our entire society. This article will focus specifically on the control of the medical profession.

This control of the banks by wealthy elites goes back to the end of the 19th century, when financial-industrial cartels, run by names like J.P. Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, etc., used the ‘money power’ to take over the American economy. These financiers created tax-exempt foundations to shield their wealth from taxes but, more importantly, to allow it to grow and grow.

What We Learned in Part 6:

Wealthy capitalists funded the germ theory of disease and “scientific” medicine. They did not want to bring attention to the unhealthy effects of their huge industrial systems. The tax-exempt foundations, Carnegie and Rockefeller, stepped in. From 1910-1930s the foundations gave an unprecedented $300 million for medical education/research.

What We Learned in Part 7:

After the war, the federal government opened its spigot to the medical industry. However, federal health research continued the focus on the narrowly technical components of disease and death rather than on the broader economic and physical environments so central to the population’s health status.”

The History of the Early Pharmaceutical Industry

The first medicinal drugs came from natural sources – herbs, plants, roots, etc. – starting with the juice of the opium poppy (morphine) used to kill pain, around 3000 BC. However, that all started to change in the middle of the 19th century when German scientists began to dominate the field of analytic and organic chemistry with chemical discoveries. The first synthetic drug, chloral hydrate, was discovered in 1869 and introduced as a sedative-hypnotic.

The first synthetic drugs and the entire pharmaceutical industry can be traced to the manufacture of textiles and synthetic dyes. In this process, the black sticky mass (tar) remaining after distillation of coal under a vacuum provided a rich source of aromatic chemicals. The Friedrich Bayer Co., founded in 1863 in Germany, was one of the first firms to show an interest in pharmaceuticals. It developed and marketed acetanilide from coal-tar as the first fever-reducing drug, Antifebrin. It was a market success. Bayer looked for other chemicals in the waste products from dyeworks. In 1897 the company marketed the first wonder drug, Aspirin, and filed a patent for the discovery – in 1899 in Germany and in 1900 in the U.S.

German Dye Company Cartel & American Business: 1916-1925

In 1916 the six largest German chemical companies (several of whom produced pharmaceutical products from coal-tar and other chemical bases) became a combination called I.G. Dyes. Germany lost the war, but her cartel continued to plan ahead. One of the war-time seizures of Germany property was the American Bayer Co, with the Bayer Aspirin trademark as its most valuable asset. The company was offered at public sale in 1918 by the Alien Property Custodian, and was bought for $5,310,000 by Sterling Products. In the fall of 1919, the president of Sterling was in Germany reaching an agreement between the German and American Bayer companies for marketing in South America.

In 1925 and 1926, the huge I.G. Farben succeeded I.G. Dyes, adding five of the larger chemical companies of Germany. A new agreement was made between Farben and Sterling, after Sterling had set up Winthrop Chemical Company to handle Bayer’s drugs in the U.S. market. Farben got 50% of Winthrop’s stock.

Farben and Rockefeller

Between 1924 and 1931, Germany borrowed abroad, mainly in the U.S. bond market, about 33 billion marks. These Germany bonds were issued by Wall Street banks and financial houses. These loans from the pockets of the American public allowed Germany to pay its reparations under the Dawes Plan and later the Young Plan. It also brought huge profits for the financiers.

In April, 1929, a new company, American I.G. Farben, was launched by a Wall Street syndicate headed by National City Bank (Rockefeller controlled). The syndicate sold $30 million of 5 ½ percent convertible debentures, oversubscribed in an hour. The prospectus announced the principal, interest, and premium were guaranteed by I.G. Farben. “It was evident that the American I.G. was to be a Farben holding company for its manufacturing subsidiaries in the United States.” The four American directors included:

FDA Asks Companies to Recall Diabetes Medication Metformin

By: Julia Ries
www.healthline.com

The FDA has announced that the common diabetes drug metformin may have unacceptably high levels of a cancer-causing drug. NDMA is a cancer-causing contaminant called N-Nitrosodimethylamine. If you currently take metformin, it's crucial to talk with your doctor about other treatment options.

A new batch of metformin extended release tablets used to treat type 2 diabetes has been voluntarily recalled due to high levels of a carcinogen called N-Nitrosodimethylamine (NDMA).

According to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the tablets — Metformin HCl Extended Release Tablets, USP 750 mg — contain unacceptably high levels of NDMA that exceed the FDA's limit of 96 ng/day. The tablets' lot number is MET200501 and they have an expiration date of July 2022. The drugs were distributed to wholesalers nationwide.

The recall expands a previous recall issued November 2020. Several other generic drugmakers were also asked to recall metformin products due to similar NDMA concerns last May. The FDA has been investigating the presence of NDMA in metformin drugs in the U.S. market since late 2010 after multiple batches of the diabetes drug sold outside the United States were found to contain low levels of the substance. NDMA was also detected in multiple other prescription and over-the-counter (OTC) medications, including ranitidine and certain blood pressure drugs,

One of the few things in life that you can control... What goes in your pie hole!

earlier this year. The drugs have since been recalled.

The overall risk of developing cancer from medications contaminated with small amounts of NDMA is low. However, if you currently take metformin, it's crucial to talk with your doctor about other treatment options.

"While hearing that our medicines, agents essential for our health and well-being, could be compromised in any way is certainly alarming, it is important to understand the magnitude of the risk, which is extremely low," Dr. Amir Masoud, a Yale Medicine gastroenterologist and assistant professor of internal medicine, told Healthline.

What is NDMA and why is it harmful?

NDMA is classified as a probable human carcinogen, meaning it could potentially cause cancer. We've all been exposed to low levels of the substance. NDMA has been detected in meat, vegetables, dairy products, soil, air, and water. NDMA is all around us, Masoud explained. The acceptable intake limit for NDMA in medications is 96 nanograms a day. "The FDA does not expect to cause harm at levels below this cutoff. The risk of cancer is increased if people are exposed to it at higher levels at prolonged periods of time," said Dr. Guy Mintz, the director of cardiovascular health & lipidology at Northwell Health's Sandra Atlas Bass Heart Hospital in New York. In high doses, NDMA may cause liver, lung, and kidney problems, according to studies conducted on animals.

The World Health Organization (WHO) says it can also lead to gastric or colorectal cancer. "NDMA has been shown to increase the incidence of cancer in animals as well as cause liver fibrosis and tumors in rats," says Mintz. No human cancer cases have been directly linked to NDMA at this time. It's not entirely clear how NDMA gets into medications.

According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), NDMA forms during natural and industrial processes involving chemical reactions. NDMA may form during the drug's manufacturing process or when they are packaged and stored, the FDA stated. Our bodies may also produce NDMA as a byproduct when digesting certain food and drugs. "It appears that a perfect storm of sorts has to take place: The compounds that form NDMA may be present in the drug and, under certain conditions, may form after formulation of the drug," says Masoud.

What to do if you take metformin
The FDA says patients who take extended-release metformin tablets shouldn't stop taking the medication abruptly. According to Mintz, doing so could negatively impact blood sugar levels and potentially lead to hospitalizations for hyperglycemia and keto-acidosis. There is no short-term risk in continuing to take the medication until you talk to your doctor about other options. "Immediately stopping any medication without the direct supervision and direction of your clinician is never the right answer," Masoud said.

Mintz said there are many alternative options, including short-acting versions of metformin and other types of diabetes medications — SGLT2 inhibitors and GLP1 medications. Your doctor will likely carefully change your treatment plan to mitigate any health risks. "It's essential to understand that independently stopping or changing your medications without input from your doctor can lead to direct and immediate risks far outweighing those posed by the possible contaminants discussed here," Masoud said.

The bottom line

A new batch of metformin extended release tablets used to treat type 2 diabetes has been voluntarily recalled due to high levels of a carcinogen called N-Nitrosodimethylamine (NDMA). Health experts warn that abruptly stopping the medication could have negative health consequences. There's no short-term risk, so stick with it until you talk with your doctor about alternative treatment options.

Traditional Chinese Medicine for Diabetes

www.TCMsimple.com

From the perspective of traditional Chinese medicine, diabetes is known as Xiao Ke, which is caused by yin deficiency, dryness and heat in internal organs. In most cases, affected organs are lungs, stomach and kidneys. In TCM theory, common symptoms of Xiao Ke include frequent urination, thirst, hunger, weight loss and sugar in urine.

Chinese Herbs for Diabetes

Diabetes due to lung heat

The lungs play an important role in transporting and distributing fluids throughout the body. Heat in lungs can cause body fluids to flow straight down without being distributed to the rest of the body. This can result in frequent urination, thirst and excessive drinking, which are all symptoms of diabetes. TCM practitioners often use Yu Quan Wan, an herbal formula to clear lung heat. It is used for excessive thirst and frequency in urination due to diabetes. It contains herbs including Tian Hua Fen, Ge Gen, Dang Shen, Huang Qi, Fu Ling, Shu Di Huang and more.

Diabetes due to stomach fire

The stomach is responsible for processing food and drink. Intense heat in the stomach can cause stomach fire which can damage stomach function. As a result, the metabolic rate rises and triggers hunger. Hunger is also a common symptom of diabetes. TCM practitioners often use Qing Wei San, an herbal formula to clear stomach heat. It contains herbs include Huang Lian, Dang Gui, Mu Dan Pi, Shu Di Huang and Sheng Ma.

Diabetes due to kidney yin deficiency

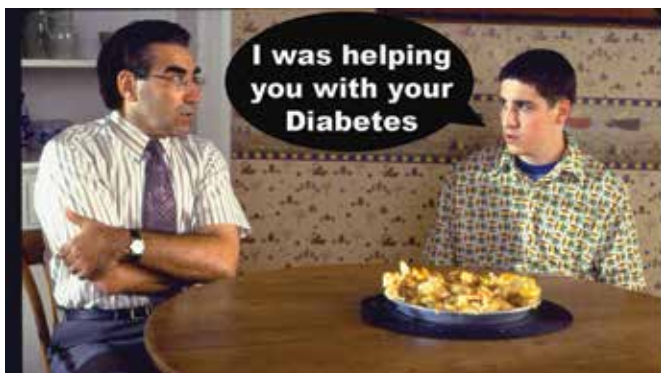

Kidney yin deficiency can create dryness and heat in the kidneys. Excessive dryness and heat can lead to kidney dysfunction which include being unable to separate turbid water which will be turned into urine, and clean water which will be reused by the body. The result is an excessive amount of urine, urinary frequency and the production of urine with traces of sugar, which are all symptoms of diabetes. TCM practitioners often use Liu Wei Di Huang Wan, an herbal formula to nourish the energy of the kidneys. It is a commonly used Chinese herbal formula for diabetes. It contains herbs including Shu Di Huang, Shan Zhu Yu, Shan Yao, Ze Xie, Mu Dan Pi and Fu Ling.

TCM practitioners often offer acupuncture combined with herbal formula and diet suggestions for diabetes. Bitter Melon is often recommended. It can be used to reduce blood glucose in Chinese medicine. Many people with diabetes in China have bitter melon in their meal plans. Stir-fry bitter melon is a common dish you can order from a Chinese restaurant. Or, you can have bitter melon tea.

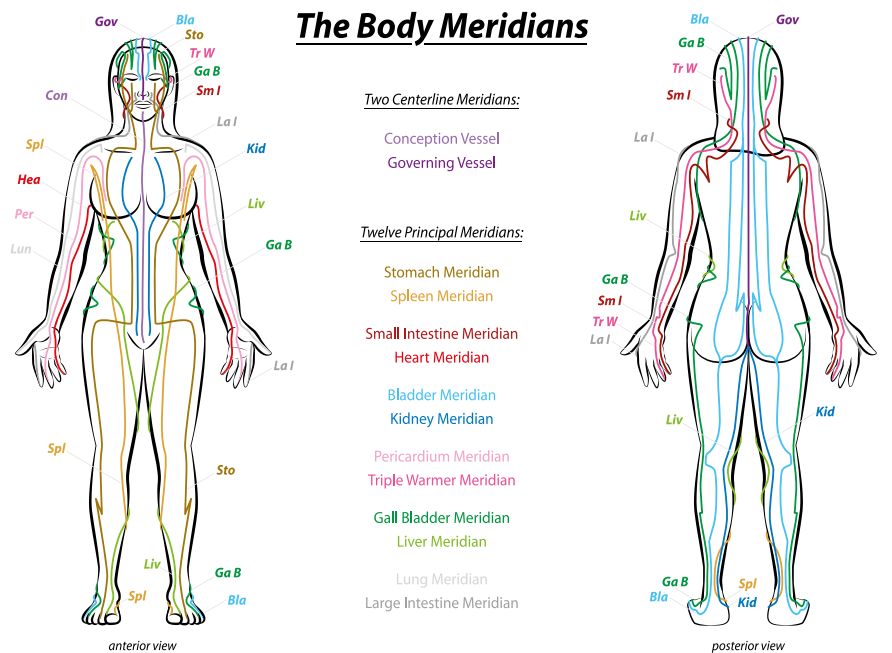

Acupuncture for Diabetes

Acupuncture is commonly used for diabetes in China. Acupuncture points for diabetes are all over the body and on several meridians. Studies indicate that acupuncture could help regulate pancreas function and insulin levels. According to the World Health Organization, acupuncture has shown therapeutic effect on type 2 diabetes, but for which further proof is needed. TCM practitioners also believe that the hormone reaction triggered by acupuncture can help balance the parts of the body that cannot regulate sugar levels on their own. Although Chinese herbs and acupuncture can help with diabetes, they must be used carefully and after consultation.

Pentagon advisor wants to create mind control neuro-weapons. This should terrify us all!

By: News Editors at Citizens.news

(From: LifeSiteNews.com) That our friends in the permanent bureaucracy of government are willing to wage an information war upon us would be news – if it weren't for the fact that their agents set the news agenda. The vast psychological operation that was the response to COVID has in the Ukraine war a fitting sequel. These are two events which, over time, seem less and less accidental. (Article by Frank Wright republished from LifeSiteNews.com)

They have both prompted an attempt to shape the feelings, beliefs and behaviors of entire populations, to the point where these populations consider choices harmful to their own health and survival not only as wise but also as virtuous. People have been persuaded to make choices against their own survival instinct to gain a few "likes." This is the role of the media in the formerly Free World. It is penetrated and directed by CIA agents and their national security state bedfellows, as has been patiently documented by Matt Taibbi's coverage of the Twitter Files. This fact is also not newsworthy. It is not worth reporting that the agents of a faction dedicated to total control of the hearts and minds of the populations of the world decide what you get to think. It is not news that the machinery of consent manufacture has been delivered into their hands owing to a pandemic that looks suspicious from practically any angle. Nor is it news that the same people decide for you that provoking an all-out nuclear war is our democratic duty. The United States was not founded as a "democracy" but as a republic. It is for good reason this fact is not

The US is a Republic
NOT a DEMOCRACY!
Let's keep it that way!

news, and it is the same reason that the other facts are unworthy of notice. It is because this is the government the Founding Fathers warned you about. No one capable of noticing reality needs reminding of the reasons for this charge. Yet there are far more compelling ones than the apocalyptic shopping list of well-known global goals.

To the project of fear and the fantasies of a worldwide surveillance state, we must now add the sick dream of mind control. I am sorry to admit that I laughed at pictures of people in tin foil hats. Of all the conspiracies that have come true, I thought that this would be the one we could still dismiss with a sensible chuckle. Well, I doff my aluminum fedora to these pioneers of the paranoid. It seems no fantasy, no imagined dystopia, has the power to overmatch the diseased designs of the people who would destroy humanity in order to rule the remnants forever.

DARPA's concerning goal of creating actual mind control technology. Our "friends" at DARPA have been busy making nightmares into reality for a long time. The story of the permanent destruction of humanity begins with the unlikely name of Dr. William Casebeer.

Dr. Bill, as his fellow diabolist Dr. James Giordano calls him, set up a project called Narrative Networks at the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA). This was an attempt to refine a means of changing people's beliefs with messages. Media strategies, slogans, symbols and memes as a means of building a network of government friendly narratives to replace the stories people may otherwise tell – about everything. It is a means of protecting power from the consequences of comparison with reality. It was quaintly described in 2011 as a means to a mastery of propaganda, whose aim to brainwash whole populations was fanciful because it was impossible. This is no longer the case. The technology has improved to make this technique a mere footnote. The focus has shifted from the virtual to the actual. The battle for reality will no longer be restricted to displays on screen. The battlefield of the future is the brain. Yours.

Dr. James Giordano begins his enthusiastic sales pitch for his technological zombie apocalypse with a warning. His audience of young US military types is told: "What I'm going to hear is not applause at the end but the slamming shut of your sphincters with fear. That's good." He is a man without a past, with no record of his life that I can discover on the internet. He appears to have sprung from the machine he adores, his name entrained with credentialed honors. Each title he owns is a euphemism for evil. Giordano is working to make real a prediction from fifty years ago: "Speaking of a future at most only decades away, an experimenter in intelligence control asserted, 'I foresee a time when we shall have the means and therefore, inevitably, the temptation to manipulate the behavior and intellectual functioning of all the people through environmental and biochemical manipulation of the brain.' (Zbigniew Brzezinski, 'Between Two Ages: America's Role in the Technetronic Era' 1972)

Transcranial electronic stimulation

What Giordano is selling is the exciting means of controlling minds with deniable technologies. This includes bioweapons and nano-technology to allow for the remote implantation and extraction of thoughts. Transcranial electronic stimulation by means of aerosolized nanoparticles — phrases like this litter Giordano’s lecture. He revels in these cascades of jargon, showing with the prolixity of the peacock an effective means of safely uttering atrocious ideas. This is unsurprising, as he proudly announces he has also been tasked with: “creating a lexicon, a nomenclature that would be able to define these [things] in more precise ways.” By “more precise ways” he means “making the hellish attractive.” He is doing the Devil’s work, and has written a diabolic dictionary to describe it. Let us see what he means by means: “Transcranial electronic stimulation by means of aerosolized nanoparticles.” This means they are making clouds of tiny mind control machines for you to inhale without knowing.

Remote-control brain implants, drugs and ‘neuroweapons’ The list of euphemized atrocities continues, which breaks down into three main areas. The creation of new devices, like tiny machines on the scale of dust. The development of new drugs, allowing for the thrilling ‘dual use’ of medical technology in the battlespace of the brain. This also includes the repurposing of medical brain imaging and implants to allow Giordano to extract your thoughts and replace them with his, which all seem to be about himself. Giordano is the most perfect example of the technocratic personality I have seen. His character is a fusion of the peculiar fetish for technology with a contempt for humanity and its virtues, articulated with the vanity of a jealous actor. His demeanor suggests the basis for his life’s work – to make us incapable of listening to anyone else. I think this is an important observation.

This man shares an easily injured vanity with the entire class of insincere smilers. This type of person – whose public face is the product of rehearsal – sees human emotion and expression as a mask to be adopted for better results. We are governed by people with the morals of Leatherface, whose aim is to have us apply the chainsaw to ourselves. The final strand is the development of novel bioweapons, which, when combined with the use of psychological operations, allows you to: “target individuals ...and direct attribution ...or use covert engagement with non attribution...” This means that people can be affected by remote mind weapons whose very existence can be denied. The mere suggestion that this is possible raises a sensible eyebrow. It is not hard to see how midwit opinion will be mobilized to laugh off the means of its own manufacture. When government by implant is achieved, organized disagreement will be a thing of the past.

Giordano regales his audience with the merits of sponsoring medical research, whose advances in non-invasive transcranial stimulation will permit the remote control of your mind. If this sounds sensationalist, consider also the development of “novel neuroweapons.” This remarkable sequence in one of Giordano’s most infamous presentations shows him breathlessly introduce “In-close pharmaceuticals and organic neurotoxins.” Which means, drugs and bugs to be used at close range to the “targeted individuals.” These include:

“ultra low dose agents for use in targeting diplomatic/local culture ‘hearts and minds’ scenarios.” In short, they will stop your heart and break your mind. The purpose of these projects is to render people unstable and undesirable by every means from altering medical records to shaping opinion through information and inducing symptoms of mental illness. In Giordano-speak, this means using “High morbidity neuro-microbiological agents” — or microbes which are effective in attacking the brain, specifically “neuro-microbials with high neuro-psychiatric symptom clusters for public panic/public health dis-integrative effects.” In other words, engineered pathogens designed to make people go insane.

If inducing panic and psychosis to dissolve people’s minds is not enough, there are also “Gene-edited microbiologicals with novel morbidity/mortality profiles” - that is to say, bioweapons tailored to your genome which will kill and injure you in new ways. If this is sounding disturbingly familiar, consider the development of “Nano-neuroparticulate agents” - or tiny objects to make your brain die. More specifically, there are “High CNS aggregation lead/carbon-silicate nanofibers (network disruption).” Here the Central Nervous System is a “network” to be “disrupted.” Giordano is extremely pleased with himself to reduce humanity to the metaphor of a machine to be sabotaged. He is the kind of person who sees ethics as a weapon of the enemy, and in fact says so himself, before going on to explain how “Neurovascular haemorrhagic agents...” - things that cause internal bleeding - can be used for “in-close and population use as ‘stroke epidemic’ induction agents.” A “stroke epidemic.” you say? What a remarkable coincidence. There are simply too many horrifying points of interest to mention in this video [CitizensNews.com] of October 2018. Yet the parallels between his remarks and the disturbing events which unfolded one year later with what would be called the outbreak of COVID-19 in Wuhan.

The terrifying goal of the globalist technocrats

The project to achieve total control over the hearts and minds of the human population, forever, is documented in subsequent appearances by Giordano, a perfect example of the ruling caste, being an amoral narcissist with no aim beyond the promotion of himself. The technological jargon is an aspect of his fetish for machines, which to him are simply mechanisms to be employed to gain more power. It is to this example he reduces all humanity.

We are facing a future limited by the imaginations of men like Giordano, who will never miss the

In 1938, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) investigated American I.G. Farben. Under oath, Teagle stated he did not know who owned the company. He was treated with much respect and his answers accepted. Following excerpt is from the testimony. Schenker [SEC]: Throughout your entire tenure of directorship you say you did not know who the controlling owners of American IG Chemical Corp. were? Teagle: That is correct.

The Drug Cartel

At the end of World War II, Wendell Berge, Assistant Attorney General of the U.S., warned the American public: "The end of the war will find us on the threshold of the greatest technical and scientific developments in history. At the outset, we must face frankly the greatest obstacle to making the most of our opportunity. It is the threat of cartel control of major world industries. Unless this threat is ... dealt with decisively, our opportunity to realize the great potential benefits of a free economy will be lost ... the hope of maintaining democratic political institutions will be seriously impaired."

During the second half of the 20th century, "the pharmaceutical industry overtook the petrochemical industry to become the largest and most profitable industry on earth! The only other industry that comes close to this level of wealth generation is the world of international finance." [see TFPnews.com for 1-7] faculties of virtue and compassion, of charity, mercy and love once they are abolished. Our technocrats love only the machines which grant them godlike powers to destroy everything they are not: everything good, everything just, everything noble, everything holy. This is the architecture of the kingdom of Satan, and its development explains the indifference of the management to the social and international chaos caused by their disastrous policies.

This technology is designed to abolish free will by granting the power to read, write and scramble the brains of entire populations. This is the barbarism which heralds the end of the third religion of man. There is nothing left to Liberalism but the naked pursuit of power by a tiny and insane faction, whose vainglorious lust for dominance requires the extinction of Humanity.

We are a national movement of ordinary citizens, defending Free Speech and fighting tyranny at the local level

Citizens for Free Speech (CFFS) is the premier national advocacy, training, and networking organization for local activists who are ready to exercise their First Amendment rights in a strategic and responsible manner to effect meaningful policy changes in their local cities, towns and communities.

We equip our nation of defenders to push back on all attacks against the First Amendment, including the expression of religion, censorship in the press, the right to assemble, and the right to engage with elected officials.

How you can join the fight ADVOCACY

Laws are the primary line of defense for protecting the First Amendment. Our members can help support or oppose legislation that directly impacts free speech in America. We actively track bills and other regulations throughout the country on the local, state, and national levels. Sign up for alerts to know when to contact your representatives to make your voice heard.

TRAINING

Get the grassroots leadership training you need to engage with others civilly and confidently. The Citizen Ninja Way is a method of activism that will give you an empowered mindset and practical tips for collaborating with others in your local community.

COLLABORATION

Connect with activists across the country to share news, information, and resources on our networking and e-learning platform, Local Activist. Teams and organizations can create "Freedom Pods" using the group feature to plan, coordinate, and manage documents and information in a private and secure online space free of censorship.

Other states must acquiesce to this behavior because ending up on the wrong side of the dollar would be disastrous for their economies, and it could potentially mark them as a target for invasion or subterfuge. But it seems like recent actions have been too extreme for other world powers to accept. The printing of more dollars in 2020–21 than in the entirety of the currency's history up to that point destabilized the global financial system by creating mass inflation. And the sanctions imposed on Russia exacerbated the situation even further.

In the past thirty years there have been many post-Communist wars involving many deaths and frequently involving Russia (not that I am necessarily blaming Russia for these wars). Think of Chechnya and Georgia: nothing like the current sanctions were imposed on Russia for what were essentially parallel conflicts to the current stramash in Ukraine. The West's reaction against Russia in 2022 was unprecedented. The fact that the West has turned a regional conflict into a proxy war and destabilized the world economy, seemingly due to ideological frenzy and a desire for one world government, has disturbed many other powers. They have suffered from the economic chaos and may encounter similar regional conflicts in their own future. They are concerned the West could leap into these disputes in the same way they have attempted to crush the Russians.

Thus, in the long run, the dollar is doomed as other world powers realize that Washington has abrogated its responsibilities, and the second and third world cannot ever allow what has transpired with the covid inflation and the Russia sanctions to happen again. Russia has already linked the ruble to a semi-gold standard. China has also made moves regarding gold and is far ahead of the US in the race for an all-important central bank digital currency. Previous solid allies like India are backing away from the increasingly deranged Washington establishment. As countries refuse to go along with the bizarre social agenda and utopian eschatology of Washington, they will also have to seek alternative economic arrangements.

For Washington both the political and economic systems are nonnegotiable. It has hardly been trumpeted by the Western press, but if you have been paying attention this past year, you will have noticed stories of major countries agreeing to trade in currencies other than the dollar. Decoupling is a tricky proposition as these countries' economies have been tied up with the dollar for decades. There is also the risk of Washington violently lashing out to maintain its hegemonic status. Thus, the transition away from the dollar is likely a medium- to long-term trend.

But the first decisive moves have occurred, and there is no turning back short of serious self-reflection on the part of Washington (which I would bet against).

However, much hinges on Saudi Arabia's actions. As we discussed earlier, they made the petrodollar, and they will be the ones to break it if that is what transpires.

Since it is their oil that underpins the value of the dollar, the more they trade oil in other currencies, the less value the dollar possesses. And in a momentous story, the Saudi minister of finance stated that they are open to trading oil in currencies other than the dollar. The Chinese and Saudi leadership have discussed this issue, and securing bilateral trade without the involvement of the dollar appears to be a top Chinese priority.

A failing dollar will have disastrous consequences for the US as there are not enough manufacturing or nonfinancial services in its economy. Imports will suddenly be expensive, and the quality of life will drop. Much of the establishment isn't as hard headed as those who came before and doesn't conceive of the possibility of Washington losing. How could they? Russia is mildly antigay, and they don't believe in climate change. They're the bad guys, and the bad guys always lose. Other quarters of the establishment seem to have retained a dose of realism and appear to be looting the government and the economy while the dollar still has value (think Biden's gigantic crony-laden spending bills).

The good news is that Washington's plans for world domination are bound to fail as China and Russia have a revived alliance, which also appeals to and is open to other powers. The bad news is that this will lead to the drawn-out collapse of the dollar, which Washington will attempt to parlay into a new central bank digital currency to accompany an increased crackdown on opposition within the dwindling empire. But ultimately, with visibly successful alternative systems elsewhere and less material comfort at home, more people will begin to question the first principles, foreign policy, and economic doctrines of the post-World War II order.

The Problems with Disney and Florida

By Andrew P. Napolitano
www.LewRockwell.com

The core of the problems with Disney and Florida is the American addiction to corporatism. This is the use of government power for the benefit of the government's patrons. Stated differently, it is a symbiotic relationship between the government and a private business that gives government officials corporate largesse and the private business a near monopoly. It is capturing the power of the state to increase private wealth at the expense of others.

Corporatism is immoral because it bribes the state to give government power to a patron. It is economically counterproductive because it stifles competition. It is unconstitutional because it violates equal protection and, in the Florida dispute with Disney, free speech.

In the 1960s, when Walt Disney came upon 25,000 acres of land outside Orlando, Florida, for his theme park, he crafted a deal with the state that gave his company extraordinary control over the land in return for building the park. For Florida, it was a win in terms of tourism dollars and employment opportunities. For Disney, it was a win in terms of relief from local regulatory constraints and certain state and local taxes.

Last week, after much public dispute between Disney personnel and Florida officials over a new Florida statute prohibiting government school teachers from teaching about sexual orientation and gender identity to 5-, 6- and 7-year-olds, Florida enacted legislation abrogating the contract between itself and Disney. It appears that the abrogating legislation was in retaliation for Disney's public opposition to the school curriculum legislation.

Can the government constitutionally favor one business over others that are similarly situated by granting relief from legal obligations to the one and not to the others? Can the government constitutionally punish a corporation for the exercise of free speech by its officers and employees? The short answer to both questions is: No.

Here is the backstory.

The Fourteenth Amendment was written to compel the states to treat similarly situated persons and entities in a similar manner. By isolating Disney and giving it special privileges that other theme parks did not receive, Florida has been in violation of the amendment's Equal Protection Clause. It has also put its thumb on the scales of free enterprise by making it easier and cheaper for Disney to operate its theme park than is the case for its competition.

Whenever the government favors one competitor over another, economic and constitutional issues arise. Economically, the consumer suffers by having fewer choices and — in this case — by having a behemoth with little competition. The absence of meaningful competition enables Disney to impose a “take it or leave it” price structure and product offering upon its customers. As well, by enabling Disney to pay lower taxes, Florida has shifted Disney's tax burden to other taxpayers, thereby treating them in a manner that is inconsistent with equal protection.

I am not making an economic argument in favor of equal regulation; that's what the Equal Protection Clause arguably requires. This is an economic argument in favor of no regulation, and hence no corporatism. In that environment, competition will flourish, products and services will be improved, the costs to consumers will be reduced and the choices to consumers will be enhanced.

Florida's state constitution requires the state to operate a school system. This has produced in Florida and elsewhere a grossly expensive, highly inefficient and intellectually dangerous educational program. Government schools have guaranteed customers — the students; guaranteed income — from the taxpayers and no effective competition. That is a recipe for failure. It is also a recipe for ideological indoctrination — like,

“Government is here to help you” or, “Lincoln was a great president” or, “All patriots support the nation's wars” and — today — “You can be any gender you want, or no gender.”

Florida had an illicit contract with Disney that it impaired for unconstitutional purposes — punishing speech. The First Amendment nullifies the government's power to regulate, reward or punish speech. It presumes that the listener, not the government, can decide what speech to accept and what to reject. Moreover, the amendment's purpose is to encourage open, wide, robust, even caustic debate about the policies and personnel of the government. Government interference with contracts for punitive purposes and government punishment of speech because of its content are always unconstitutional.

All of this happened because of corporatism. Corporatism was born shortly after the 13 colonies seceded from Great Britain and began to charter corporations, often to those who had loaned money to the colonies to fight the revolution. At the time, corporations were viewed as agents of the state, which gave them freedom from competition. One of the purposes of the Commerce Clause in the Constitution is to prevent states from impairing commerce via monopolies and tariffs. It would take 100 years before the Supreme Court dropped its “recipient of privileges” theory of corporations and viewed corporations as “voluntary aggregates of investors” — the latter recognizing that corporations have only the rights and powers that their incorporators gave them.

100 N. Kofa K4-12th
(928) 927-3773

In the case of Florida and Disney, the symbiotic relationship between the two is dangerous because Disney exercises the power of the state without its constitutional restraints, and Florida politicians expect public pliancy and political contributions from Disney as a matter of course.

Add to all this the government schools' violation of the parent/child relationship — partially remedied by the new legislation — by intruding into an area of moral learning that the Supreme Court has left to parents, and you have the constitutional monstrosity that is the offspring of a government that recognizes no restraints.

Thomas Jefferson, who wrote that our rights come from God, and James Madison, who wrote that individuals are sovereign, would not recognize government in America today. It is force without reason. It views our natural rights as privileges that it can deny us. Why do we permit this?

“Kid-Friendly” Sexualized Drag Show In Lake Havasu City Funded By Taxpayers?

By Pamela Geller
GellerReport.com

They’re coming for your children and they expect you to pay for it. Deviants and pedophiles are driving the left’s culture war.

Save your children. First, pull them out of government schools.

All-Ages Drag Show In Lake Havasu City Funded By Taxpayers? It turns out that the local mayor not only manages the venue the event was held at, but also voted for $1.6M in tax funding for the tourism company promoting the show.

Ray Dietrich at Red Voice Media:

An all-ages drag show was held at the London Bridge resort in Lake Havasu City, Arizona on February 4th. Prior to the event taking place, protestors in the community made their voices heard and caused public discussion about children attending sexualized drag shows. The protestors made it clear they weren’t necessarily against drag shows but against children attending. Protestors compared the drag show to strip clubs where attendees must be adults. Of course, the local news ran with the leftist framed story, which goes something like “bigots hate trans people,” which isn’t the case.

Check out some video footage and pictures from the show [at GellerReport.com.] As you [will] see in the video, during their quest to grab $1 bills, the performers shook what their momma didn’t make them, and some even pulled off some thrusting pelvis tricks on stage to the all-aged crowd.

I know what you’re thinking, another day, another drag show where children get to attend... but here’s where it gets weird(er). Lake Havasu City is in Mohave County, which happened to vote 74% for Trump in 2020, just to give you an idea of how ‘red’ it is. The Lake Havasu City mayor and city council are considered to be non-partisan but let their political leanings be known.

When you visit Mayor Cal Sheehy’s website, you see pictures of him with America First political superstars including Rep. Paul Gosar, Rep. Andy Biggs, AZ State Rep Leo Biasiucci, and AZ State Senator Sonny Borrelli. One would think this non-partisan mayor is attempting to show himself as a conservative Republican.

Yes, Cal, the non-partisan who pimps pictures hanging out with leaders of the America First movement runs the venue that held the drag show. Keep in mind Cal’s voters are overwhelmingly conservative. Unfortunately, this isn’t even the worst part.

Let’s take a look at the money trail. The event was promoted by Go Lake Havasu, which is under the parent company, Lake Havasu Tourism Bureau, Inc. [Note: GLH would NOT promote Constitution Week! THAT speaks volumes! Does it not?]

LHC Residents, Outraged at City Council are Taking Legal Action

By: TFP Editorial Staff

Thank God the Residents of Lake Havasu are standing up to protect the Children.

The City Council, Mayor Cal Sheehy in particular, chose to lie about the purpose of the protests. First, by implying that the intention was to prevent the Drag Show in its entirety and, second, by claiming that there was nothing that the City Council could legally do about it.

The second lie rests on the premise that the first lie is “fact.” It assumes that the protest was about preventing the Drag Show from occurring at all. As opposed to being about preventing CHILDREN from being negligently subjected to a highly sex-charged and deviant performance intended for adults. We all know it is no longer politically correct to consider men dressing as strippers, for the purpose of enticing straight men into lustful attraction, as “deviant.” Despite the fact that the want to be New World Order, their liberal media and the woke are constantly punishing us for our “backward” and “bigoted” view of these things, it is still the way the vast majority of the world’s population feels about this behavior. Even so, our concern is not what adults choose to do with their lives. Our concern is that CHILDREN should not be confronted with these matters until their brains are more able to weigh the impact of sexual content on their undeveloped psyches.

Lie #2, “We can’t do anything” becomes partially true ONLY if we are talking about canceling the Drag Show in its entirety, as the show itself is considered “protected speech.” It is a lie, however, if applied to the City’s ability to regulate who can attend these events (i.e., minors). State Law is clear that municipalities MAY enact stricter regulations than those of the State, particularly as pertains to events involving alcohol and adult content. It only requires that our City Government CARE enough about CHILDREN to enact the needed ordinance[s].

Prior to the Drag Event, a big show was made to accommodate complaints made to the Arizona Liquor Board regarding children in an area where alcohol, and no food, was being served. We have the email that went out to ticket holders regarding the adjustments made to the venue to mitigate these complaints. A couple of vendors were contracted to sell hot dogs and hamburgers outside, which were allowed to be brought inside. Also, they created a partitioned area for minors, where alcohol would not be served. This must have been Continues on Next Page

some kind of joke because alcohol was not being “served” anywhere in the banquet hall. An adult had to go to the bar and buy a drink and return to their seat. This they did, regardless of whether their seat was in the children’s area or not! We have multiple photos of beer, wine, and mixed drinks in the partioned area. In addition, children were allowed to slip under the rope and enter the main area, at will, and were never chastised or confronted for doing so. Not that it mattered, since performers went right up to and into the children’s area to take photos and collect tips. (We have photos and videos of this, as well.)

Another issue of great concern to many of us, is the fact that the Drag Event was advertised ALL YEAR as being a fundraiser for the Girl Scouts. Not only was that retracted a week before the show, making it a for profit event, BUT, according to the Girl Scouts, they were told last Spring that they would not be receiving funds from the 2023 event. Let’s Go Havasu participated in this deception, perhaps unwittingly, but negligently, nevertheless. The LGH webpage was never updated. Ticket buyers were told that tickets were nonrefundable and this did not change even after the fundraising status was changed [publicly]. Some would call that “bait and switch.” This company’s mission (<https://www.missnaturellc.com/>) is to reach out to young people in rural areas. “Miss Nature focuses primarily on family dynamics (non-traditional households) and rural communities. She knows what it was like growing up as a child having little to no resources and strives to create a safe place for all ensuring they have the resources and support systems they need to thrive.”

How attending a drag show is supposed to actually HELP a young person with gender dysphoria, or who is simply homosexual,

I don’t know nor do the folks at Gays Against Groomes. Most gay people want to be viewed as normal, self-respecting citizens, not exaggerated characters in a theater act that objectifies and ridicules women and men alike. More likely, they are a small, low-talent, theater troupe, out to make a buck and get their jollies. All these performers did was sashay down the runway, and in and out of the audience, collecting money. They couldn’t actually sing, dance, do comedy, or anything else to warrant the title of “show.” But, yeah, let’s take the kids to see some man’s breasts dangling, the requisite crotch shots and butt wiggles to the audience, the high rise fishnet stockings and see-thru bell bottoms. Let’s let them hand off dollar bills, like men at a strip club, or women at Chip ‘n Dales. That’s healthy.

Retired Lake Havasu City Police Woman, Amanda McDougall spoke to the City Council regarding the Drag Queen Show on November the 8th 2022 at the “Call to the Public” and stated that the Mayor and City Council were violating numerous city ordinances, numerous

Arizona Revised Statutes, which are misdemeanors and most importantly a “Class 6 Felony.” She pointed out that the LHCPD works for the City Manager and Mayor and therefore are in a compromising position. What the hell are the LHC council members thinking? We might pray that mature adults would find better forms of entertainment, but to open this up to impressionable children is downright criminal and they should all be ashamed of themselves and arrested, especially the Mayor. Interestingly, he was nowhere to be seen at the “family friendly” drag show--that he stonewalled all of us about--but was happy to be front and center at the dinner for Kari Lake. Could it be that he realizes which of these events ACTUALLY promotes his political future?

We can be an LGBTQ friendly community WITHOUT grooming children. We can be affirming the basic human dignity of every person, without creating confusion and risk for children. Most of the LGBT community are NOT pedophiles and it is wrong to act as if they are. BUT drag shows are the kind of events that attract them and promoting them to children prepares their little minds for abuse. Statistically speaking, the biggest risk lies with the very parents that would take a child to this sort of “theater.” But traffickers and opportunists also abound. Why make it easy for them?

#WINNING: Arizona Senate Bill 1698 Passes 16 to 14

The Author of the Bill, Wadsack: It makes it unlawful for adult oriented performances, such as Drag Queen Story Hour as it specifically targets children.

The bill establishes the offense of unlawful exposure [of a minor] to an adult oriented performance or business and classifies a violation as a class 4 felony.

This does NOT affect adult Drag Shows, it only prevents children from attending.

[Every Republican on the floor voted Yay and every Democrat voted Nay! That is some powerful blue cool-aid to not want to protect children from Predators!]

Trudeau Foundation Returns CCP-linked Donation Amid Election Interference Allegations

By: Editorial Staff
LifeSiteNews.com

After a report surfaced that $200,000 given to the Trudeau Foundation in 2016 was alleged to be connected to the Chinese Communist Party (CCP), the foundation says it is now returning the money.

“The Pierre Elliott Trudeau Foundation has learned in recent days through the media that there was a potential connection between the Chinese government and a 2016 pledge of $200,000 to be received by the Foundation,” reads a press release from the Foundation sent out yesterday, signed by its President and CEO Pascale Fournier.

“In light of these recent allegations, the Foundation has refunded to the donor all amounts received with respect to the donation pledge.” The sudden return of the money comes as Prime Minister Justin Trudeau is plagued with accusations that the CCP interfered in his favor in his last two successful reelection campaigns.

The return of funds also comes in light of a Globe and Mail report from Tuesday exposing a connection between the CCP and the cash gift. As reported by The Globe, Chinese donors with close connections to the CCP wanted a statue of former Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau – Justin’s father – and infamous Chinese dictator Mao Zedong erected in front of the University of Montreal, which is where the elder Trudeau studied law. This was to be in return for the donation to both the Trudeau Foundation and the University of Montreal. According to the report by The Globe, Chinese billionaire Zhang Bin was the person who would act as the intermediary in charge of supplying the

$1 million total sum, and that he would be reimbursed afterward. “They suggested one of Trudeau and Mao together,” Geneviève O’Meara, a spokeswoman for the University of Montreal, told The Globe. According to The Globe, a source told them Canada’s spy agency, the Canadian Security Intelligence (CSIS) Service, had intercepted conversions regarding the donation.

The University of Montreal eventually decided not to erect the statue.

The Pierre Elliott Trudeau Foundation labels itself as “an independent and non-partisan charity established in 2001 as a living memorial to the former prime minister.”

The Foundation’s decision to give back the funds also comes after a series of bombshell reports from The Globe & Mail and Global News which show that CSIS has long been documenting allegations that Canada’s 2019 and 2021 elections were interfered with by the CCP. The reports also show that there was alleged meddling in the candidate nomination races as well. Many have pointed to the fact that it seems Justin is merely following in the footsteps of his father when it comes to his close ties with China.

In 1973, Pierre, as prime minister, traveled to China to meet with Mao, despite the fact that Mao was well-known as a despot.

Under Mao, millions died through execution, slave labor, and man-made famines, leading contemporary historians to consider the former Chinese leader as being one of the three worst political mass murderers of the 20th century.

In 1976, following Mao’s death, Pierre once again showed affection for the leader, saying in the House of Commons: “Though our social and political systems differ, Canadians recognize the path-breaking spirit of community that, under Chairman Mao’s guidance, has contributed to the modernization of China.”

Like his father, Justin has also given glowing praise to China, despite the regime’s inhumane treatment of its citizens, including the carrying out of an alleged genocide against its Uyghur Muslim population.

A CalMatters investigation finds that California sends nearly half its toxic waste out of state. One of the biggest offenders: the state’s hazardous waste watchdog.

It ends up at this Arizona landfill.

The Law That Never Was: The Fraud of Income & Social Security Tax

TheLawThatNeverWas.com

The Premise

The federal government rests its authority to collect income tax on the 16th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution—the federal income tax amendment—which was allegedly ratified in 1913.

“The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration.”

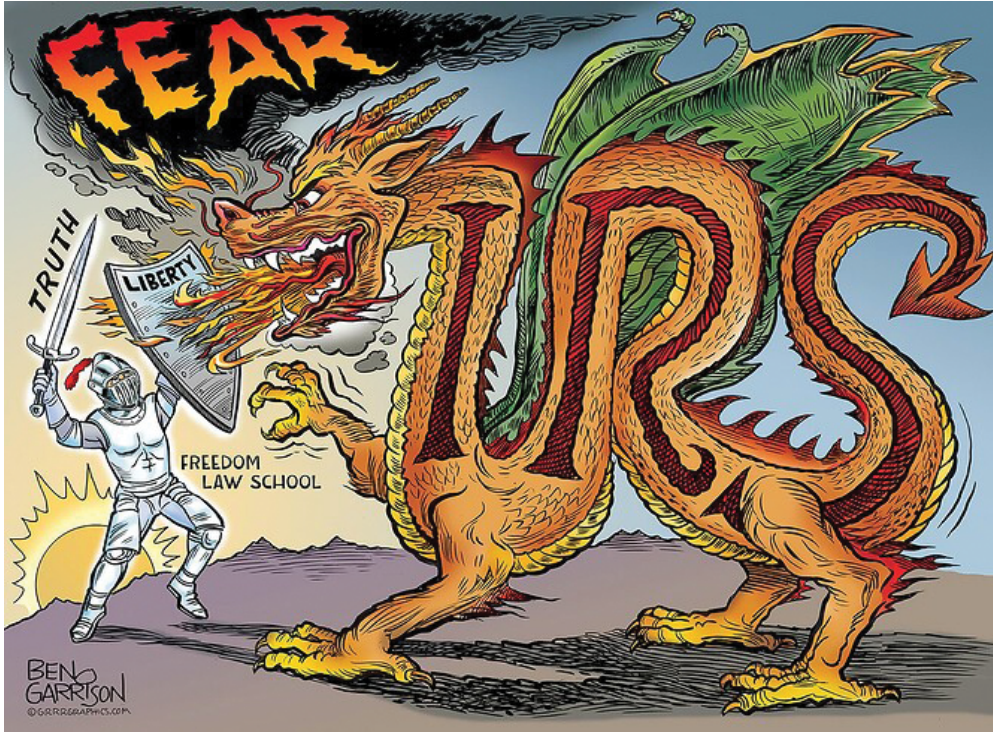

The 16th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America

After an extensive year-long nationwide research project, William J. Benson discovered that the 16th Amendment was not ratified by the requisite three-fourths of the states and that nevertheless Secretary of State Philander Knox had fraudulently declared ratification.

It was a shocking revelation; it reached deep to the core of our American system of governance.

The Discovery

Article V of the U.S. Constitution defines the ratification process and requires three-fourths of the states to ratify any amendment proposed by Congress. There were forty-eight states in the American Union in 1913, meaning that affirmative action of thirty-six was necessary for ratification. In February 1913,

Secretary of State Philander Knox proclaimed that thirty-eight had ratified the Amendment.

In 1984 Bill Benson began a research project, never before performed, to investigate the process of ratification of the 16th Amendment. After traveling to the capitals of the New England states and reviewing the journals of the state legislative bodies, he saw that many states had not ratified. He continued his research at the National Archives in Washington, D.C.; it was here that Bill found his Golden Key.

This damning piece of evidence is a sixteen-page memorandum from the Solicitor of the Department of State, among whose duties is the provision of legal opinions for the Secretary of State. In this memorandum, the Solicitor lists the many errors he found in the ratification process.

These four states are among the thirty-eight from which Philander Knox claimed ratification:

* California: The legislature never recorded any vote on any proposal to adopt the amendment proposed by Congress.

* Kentucky: The Senate voted on the resolution, but rejected it by a vote of nine in favor and twenty-two opposed.

* Minnesota: The State sent nothing to the Secretary of State in Washington.

* Oklahoma: The Senate amended the language of the 16th Amendment to have a precisely opposite meaning.

Bill Benson would like to thank all those who've contributed or shown support in the fight against fraudulent taxation. When his project was finished at the end of 1984, Bill had visited the capital of every state from 1913 and knew that not a single one had actually and legally ratified the proposal to amend the U.S. Constitution. Thirty-three states engaged in the unauthorized activity of altering the language of an amendment proposed by Congress, a power that the states do not possess.

Since thirty-six states were needed for ratification, the failure of thirteen to ratify was fatal to the Amendment. This occurs within the major (first three) defects tabulated in Defects in Ratification of the 16th Amendment. Even if we were to ignore defects of spelling, capitalization and punctuation, we would still have only two states which successfully ratified.

[The game ends as soon as we all overcome the fear, stop playing and not a moment sooner.]
